U.N. Adopts Collective Security Plan

U. S. Program Is Approved By 52-5 Vote

Committee Brands War Gravest Crime

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — The United Nations Assembly today approved by 52 to five Secretary of State Acheson's program for a veto-free system of collective security giving the U. N. power to meet aggression with armed force on a few hours notice.

For the first time in U. N. history, the Assembly was empowered to ask for troops if the Security Council fails to handle aggression immediately.

Assembly President Nashollah Entezam hailed the action as the most important taken by this fifth General Assembly and perhaps the most important ever taken by any U. N. Assembly. Many delegates agreed that aggression of the North Korean type must not occur again.

Entezam, in effect, called on all U. N. members to back up the resolution by placing armed forces on call for U. N. use, which was one of the key sections of the plan. He told the delegates after the vote: "It is now for us to show the world we are uniting for peace."

Acheson Hails Action

Secretary Acheson said in a statement in Washington that the "peoples of the world will be heartened by this historic step toward effective collective security through the United Nations."

"The cause of peace with freedom must surely be advanced by the firm resolve of 52 members to develop and unite their strength through the United Nations," Acheson said. "Anything that strengthens the United Nations at this critical time strengthens all nations who want peace."

Meanwhile, the 60-nation Political Committee of the Assembly approved at Lake Success a resolution, also backed by the U. S., calling aggressive war the gravest crime against humanity. The whole resolution was approved, 47 votes to five. The Soviet bloc opposed the resolution but abstained on the particular section referring to aggressive warfare. Yugoslavia abstained on the whole resolution.

The committee in its action endorsed once more the Assembly plan for control of atomic energy, urged the U. N. members to strive for control and elimination of weapons of mass destruction and to regulate arms under a U. N. system of control. Finally, it declared that these goals can be attained if all members demonstrate by their deeds their will to achieve peace.

Western Answer To Persia

This committee resolution was the western answer to Soviet proposals, based on the Stockholm peace appeal, for an immediate prohibition of atomic weapons, a Big Five peace pact, and a reduction by one-third of the armed forces of the five big powers. These proposals were voted down in the committee last Monday.

The resolution approved by the committee stands apart from the Acheson plan approved by the Assembly. The committee sounded another call for peaceful actions while the Acheson plan put teeth into collective security measures.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky accepted for Russia a place on a peace observation commission, but voted with the four other members of the Russian bloc against the whole resolution. India and Argentina abstained. The 60th member, Lebanon, was not present for the vote.

U.N. Denounces Red Satellites

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP) — The U. N. Assembly today denounced Communist - dominated Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria for trampling on human rights in their treason trials and purges.

Rejecting Soviet bloc charges that the U. S. was behind the move to mask its concern over the smashing of an American "spy network" in Russia's Balkan satellites, the Assembly approved the resolution by a vote of 40 in favor, five against and 12 absentions.

The Assembly action grew out of the treason trial and imprisonment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary and similar trials in Romania and Bulgaria.

109,417 S. Korean Killed

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 3 (AP)—South Korean civilian war casualties so far total 284,233, including 109,417 killed, the republican Ministry of Social Activities reported tonight.

U. S. Unemployment Drops To 1,940,000, 2-Year Low, With 61,764,000 Employed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Only 1,940,000 Americans were listed as unemployed in October—the smallest number in the past two years. And employment jumped to 61,764,000, the highest for any October in history.

The Census Bureau, which reported the job figures today, said the 401,000 fall-off in the number of unemployed resulted from two factors: Draft calls cut down the size of the working force, and good weather allowed expansion in farm employment.

Total employment advanced by 38,000 over September, with net additions of 680,000 in agricultural work far more than offsetting a decline of 142,000 in non-farm employment.

Defense Officials Concerned

It was evident that the full impact of the rearmament program had not been felt. With little slack in the manpower situation, officials were beginning to show more and more concern over the nation's ability to supply the extra 2,500,000 or more workers which it is estimated defense industries will need by next summer, while eventually expanding the armed services to 3,000,000 men as planned.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer observed that the dwindling reservoir of unemployed "is rapidly ruling out the jobless group as an important source of additional workers for defense industries."

The Census Bureau, which is a part of Sawyer's department, defines the unemployed as persons without job and looking for work. When a housewife or student, for example, applies to an employment agency for a job, and doesn't find it immediately, she or he is classed as unemployed.

137,000 New Job Seekers

The Census Bureau said that 137,000 persons, many of them women, became job seekers last month.

Besides the employed and unemployed, there is a group of 45,704,000 Americans above the age of 14 who are not gainfully employed and who aren't looking for work right now either. Some are old, some are sick and some are housewives who simply aren't looking for outside employment. It is from this group, however, that industry and the government must look for help if the manpower situation gets much tighter.

HELD IN PLOT—Mrs. Carmen Torresola (above), 21-year-old widow of Griselio Torresola who was slain in Washington Wednesday during his attempt to assassinate President Truman, is held in New York in $50,000 bail on a charge of conspiracy to "injure" the President.

Truman, Stassen Swap Political Blasts Tonight

President Expected To Get Big Audience

[By The Associated Press]

President Truman will speak to the nation tonight for the first time since the attempt on his life.

The spectacular Blair House shooting is figured to swell the vast audience the Democrats have sought to line up to hear his frankly political broadcast from St. Louis at 10 p. m. (EST).

Harold E. Stassen will reply for the Republicans as soon as the President finishes.

The GOP has engaged only one network, Mutual, for Stassen while the Democrats have dug deep into their treasury and bought time for the President on 1,200 radio and 72 television stations, including all major networks.

The Democratic National Committee estimated that 66,500,000 persons would tune in to hear Mr. Truman call for the election of a Democratic Congress next Tuesday.

Republicans thought that figure was optimistic. But they conceded that millions might be added to the President's audience as a result of the curiosity and sympathy aroused by Wednesday's assassination attempt.

Nobody suggested that Mr. Truman would try to make capital out of the Puerto Rican revolutionist plot. The President has sought to shrug it off except for his expressions of sympathy for the three guards who were shot down in routing the would-be-assassins. One of the guards was fatally wounded.

But anything that happens to a President is examined by the professionals in the light of its political effect. The consensus as that Mr. Truman will get a huge audience tonight, and that may help get out the Democratic vote in next Tuesday's election.

Stassen's reply to the President will be broadcast from New Haven, Conn. Like Mr. Truman's speech, it is expected to hit hardest on foreign affairs.

Arsonist Given 4 To 40 Years

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Nov. 3 (AP) — A 21-year-old former circus roustabout, who admits burning to death or killing 172 persons during the last 12 years, was sentenced today to four to 40 years in prison.

Robert Dale Segee, who says he set the 1944 Ringling Bros. circus fire in Hartford, Conn., stood quietly before Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff of Pickaway county. Weeks ago he pleaded guilty to setting two minor Circleville fires.

"I have never been in trouble before," said Segee. "I would like to ask the court to grant me leniency."

Judge Radcliff then sentenced Segee to two terms of two-to-20 years in Ohio penitentiary. The terms are to run consecutively, which means a maximum of 40 years or a minimum of four years with about eight months off for good behavior. This was the maximum penalty under Ohio law.

Weather Catches Up With The Calendar

[By The Associated Press]

The weather caught up with the calendar throughout most of the nation Friday, ending a freak spell of summerlike weather. Snow mixed with rain fell in several areas.

Freezing weather extended as far south as Northern Texas and poked into the Rockies and extreme northeast sections of the country.

Hot Coin "Treat" To Kids Lands Woman In Trouble

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 3 (AP) — A mother of three grown up children landed in trouble today for trying out on nine Miami kids a Halloween prank she says was played on her as a child in "wealthy sections of New York."

Assistant County Solicitor Herbert Shapiro identified her as Mrs. Alice Eisele, 52. He filed informations charging her with "torturing and tormenting" the kids here.

Shapiro said Mrs. Eisele admitted heating coins in a pan and then tossing them to the children as a "treat." It brought back memories, she said, of her childhood Halloween celebrations in New York.

"We children used to go to Madison avenue or other wealthy sections of New York and knock on the door and the people would throw out hot coins. We'd pick them up and drop them and had a good time.

"So that's what I did. I heated about $1.15 in a pan and then shook it behind my back to cool off the coins but evidently they didn't cool enough."

The children, ranging in age from 12 to 14, told Shapiro Mrs. Eisele "tossed the hot coins from the pan into the air. Without thinking we dived for the money.

The charges were filed after mothers of the children refused to accept Mrs. Eisele's apology.

Truman Visits Pair Wounded Defending Him

Gunman's Widow Held In New York

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — Under heavy guard, President Truman today walked from the White House to Emergency Hospital to visit the two policemen wounded in Wednesday's furious gun battle in defending him from assassination.

Five Secret Service men closely flanked the President as he made the two-block trip to and from the hospital. Other Secret Service agents rode slowly along in an escort car.

Mr. Truman chatted for about five minutes with the two wounded men—Pvts. Joseph A. Downs and Donald T. Birdzell—and later he told newsmen:

"They are getting along fine."

Truman To Attend Funeral

The President and Mrs. Truman will attend funeral services at 11 a. m., E.S.T., tomorrow for Police Pvt. Leslie Coffelt, 40, who was fatally wounded in the wild shooting fray outside Blair House, the temporary presidential residence.

Meanwhile, the body of Griselio Torresola, one of the two Puerto Rican gunmen involved in the assassination attempt, lay unclaimed in the city morgue.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said a single bullet, in the brain, killed Torresola almost instantly. He said a chemical analysis has not yet been completed, but there was no physical evidence that the slain man was crazed by drugs or liquor.

Gunman's Widow Held

In New York, Torrescola's 21-year-old widow, Carmen, was held in $50,000 bail on a charge of conspiracy to "injure" the President. Conviction could bring a sentence of six years in prison or $5,000 fine, or both.

Mrs. Torresola, described as a pretty, dark - eyed woman, was seized by FBI agents last night after she had disappeared with her six-months-old daughter and had become the object of an intensive hunt.

Prosecutor Saypol disclosed that Torresola left farewell letters to his two children before leaving on his suicidal mission to Washington.

Saypol said the letters indicated that Torresola was aware of "the imminence of death on his part."

He was said to believe he was sacrificing his life for a cause and knew he would not return.

Airliner With 48 Aboard Is Believed Lost In Swiss Alps

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 3 (AP) —A chartered Constellation airliner en route from Bombay to London with 40 East Indian seamen and a crew of eight was missing tonight and believed to have crashed in a Alpine approaches to Geneva airport.

No word has been received from the plane since it radioed Geneva at 10:43 a. m., (4:43 a. m., EST). At that time the British pilot, Capt. Alan Saint, said he was in the vicinity of Grenoble, France, 65 miles South of Geneva, and expected to land at Geneva airport at 11:05 a. m.

A French laborer from the village of Villaroger, in the Savoy region, told authorities he heard two loud explosions a few seconds apart about 2:30 p. m. in the direction of Mont Pass on the French-Italian frontier. Search parties were sent out.

Mass Meetings Urge Red China Intervention

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3 (AP) — Chinese Communist broadcasts today reported mass meetings in China which appeared aimed at raising popular support for open intervention in the Korean war.

Broadcasts from the Peiping radio, heard by the Associated Press in San Francisco, quoted village speakers as calling American forces in Korea a "man-eating beast which, if not shot in time, will break into our homes."

There was no reference to United Nations action in Korea. Nor was there the slightest hint that Chinese Red troops already have crossed the Manchurian border into North Korea to help the Red Korean army.

Actress Breaks Wrist

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 3 (AP) — Actress Lynn Fontanne fractured her left wrist in a fall tonight but appeared as scheduled in a stage performance of "I Know My Life."

New Enemy Faces In North Korea

Chinese Communist soldiers, wearing Manchurian winter equipment, line up for questioning in a prison stockade at Hamhung, North Korea. The soldiers, captured by U. S. Marines south of the Changjin reservoir, reportedly were part of non-combat elements supplying ammunition to North Korean Reds.

Navy Estimates USSR Has 14,000 Combat Planes

Long-Range Bombing Arm Relatively Small

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The Navy said today that the authorized operating strength of Russia's air force is estimated conservatively at 14,000 combat planes.

It added that this estimate does not include Russian naval aviation, transport planes or trainers.

A Navy spokesman gave that explanation of a statement appearing in "Naval Aviation News," magazine of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. Exactly how much of such "authorized" strength has been achieved, the Navy official did not attempt to say.

No Aircraft Carriers

The magazine, which is an official publication, put the Russian picture this way:

"The Soviet Union today is said to have an air force of upwards of 14,000 operational aircraft, including some jet fighters and TU-4 (B-29 type) medium bombers.

"Its strategic (long-range) bombing force is relatively small, although this arm appears to have been stressed in the Soviet post-war program.

"Naval aviation is land-based, having no aircraft carriers from which to operate."

Censorship Clouds Picture

"Naval Aviation News" said the Soviet concept of air power is clouded by censorship, propaganda, and frequent reorganization. But because Russia is a land power, the magazine expressed belief that the primary purpose of Russian air power will probably be to back up the Russian army by tactical operations, which usually are of short or medium range.

Comparison of the newly published estimate with the operational combat strength of the U. S. Air Force is difficult. Since early in the Korean conflict, the American Air Force has stopped releasing figures on the total number of combat planes it operates. However, last June 30 it was officially disclosed to be operating 3,200 with an additional 4,600 in storage.

Penitentiary Convict Loses His First Case

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Nov. 3 (AP)—A penitentiary convict studying law in jail lost his first case today and was sentenced to ten more years in addition to his current term.

After 35 minutes deliberation tonight, a Prince George's County Circuit Court jury found 45-year-old Ronald Harris of Baltimore guilty of assault with intent to rob a filling station attendent back in 1944.

France Honors Marlene

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP) — Film star Marlene Dietrich has been named a chevalier of the French Legion of Honor, it was announced today.

The reason for the award was not stated, in accordance with regular French practice. However, it was recalled that Miss Dietrich's entertainment of troops during World War II was widely praised.

Russia Suggests Big Four Meeting On German Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (INS) — Russia called tonight for a Big Four meeting on the question of arms for Germany and received an immediate rebuff from the State Department.

The State Department announced that the Soviet demand was given to U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk in Moscow by Acting Russian Foreign Minister Andri Gromyko. Gromyko was quoted as saying similar demands were given to the British and French ambassadors.

Less than half an hour after reporting the Russian demand, department spokesman Michael McDermitt indicated that it will be rejected—for the time being, at least.

Spread Of Phone Walkout Looms

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — A telephone strike in St. Louis threatened to spread to five states today in advance of next week's scheduled national walkout.

President Joseph A. Beirne of the CIO Communications Workers of America, said the St. Louis strike—involving about 3,000 persons—could spread through Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

But he added it would not be used as an excuse to jump the gun on a national strike, involving 300,000 employes, set for next Thursday.

Federal mediators, meanwhile, worked feverishly against the clock here to thresh out the national dispute in time to head off next week's big strike.

Weekend meetings were in prospect.

The main strike threat is aimed against Western Electric Co., a subsidiary of the Bell Telephone System.

The national issues center around wages, length of contract and retroactivity of any wage boosts.

The surprise walkout of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employes in St. Louis paralyzed that area's few non-dial phones and its long distance service.

Customs Bureau Clamps Down Lid On Shipping Data

Move Ordered As Security Measure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—The customs service has clamped a wartime-tight lid on disclosure by its Offices of Information on ship arrivals and departures, destination and cargoes.

The Customs Bureau said today the purpose is "to protect the security of the United States by restricting the disclosure of information concerning the movement of vessels and cargoes in foreign trade."

The bureau apparently was motivated in particular by desire to confine information about shipment of weapons and other strategic equipment to Western European countries in the mutual defense assistance pact.

Officials said:

(1) The action does not mean a new emergency has arisen or is considered imminent.

(2) It is not an undertaking to censor information from sources outside the custom service on ship schedules and similar data.

The barrier against opening official customs records on entry and clearances of ships and the makeup of cargoes was made by an amendment to customs regulations adopted Oct. 20 and put into effect this week by notice to all port offices.

Officials said the law provides for keeping the records open to public inspection except in time of war or upon proclamation of an emergency.

The restrictive amendment was adopted in conformance with a presidential proclamation of Oct. 18.

Ingrid Wants Pia To Meet Half Brother

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP) — Ingrid Bergman said tonight she hoped to bring her American daughter, 12-year old Pia Lindstrom, to Europe "to meet her new half brother," Roberto Rossellini, Jr.

The attractive Swedish film star, who bore Italian Movie Director Roberto Rossellini a son Feb. 2 while still married to a Los Angeles, surgeon, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, met reporters at a press cocktail party.

Pia is in school in California, she said.

Miss Bergman said she hoped to go back to the motion pictures of the stage, but "not right away."

Wailing Saves Abducted Baby From Fiery Death

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP)—A five-week-old baby girl, missing two hours, was found inside the trailer section of a truck today as workmen were about to burn it for scrap metal content.

Only the faint wailing of tiny Janet Lee Mann saved her from becoming a charred body in the junk pyre already doused with gasoline, workmen at the O'Neill Scrap Iron Co. yard said.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Mann, said she had placed the child in her carriage outside the door of their home. When she discovered her missing a few minutes later, she called police and a frantic search was begun.

Police learned a nine-year old school girl had taken the baby from its doorstep and placed it in the trailer "to play with after school." Then the girl returned to school from noon recess.

Patrolman William Diehl found the schoolgirl and with the help of the girl's teacher, Nancy Karpan, learned what had happened.

But the trailer was missing when they went for the baby.

The baby was returned to the mother who said through a torrent of tears, "I can't begin to tell you the joy of having her again."

South Korean Division Holds Firm At Kunu

Half Of Trapped U. S. Regiment Escapes

BULLETIN

WITH U. S. MARINES IN NORTHEAST KOREA, Saturday, Nov. 4 (AP)—Chinese Communists today cut off two Marine battalions north of Sudong after penetrating positions of the attacking Seventh Marine Regiment.

An official source tonight said a Chinese roadblock was set up behind the two battalions.

The Marines, attacking north from Sudong, 20 miles south of the bitterly-defended Changjin reservoir, encountered strong opposition, a 10th Corps officer said.

SEOUL, Saturday, Nov. 4 (AP) — Escape of at least half of a trapped U. S. regiment was disclosed today and the Red counter-drive in Northwest Korea, which sprang the trap, ground to a halt.

South Korean troops held fast at Kunu, 47 miles north of the fallen enemy capital of Pyongyang — the point of deepest penetration by Chinese and North Korean troops.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman said action was limited Friday night, in contrast with recent days which saw heavy Red attacks force Allied withdrawals of up to 50 miles.

The spokesman said at least half of the U. S. First Cavalry's Eighth Regiment, trapped north of Kunu and west of Unsan, had escaped. Others were trying to filter through and rejoin friendly forces.

The South Korean Seventh Division restored its main defenses at Kunu by noon Friday after the Reds had made some penetrations.

In Northeast Korea, a Marine battalion was in a Red trap. For a time Friday, a Marine regiment was threatened with encirclement.

A Marine briefing officer said two regiments of Chinese Reds halted the Marine drive with flanking attacks shortly after the leathernecks pushed off from Sudong toward the Changjin reservoir 16 air miles to the north.

Marine staff officers said they believed the regiment was advancing again, however, after getting ammunition by air drop.

Eighty miles southwest of Sudong, Korean Reds isolated a Marine battalion at Majon, 16 miles west of Wonsan. The Marines had gone there to block the northern escape route of by-passed North Korean reds, but were themselves cut off. They were reported in good shape but the Reds ambushed a relief column.

At the same time, Marine fliers bombed a force of 2,000 by-passed Reds only five miles from Wonsan, big east coast port and site of the largest Allied airfield in North Korea. Tanks were called up to protect the airfield.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton said the First Marine Division was strung out over 100 miles from Sudong southward to Kojo, 30 miles south of Wonsan, in what many Marine officers called an almost impossible tactical situation.

An intelligence spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said the United Nations still held the initiative in North Korea generally, despite the withdrawals.

He called the new attacks large-scale enemy defensive action and not a counteroffensive.

The Red drive knifed south of Unsan to within two miles of Kunu, which is 47 miles north of Pyongyang. The Communists captured much American equipment in the push, including 13 tanks. It was presumed that the tanks were disabled by their American crews before they were abandoned.

On the west coast, the U. S. 24th Division withdrew 50 miles south and east of Chongju to avoid entrapment.

Reds Claim 3,500 U.N. Casualties

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The North Korean Communists claimed tonight they have killed or wounded 1,500 United Nations officers and men and taken 2,000 others prisoner in the Anju area.

Anju is a river town in northwestern Korea 13 miles southwest of Kunu.

The Communist claim was made in a communique by the North Korean supreme command, broadcast by the Moscow radio and heard here by the Soviet monitor.

The communique said Red units were advancing west of Anju. It claimed that heavy losses were inflicted on United Nations forces north and northeast of Anju.

Republicans thought that figure was optimistic. But they conceded that millions might be added to the President's audience as a result of the curiosity and sympathy aroused by Wednesday's assassination attempt.

Nobody suggested that Mr. Truman would try to make capital out of the Puerto Rican revolutionist plot. The President has sought to shrug it off except for his expressions of sympathy for the three guards who were shot down in routing the would-be-assassins. One of the guards was fatally wounded.

But anything that happens to a President is examined by the professionals in the light of its political effect. The consensus as that Mr. Truman will get a huge audience tonight, and that may help get out the Democratic vote in next Tuesday's election.

Stassen's reply to the President will be broadcast from New Haven, Conn. Like Mr. Truman's speech, it is expected to hit hardest on foreign affairs.

Arsonist Given 4 To 40 Years

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Nov. 3 (AP) — A 21-year-old former circus roustabout, who admits burning to death or killing 172 persons during the last 12 years, was sentenced today to four to 40 years in prison.

Robert Dale Segee, who says he set the 1944 Ringling Bros. circus fire in Hartford, Conn., stood quietly before Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff of Pickaway county. Weeks ago he pleaded guilty to setting two minor Circleville fires.

"I have never been in trouble before," said Segee. "I would like to ask the court to grant me leniency."

Judge Radcliff then sentenced Segee to two terms of two-to-20 years in Ohio penitentiary. The terms are to run consecutively, which means a maximum of 40 years or a minimum of four years with about eight months off for good behavior. This was the maximum penalty under Ohio law.

Freezing weather extended as far south as Northern Texas and poked into the Rockies and extreme northeast sections of the country.

Gunman's Widow Held In New York

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — Under heavy guard, President Truman today walked from the White House to Emergency Hospital to visit the two policemen wounded in Wednesday's furious gun battle in defending him from assassination.

Five Secret Service men closely flanked the President as he made the two-block trip to and from the hospital. Other Secret Service agents rode slowly along in an escort car.

Mr. Truman chatted for about five minutes with the two wounded men—Pvts. Joseph A. Downs and Donald T. Birdzell—and later he told newsmen:

"They are getting along fine."

Truman To Attend Funeral

The President and Mrs. Truman will attend funeral services at 11 a. m., E.S.T., tomorrow for Police Pvt. Leslie Coffelt, 40, who was fatally wounded in the wild shooting fray outside Blair House, the temporary presidential residence.

Meanwhile, the body of Griselio Torresola, one of the two Puerto Rican gunmen involved in the assassination attempt, lay unclaimed in the city morgue.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said a single bullet, in the brain, killed Torresola almost instantly. He said a chemical analysis has not yet been completed, but there was no physical evidence that the slain man was crazed by drugs or liquor.

Gunman's Widow Held

In New York, Torrescola's 21-year-old widow, Carmen, was held in $50,000 bail on a charge of conspiracy to "injure" the President. Conviction could bring a sentence of six years in prison or $5,000 fine, or both.

Mrs. Torresola, described as a pretty, dark - eyed woman, was seized by FBI agents last night after she had disappeared with her six-months-old daughter and had become the object of an intensive hunt.

Prosecutor Saypol disclosed that Torresola left farewell letters to his two children before leaving on his suicidal mission to Washington.

Saypol said the letters indicated that Torresola was aware of "the imminence of death on his part."

He was said to believe he was sacrificing his life for a cause and knew he would not return.

Airliner With 48 Aboard Is Believed Lost In Swiss Alps

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 3 (AP) —A chartered Constellation airliner en route from Bombay to London with 40 East Indian seamen and a crew of eight was missing tonight and believed to have crashed in a Alpine approaches to Geneva airport.

No word has been received from the plane since it radioed Geneva at 10:43 a. m., (4:43 a. m., EST). At that time the British pilot, Capt. Alan Saint, said he was in the vicinity of Grenoble, France, 65 miles South of Geneva, and expected to land at Geneva airport at 11:05 a. m.

A French laborer from the village of Villaroger, in the Savoy region, told authorities he heard two loud explosions a few seconds apart about 2:30 p. m. in the direction of Mont Pass on the French-Italian frontier. Search parties were sent out.

Mass Meetings Urge Red China Intervention

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3 (AP) — Chinese Communist broadcasts today reported mass meetings in China which appeared aimed at raising popular support for open intervention in the Korean war.

Broadcasts from the Peiping radio, heard by the Associated Press in San Francisco, quoted village speakers as calling American forces in Korea a "man-eating beast which, if not shot in time, will break into our homes."

There was no reference to United Nations action in Korea. Nor was there the slightest hint that Chinese Red troops already have crossed the Manchurian border into North Korea to help the Red Korean army.

Actress Breaks Wrist

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 3 (AP) — Actress Lynn Fontanne fractured her left wrist in a fall tonight but appeared as scheduled in a stage performance of "I Know My Life."

New Enemy Faces In North Korea

Navy Estimates USSR Has 14,000 Combat Planes

Long-Range Bombing Arm Relatively Small

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The Navy said today that the authorized operating strength of Russia's air force is estimated conservatively at 14,000 combat planes.

It added that this estimate does not include Russian naval aviation, transport planes or trainers.

A Navy spokesman gave that explanation of a statement appearing in "Naval Aviation News," magazine of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. Exactly how much of such "authorized" strength has been achieved, the Navy official did not attempt to say.

No Aircraft Carriers

The magazine, which is an official publication, put the Russian picture this way:

"The Soviet Union today is said to have an air force of upwards of 14,000 operational aircraft, including some jet fighters and TU-4 (B-29 type) medium bombers.

"Its strategic (long-range) bombing force is relatively small, although this arm appears to have been stressed in the Soviet postwar program.

Censorship Clouds Picture

"Naval Aviation News" said the Soviet concept of air power is clouded by censorship, propaganda, and frequent reorganization. But because Russia is a land power, the magazine expressed belief that the primary purpose of Russian air power will probably be to back up the Russian army by tactical operations, which usually are of short or medium range.

Comparison of the newly published estimate with the operational combat strength of the U. S. Air Force is difficult. Since early in the Korean conflict, the American Air Force has stopped releasing figures on the total number of combat planes it operates. However, last June 30 it was officially disclosed to be operating 3,200 with an additional 4,600 in storage.

Penitentiary Convict Loses His First Case

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Nov. 3 (AP)—A penitentiary convict studying law in jail lost his first case today and was sentenced to ten more years in addition to his current term.

After 35 minutes deliberation tonight, a Prince George's County Circuit Court jury found 45-year-old Ronald Harris of Baltimore guilty of assault with intent to rob a filling station attendent back in 1944.

France Honors Marlene

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP) — Film star Marlene Dietrich has been named a chevalier of the French Legion of Honor, it was announced today.

The reason for the award was not stated, in accordance with regular French practice. However, it was recalled that Miss Dietrich's entertainment of troops during World War II was widely praised.

Russia Suggests Big Four Meeting On German Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (INS) — Russia called tonight for a Big Four meeting on the question of arms for Germany and received an immediate rebuff from the State Department.

The State Department announced that the Soviet demand was given to U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk in Moscow by Acting Russian Foreign Minister Andri Gromyko. Gromyko was quoted as saying similar demands were given to the British and French ambassadors.

Less than half an hour after reporting the Russian demand, department spokesman Michael McDermitt indicated that it will be rejected—for the time being, at least.

Spread Of Phone Walkout Looms

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — A telephone strike in St. Louis threatened to spread to five states today in advance of next week's scheduled national walkout.

President Joseph A. Beirne of the CIO Communications Workers of America, said the St. Louis strike—involving about 3,000 persons—could spread through Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

But he added it would not be used as an excuse to jump the gun on a national strike, involving 300,000 employes, set for next Thursday.

Federal mediators, meanwhile, worked feverishly against the clock here to thresh out the national dispute in time to head off next week's big strike.

Weekend meetings were in prospect.

The main strike threat is aimed against Western Electric Co., a subsidiary of the Bell Telephone System.

The national issues center around wages, length of contract and retroactivity of any wage boosts.

Customs Bureau Clamps Down Lid On Shipping Data

Move Ordered As Security Measure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—The customs service has clamped a wartime-tight lid on disclosure by its Offices of Information on ship arrivals and departures, destination and cargoes.

The Customs Bureau said today the purpose is "to protect the security of the United States by restricting the disclosure of information concerning the movement of vessels and cargoes in foreign trade."

The bureau apparently was motivated in particular by desire to confine information about shipment of weapons and other strategic equipment to Western European countries in the mutual defense assistance pact.

Officials said:

(1) The action does not mean a new emergency has arisen or is considered imminent.

(2) It is not an undertaking to censor information from sources outside the custom service on ship schedules and similar data.

The barrier against opening official customs records on entry and clearances of ships and the makeup of cargoes was made by an amendment to customs regulations adopted Oct. 20 and put into effect this week by notice to all port offices.

Officials said the law provides for keeping the records open to public inspection except in time of war or upon proclamation of an emergency.

The restrictive amendment was adopted in conformance with a presidential proclamation of Oct. 18.

Ingrid Wants Pia To Meet Half Brother

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP) — Ingrid Bergman said tonight she hoped to bring her American daughter, 12-year old Pia Lindstrom, to Europe "to meet her new half brother," Roberto Rossellini, Jr.

The attractive Swedish film star, who bore Italian Movie Director Roberto Rossellini a son Feb. 2 while still married to a Los Angeles, surgeon, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, met reporters at a press cocktail party.

Pia is in school in California, she said.

Hot Coin "Treat" To Kids Lands Woman In Trouble

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 3 (AP) — A mother of three grown up children landed in trouble today for trying out on nine Miami kids a Halloween prank she says was played on her as a child in "wealthy sections of New York."

Assistant County Solicitor Herbert Shapiro identified her as Mrs. Alice Eisele, 52. He filed informations charging her with "torturing and tormenting" the kids here.

Shapiro said Mrs. Eisele admitted heating coins in a pan and then tossing them to the children as a "treat." It brought back memories, she said, of her childhood Halloween celebrations in New York.

"We children used to go to Madison avenue or other wealthy sections of New York and knock on the door and the people would throw out hot coins. We'd pick them up and drop them and had a good time.

"So that's what I did. I heated about $1.15 in a pan and then shook it behind my back to cool off the coins but evidently they didn't cool enough."

The children, ranging in age from 12 to 14, told Shapiro Mrs. Eisele "tossed the hot coins from the pan into the air. Without thinking we dived for the money.

The charges were filed after mothers of the children refused to accept Mrs. Eisele's apology.

Wailing Saves Abducted Baby From Fiery Death

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP)—A five-week-old baby girl, missing two hours, was found inside the trailer section of a truck today as workmen were about to burn it for scrap metal content.

Only the faint wailing of tiny Janet Lee Mann saved her from becoming a charred body in the junk pyre already doused with gasoline, workmen at the O'Neill Scrap Iron Co. yard said.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Mann, said she had placed the child in her carriage outside the door of their home. When she discovered her missing a few minutes later, she called police and a frantic search was begun.

Police learned a nine-year old school girl had taken the baby from its doorstep and placed it in the trailer "to play with after school." Then the girl returned to school from noon recess.

Patrolman William Diehl found the schoolgirl and with the help of the girl's teacher, Nancy Karpan, learned what had happened.

But the trailer was missing when they went for the baby.

The baby was returned to the mother who said through a torrent of tears, "I can't begin to tell you the joy of having her again."

South Korean Division Holds Firm At Kunu

BULLETIN

WITH U. S. MARINES IN NORTHEAST KOREA, Saturday, Nov. 4 (AP)—Chinese Communists today cut off two Marine battalions north of Sudong after penetrating positions of the attacking Seventh Marine Regiment.

An official source tonight said a Chinese roadblock was set up behind the two battalions.

The Marines, attacking north from Sudong, 20 miles south of the bitterly-defended Changjin reservoir, encountered strong opposition, a 10th Corps officer said.

SEOUL, Saturday, Nov. 4 (AP) — Escape of at least half of a trapped U. S. regiment was disclosed today and the Red counter-drive in Northwest Korea, which sprang the trap, ground to a halt.

South Korean troops held fast at Kunu, 47 miles north of the fallen enemy capital of Pyongyang — the point of deepest penetration by Chinese and North Korean troops.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman said action was limited Friday night, in contrast with recent days which saw heavy Red attacks force Allied withdrawals of up to 50 miles.

The spokesman said at least half of the U. S. First Cavalry's Eighth Regiment, trapped north of Kunu and west of Unsan, had escaped. Others were trying to filter through and rejoin friendly forces.

The South Korean Seventh Division restored its main defenses at Kunu by noon Friday after the Reds had made some penetrations.

In Northeast Korea, a Marine battalion was in a Red trap. For a time Friday, a Marine regiment was threatened with encirclement.

A Marine briefing officer said two regiments of Chinese Reds halted the Marine drive with flanking attacks shortly after the leathernecks pushed off from Sudong toward the Changjin reservoir 16 air miles to the north.

Marine staff officers said they believed the regiment was advancing again, however, after getting ammunition by air drop.

Eighty miles southwest of Sudong, Korean Reds isolated a Marine battalion at Majon, 16 miles west of Wonsan. The Marines had gone there to block the northern escape route of by-passed North Korean reds, but were themselves cut off. They were reported in good shape but the Reds ambushed a relief column.

At the same time, Marine fliers bombed a force of 2,000 by-passed Reds only five miles from Wonsan, big east coast port and site of the largest Allied airfield in North Korea. Tanks were called up to protect the airfield.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton said the First Marine Division was strung out over 100 miles from Sudong southward to Kojo, 30 miles south of Wonsan, in what many Marine officers called an almost impossible tactical situation.

An intelligence spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said the United Nations still held the initiative in North Korea generally, despite the withdrawals.

He called the new attacks large-scale enemy defensive action and not a counteroffensive.

The Red drive knifed south of Unsan to within two miles of Kunu, which is 47 miles north of Pyongyang. The Communists captured much American equipment in the push, including 13 tanks. It was presumed that the tanks were disabled by their American crews before they were abandoned.

On the west coast, the U. S. 24th Division withdrew 50 miles south and east of Chongju to avoid entrapment.

Reds Claim 3,500 U.N. Casualties

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The North Korean Communists claimed tonight they have killed or wounded 1,500 United Nations officers and men and taken 2,000 others prisoner in the Anju area.

Anju is a river town in northwestern Korea 13 miles southwest of Kunu.

The Communist claim was made in a communique by the North Korean supreme command, broadcast by the Moscow radio and heard here by the Soviet monitor.

The communique said Red units were advancing west of Anju. It claimed that heavy losses were inflicted on United Nations forces north and northeast of Anju.

French Retreat From Laokay

SAIGON, Vietnam, Indochina, Nov. 3. (AP)—A French column of 1,200 troops retreated westward from abandoned Laokay under enemy harassment today through misty, jungle-tangled ravines of the Tonkin mountains. They hoped for a haven by the weekend with friendly Thai tribesmen.

The withdrawal left the Communist-led Vietminh in full control of Laokay, the last French fortress on Indochina's northwest frontier, and a 300-mile-wide zone of communication with Communist China.

Speculation developed here last week over the question of whether the garrison—including Senegalese, Algerians and Indochinese colonial forces—would be ordered to stand and fight or to pull out through the enemy-controlled mountain country about Laokay. The troops had been isolated for several weeks, except for an airlift.

Tydings Counsels U. S. To Keep Up Defenses

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — Sen. Tydings (D-Md) tonight counseled the United States to keep its defenses strong, aid the rest of the free world and continue to seek "a just, honorable and gangster-proof peace."

Tydings spoke over three television and four radio stations in his bid for re-election Tuesday to a fifth term in the Senate. As usual, he did not mention his Republican opponent, John Marshall Butler, by name.

He criticized "our friends, the Republicans" for a record of isolationism and held up himself and the Democratic Party as internationalists working for peace through world cooperation.

Shorter Work Month Is Recommended For Pullman Conductors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — A presidential emergency board today recommended a reduced work month for Pullman conductors. It said the effect would be to give them a pay increase of 10 to 11 cents an hour.

The White House made public the report from the board which President Truman appointed last summer to try to settle a wage dispute dating back to September, 1949. The conductors had called a strike for last July 11 when Mr. Truman appointed the board under the railway Labor Act.

The conductors now work a so-called "basic month" of 225 hours. The board proposed cutting this to 210 hours without any change in monthly pay which ranges from $323.20 to $356.20 a month.

Saying this would mean an increase of 10 to 11 cents in the calculated hourly rate, the board noted:

"These hourly rates are used in making payments for overtime and for various kinds of special services."

30-Inch Gas Pipeline Explodes In Virginia

CHATHAM, Va., Nov. 3 (AP) — A big 30-inch pipeline carrying natural gas from Texas to New York exploded in a farm pasture near here today with a thunderous roar heard 10 miles away.

Approximately 550 feet of pipe was blasted from the deep trench in which it lay athwart the farm of Robert Motley, at Sheva.

Flames shot an estimated 1,000 feet skyward. Nobody was injured but some of the farm's livestock was.

Earth in a 30-acre circle around the point of explosion was cooked to a bricklike hardness. Much of the twisted pipe was melted.

Colbert Heads Chrysler

DETROIT, Nov. 3 (AP)—Lester L. Colbert was elected president of Chrysler Corp. today as the board of directors named K. T. Keller as board chairman. In the latter capacity Keller will continue to have general oversight of all the business and affairs of the corporation.

Industry Backs Mobilization Plan

SEA ISLAND, Ga., Nov. 3 (AP) — Business leaders today approved the government's "get ready" policy of mobilizing industry before full-scale armament demands hit the economy with disruptive impact.

A majority of the 90-odd members of the business advisory council of the Department of Commerce brought this view to their carefully guarded, three-day meeting with top defense officials here.

There was no vote on this or other defense problems today; yet delegates said the general sentiment amounted to an endorsement of the gradual, but vigorous, program of building and production controls launched by the National Production Authority.

There is clear indication, members said, that the sentiment for "all-out" mobilization with direct wage, price and manpower controls is fading in industry, although still held by some leaders like Bernard Baruch.

Navy Wife Dies In Leap

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3 (AP)—A pretty blonde young mother, despondent over separation from her Navy husband overseas, leaped to her death from the bay bridge early today.

Lost Ferry Found

ASTORIA, Ore., Nov. 3 (AP)—A 180-foot ferry with 19 persons aboard, lost today in a heavy fog at the mouth of the Columbia river, was found far off course but safely anchored.

The ferry, the M. R. Chessman, was the object of a widespread river search when it failed to arrive on its cross-river five-mile run from Megler, Wash., at 7:45 a. m.

The first woman newspaper comic-character artist on an American newspaper was Rose O'Neill, who drew the Kewpies in 1903.

'Informer' Banned In West Germany

WIESBADEN, Germany, Nov. 3 (AP) — The R.K.O. film, "The Informer," was banned in Western Germany today by the voluntary censorship board of the West German film industry.

The film, which deals with Irish rebellion against England, "might disturb German relations with one of the western occupying powers," the board announced in explanation of its action. England is one of the occupying powers.

Also the film "portrays political murder as a permissible means of obtaining political goals," the board added.

Accountant Plunges Six Stories To Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — A 38-year-old man plunged six stories to his death from a Rockefeller Center building today, narrowly missing pedestrians on the crowded sidewalk of Fifth Avenue.

The man was identified by police as Guy Bowden of Flushing, Queens, New York City, an accountant and assistant treasurer of the Aluminum Import Corp. The company has offices in the British Empire building, from the roof of which Bowden jumped or fell.

His body struck a small tree at the outer edge of the sidewalk in the plunge and almost hit Dr. and Mrs. Morris Rosenbloom of Newark, N. J., as they strolled along among afternoon shoppers.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, in a letter to the company, declared that "the Newark plant has demonstrated its eligibility to receive this award by establishing accident rates substantially below the most recent averages for similar organizations and by showing marked improvement in comparison with the previous year."

For a period of more than 16 months—from June 2, 1949, to October 13, 1950—the Newark Plant operated without a single lost-time or disabling injury to any of its employes. During that period, a total of 2,348,219 man-hours were worked. It was in recognition of this impressive safety record that the National Safety Council honored the plant.

Shorter Work Month Is Recommended For Pullman Conductors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — A presidential emergency board today recommended a reduced work month for Pullman conductors. It said the effect would be to give them a pay increase of 10 to 11 cents an hour.

The White House made public the report from the board which President Truman appointed last summer to try to settle a wage dispute dating back to September, 1949. The conductors had called a strike for last July 11 when Mr. Truman appointed the board under the railway Labor Act.

The conductors now work a so-called "basic month" of 225 hours. The board proposed cutting this to 210 hours without any change in monthly pay which ranges from $323.20 to $356.20 a month.

Saying this would mean an increase of 10 to 11 cents in the calculated hourly rate, the board noted:

"These hourly rates are used in making payments for overtime and for various kinds of special services."

30-Inch Gas Pipeline Explodes In Virginia

CHATHAM, Va., Nov. 3 (AP) — A big 30-inch pipeline carrying natural gas from Texas to New York exploded in a farm pasture near here today with a thunderous roar heard 10 miles away.

Approximately 550 feet of pipe was blasted from the deep trench in which it lay athwart the farm of Robert Motley, at Sheva.

Flames shot an estimated 1,000 feet skyward. Nobody was injured but some of the farm's livestock was.

Earth in a 30-acre circle around the point of explosion was cooked to a bricklike hardness. Much of the twisted pipe was melted.

Industry Backs Mobilization Plan

SEA ISLAND, Ga., Nov. 3 (AP) — Business leaders today approved the government's "get ready" policy of mobilizing industry before full-scale armament demands hit the economy with disruptive impact.

A majority of the 90-odd members of the business advisory council of the Department of Commerce brought this view to their carefully guarded, three-day meeting with top defense officials here.

There was no vote on this or other defense problems today; yet delegates said the general sentiment amounted to an endorsement of the gradual, but vigorous, program of building and production controls launched by the National Production Authority.

There is clear indication, members said, that the sentiment for "all-out" mobilization with direct wage, price and manpower controls is fading in industry, although still held by some leaders like Bernard Baruch.

Navy Wife Dies In Leap

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3 (AP)—A pretty blonde young mother, despondent over separation from her Navy husband overseas, leaped to her death from the bay bridge early today.

She was identified as Mrs. Patricia Byrus, 22, wife of William O. Byrus, a Navy machinist's mate recently sent to Guam.

Lost Ferry Found

ASTORIA, Ore., Nov. 3 (AP)—A 180-foot ferry with 19 persons aboard, lost today in a heavy fog at the mouth of the Columbia river, was found far off course but safely anchored.

The ferry, the M. R. Chessman, was the object of a widespread river search when it failed to arrive on its cross-river five-mile run from Megler, Wash., at 7:45 a. m.

The first woman newspaper comic-character artist on an American newspaper was Rose O'Neill, who drew the Kewpies in 1903.

'Informer' Banned In West Germany

WIESBADEN, Germany, Nov. 3 (AP) — The R.K.O. film, "The Informer," was banned in Western Germany today by the voluntary censorship board of the West German film industry.

The film, which deals with Irish rebellion against England, "might disturb German relations with one of the western occupying powers," the board announced in explanation of its action. England is one of the occupying powers.

Also the film "portrays political murder as a permissible means of obtaining political goals," the board added.

His body struck a small tree at the outer edge of the sidewalk in the plunge and almost hit Dr. and Mrs. Morris Rosenbloom of Newark, N. J., as they strolled along among afternoon shoppers.

Celanese Newark Plant Honored

The Newark plant of Celanese Corporation of America has been granted the highly coveted Distinguished Service to Safety Award by the National Safety Council in recognition of an outstanding safety record, it has been announced.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, in a letter to the company, declared that "the Newark plant has demonstrated its eligibility to receive this award by establishing accident rates substantially below the most recent averages for similar organizations and by showing marked improvement in comparison with the previous year."

For a period of more than 16 months—from June 2, 1949, to October 13, 1950—the Newark Plant operated without a single lost-time or disabling injury to any of its employes. During that period, a total of 2,348,219 man-hours were worked. It was in recognition of this impressive safety record that the National Safety Council honored the plant.

Beall And Gunter Deserve Your Vote

Allegany countians should feel proud on Election day, November 7, that when they go to the polls to vote they will be able to cast their ballots for native sons running for high office.

We are referring to William A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney, who is his party's choice to be the next attorney general of Maryland, and to Congressman J. Glenn Beall who, on the basis of his record, has been nominated for re-election.

Mr. Gunter's election will, of course, depend on the vote he receives from every part of Maryland, not just Allegany county. Mr. Beall's return to office rests with the voters of the Sixth district, Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties.

Both men, certainly, are worthy of your support at the polls, not alone because they are native sons, but because of their abilities and their achievements.

Some years ago, Mr. Gunter was elected state senator from Allegany county. He has headed many campaigns and civic enterprises since that time.

Doubtless the one thing, however, that shows his real spirit, the spirit of heart and conscience, was the organization by him during World War II of the Allegany County Letter League.

For some servicemen, the Letter League was their only contact with home during the endless months and years they were away. For others, it always was more welcome news from home. It kept them abreast of the goings-on in Allegany county and it gave them some of the excellent Gunter humor to go with it.

That Mr. Gunter has the ability to fill the position of attorney general there can be no question. He has the reputation of being a fine lawyer.

Congressman Beall's merits scarcely need to be cited. As The Cumberland News pointed out in an editorial last July, J. Glenn Beall, in his few years in Congress, has accomplished more for the Sixth District, and particularly Allegany and Garrett counties, than have his combined predecessors in the history of the district.

Completion of the C. and O. Parkway between Cumberland and Washington is now his No. 1 project. It is a project, now awaiting world developments, that many believed had not the slightest chance of being approved by Congress. But it does have that approval due to the persistence and tireless plugging for it by Mr. Beall.

His efforts have brought about completion of the Savage River dam to the point where it will be ready to start impounding water by March.

He worked tirelessly to bring about Congressional approval of the Cumberland flood control project.

The parkway, once it is undertaken, will provide a measure of relief to the area's economic ills. Its completion is expected to open this section of the state to the tourist trade, with accompanying economic benefits.

The Savage River dam upon its completion will furnish water for economic advancement industrially.

Flood control in Cumberland has given jobs to some who otherwise might be without work. Its completion will mean that this city need no longer fear the danger and damage of high water.

These are but a few of the projects J. Glenn Beall has obtained for his district in the past and he can be depended upon to do as much in the future. His record of accomplishment speaks for itself.

Yes, Allegany countians, all of them, should take pride in marking their ballots on Tuesday for William A. Gunter and J. Glenn Beall, two native sons, both loyal, both able and both with records of achievement.

The Casualty Lists

There is a crumb of satisfaction in learning that the Korean conflict, while one of the bloodiest campaigns in U. S. military history, has the lowest mortality rate of any of them. That statement is made by Dr. Richard L. Meiling, director of medical services for the Department of Defense.

Dr. Meiling says the current rate of slightly more than one per cent of deaths among battle wounded is due to the streamlined operations of field units and the air evacuation system. Litter patients are now back at military hospitals in the U. S. in a matter of days, in contrast to the weeks needed during World War II.

Disease, which traditionally walks hand in hand with war, has hardly been able to get a foothold among U. S. troops. There are scattered cases of malaria, but virtually none of the cholera, dysentery and smallpox that rage through the civilian population.

But this is a deadly war. The Department of Defense has announced total casualty figures of more than 27,000 of which more than 4,000 are listed as dead and more than 4,300 missing. More Americans have been killed and wounded on this rugged, backward peninsula than in the Spanish American War, Mexican War and the War of 1812 combined. Total casualties are more than twice the casualties of the bloody campaign of World War II.

Casualty lists are fearful things. No amount of glossing down can obscure completely the sheer waste in terms of lives and shattered bodies. There is, nevertheless, some comfort in knowing that we are managing to do better than what might be considered "good" when it comes to taking care of our own. And in these days we must take our comfort as we find it.

Malaria Makes History

IT IS a well established fact that the armies of the past had more to fear from noxious parasites than from the armaments of the enemy. In almost all military campaigns such diseases as malaria, typhus, and dysentery have extracted a heavy toll from both troops and the population in the battle area. This has been true from the days of Alexander the Great to the Bataan and Guadalcanal era. This has been taken into consideration by our military men, and the top leaders must reckon with the power of these parasites to curtail or defeat war plans.

Thru the ages, malarial parasites have proved most powerful along this line. Malaria has caused so much illness that it is regarded by some experts as the worst of all human ailments. The chronic ill health that appears in communities where it is rife stifles ambition and the working and fighting capacity of civilians and the military. The malady has been known to destroy gradually the virility of whole nations. This happened to Greece and the Roman empire.

Malaria is no longer mysterious. Various new drugs are available to suppress, prevent, and cure but unfortunately the disease is most prevalent in areas where ignorance and poverty prevail and these aids are beyond reach. Many tropical and subtropical regions profited during the war from control measures that were set up by our armies. The disease had to be eradicated among civilians to make the country safe for soldiers.

World War II brought malaria closer to home but the infection was far from inert in the first World War. In 1916 one-fourth of the British Macedonian forces of 123,000 men had to be hospitalized for malaria. French troops suffered in like manner. In World War II the peril was greater because more man were involved all over the globe. Malaria casualties in the southwest Pacific in the four months of late 1942 and early 1943 amounted to about 90 per cent of the forces employed; they were five to 30 times greater than those incurred in battle. The British and Indian troops in Burma, the United States service men at Bataan and Guadalcanal, and the Australians at New Guiena and New Britain found the sledding just as hard.

Malaria produces severe chills, fever, and sweating. In the quotidian type, paroxysms occur daily and in the vivax form on alternate days. When there is an interval of three days between chills, the quartan parasite is suspected. As a rule, a chilly sensation is the first clew to suggest that a paroxysm is in the making. This increases in intensity so that the teeth chatter, the skin becomes blue and cold, and there is uncontrolable shaking. This lasts about an hour and subsides as the body temperature rises.

In this stage the face is flushed and the head pounds as the temperature soars to 105 degrees F. or higher. After two hours the victim suddenly breaks out into profuse perspiration, the temperature drops to normal, headache disappears, and the feeling of well being returns. Drowsiness and weakness persist for some time thereafter, but the majority are able to resume work. There are variations and in many instances more than one type of malaria is active at the same time. At any rate, it is incapacitating and a menace to any worker.

BLOOD PRESSURE SURGERY

B. L. writes: Is a nerve cutting operation of value in a 38 year old man whose blood pressure is high because of emotional disturbances?

REPLY

There is a good possibility that the operation would help because a sympathectomy severs the connecting link between the nervous system and the vascular system. Before deciding on such an operation the physician would make certain tests to determine whether the particular victim of hypertension would respond to the procedure.

ENCEPHALITIS

B. W. writes: Is sleeping sickness caused by a virus infection?

REPLY

No. The causative agent of this disease [trypanosomiasis] is a protozoan parasite introduced by the bite of the tsetse fly. Encephalitis lethargica is sometimes referred to as sleeping sickness and this disease is thought to be caused by a virus.

SALT USER

Mrs. Z. writes: I can't enjoy my meals unless I use lots of salt. Will this tend to make me nervous?

REPLY

Only if you keep thinking about it. Otherwise, the mineral has no effect on the nervous tissue.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

O'Konski Violates Corrupt Practices Act; President Of O'Konski Club Is On His Congressional Payroll; Newspaper May Be Faced With Bribery Prosecution

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Shortly after elections kindly U. S. Attorney General Howard McGrath may have a test of the Corrupt Practices Act laid on his doorstep which he isn't going to appreciate.

The Corrupt Practices Act was passed in order to prevent candidates for public office from spending huge amounts of money, thus making it difficult for a poor man to be elected. However, candidates have got around the act by claiming they had no control over friends or independent committees who spent money for them without their knowledge. They could not be responsible, they said, for money which well-meaning boosters spent behind their backs.

Thanks to this dodge, thousands of dollars are being spent by both Democrats and Republicans in what is obviously a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act. And not since hard-hitting Alex Campbell left the Justice Department has there been any real attempt to prosecute.

In Wisconsin, however, there is now evidence of a clear-cut violation—by Congressman Alvin O'Konski, already famous for his nepotism, his income-tax finagling and his payroll juggling.

Smokescreen for $$

Officially, O'Konski spends little money on his election campaigns. His chief electioneering has been done by the "Veterans for O'Konski" club, which has spent money heavily.

President of the "Veterans for O'Konski" club is Wendel Johnson. And it now develops that Johnson is on O'Konski's congressional payroll in Washington for $218 a month. Actually Johnson doesn't work in Washington. He remains in Merrill, Wis., where he has an office at WLIN, the radio station owned by O'Konski, and has been the station manager.

This dispels any fiction that the Congressman doesn't know what Johnson as president of "The Veterans for O'Konski Club" is doing and how much money the club is spending. As a direct employe of the Congressman, drawing a salary paid by all the taxpayers, the usual dodge for violating the corrupt Practices Act blows up in smoke.

NOTE — Attorney General McGrath has had a clear-cut case of salary kickbacks against O'Konski for months but has failed to prosecute. The Congressman put members of a weekly newspaper staff in Hurley, Wis., on his congressional payroll, thereby reimbursing them for the purchase price of the paper. Thus the taxpayers actually paid for the purchase of O'Konski's newspaper. However, it looks as if the Justice Department only likes to prosecute congressmen who have gone after Communists — such as J. Parnell Thomas.

Merry-Go-Round

Senator Taft is reported gaining on Democratic Joe Ferguson in the last couple of week. . . . Congressman Clarence Brown, Taft's No. 1 Ohio brain truster, admits to friends: "In ten years I've never had such a tough fight." However, he'll probably win. . . . Congressman Ed Breen, ex-mayor of Dayton, may be the next Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio if he comes back to Congress with sufficient majority. . . . Democrat Charles Buckley of the Bronx, sometimes called the phantom congressman because of his long absences, is likely to be defeated by Max Bloom of the New York Liberal Party. . . . Alex Campbell, Democratic candidate for the Senate in Indiana, is descended from Alexander Campell, founder of the Christian church, otherwise known as "Campbellites." In Oklahoma, a preacher in the same church, "Billy Sunday" Alexander, is also running for the Senate—but on the GOP ticket. . . . The two candidates with the greatest amounts to spend on billboards appear to be Taft in Ohio and Nixon in California. Nixon has so much money that he even puts billboards across the border in Mexico.

Idaho Scandals

Idaho, famous for its Senator Borah and Cowboy Glen Taylor, who deserted the Democratic party for Henry Wallace, is likely to stage some political surprises. Local scandals have mixed things up. . . . It all began with a state liquor and insurance scandal which the GOP-controlled state legislature tried to shush. However, the irate people of Idaho, many of them Mormons, took things into their own hands, and a grand jury demanded prosecutions. Eventually the state purchasing agent, Harold Boyd, got 10 years in jail, while the liquor law-enforcement chief, Clarence Saunders, was fired. . . . All this has seriously hurt GOP Candidate Henry Dworshak who had been defeated by the late Sen. Bert Miller in 1948 and is trying to stage a comeback. Running against him is a live-wire farm-implement salesman and history professor, Claude Burtenshaw. . . . On the other hand, the Democrat who defeated Glen Taylor in the primaries, ex-Senator Worth Clark, is pretty sure to lose.

Political Grapevine

A bribery prosecution may be in the works for a Negro newspaper in Los Angeles in connection with political advertising. . . . The editor of a newspaper (white) on the outskirts of Los Angeles tells how he was offered $1,000 in Nixon advertising if he would come out editorially for Nixon. He refused. . . . San Bernardino, vice mecca for Angelenos since Mayor Bowron's cleanups, seems certain to kick out its present sheriff and elect Gene Mueller, an FBI police-academy graduate. . . . In Ohio a lot of Republicans are cutting the GOP candidate for governor, Don H. Ebright, in order to vote for Democratic Governor Lausche because of Lausche's silent support for Taft. . . . A big Republican vote is expected in North Carolina — cast by Democrats in protest against the primary campaign tactics of Willis Smith. . . . In South Carolina not too many folks will bother about voting. With the issues decided in the primaries, South Carolina is chiefly looking forward to what ex-Secretary of State Jimmie Byrnes is going to say about his ex-boss in the White House when Jimmie becomes governor.

Jazzed-Up Diplomacy

Troubled by the fact that comrade Vishinsky steals the play at Lake Success, the U. S. delegation is putting a new spice into its speeches. Witness the reference to Frank Sinatra by staid Wall Street Lawyer John Foster Dulles.

Dulles had carefully prepared a speech rebutting Vishinsky on the hot question of voiding the veto. It was mimeographed and issued to the press. But when newsmen listened to the speech, something new had been added.

"We are hearing the same old song from Mr. Vishinsky," explained Mr. Dulles. "But are we bobby-soxers who swoon when our modern Frank Sinatra croons?"

It was a good try, but Vishinsky got the headlines just the same.

"Support The President" Address Is Anticipated

By MARK SULLIVAN

THE address to the country which President Truman is to make tonight will speak for itself. Whatever the wording, the fact of his making it and the attendant circumstances determine its nature and purport. Directly in all likelihood, or by implication most certainly, it will be an appeal to the people to elect a Congress which will "support the President" —that phrase is used repeatedly by Administration candidates and partisans.

In any Congressional election the president in office is a figure, usually the principal one. He is made so by his leadership of his party by the disposition of the party candidates to identify themselves with him. He is further made a figure by the fact that he is the symbol of the nation—voters tend to express approval or disapproval of the state of the nation by voting symbolically for or against the president in office. These conditions make Mr. Truman an important figure in the coming election and the importance will be increased to paramountcy if in his coming address he asks to people to elect a Congress that will support him.

Appeals from any source for a Congress that will support the president invite attention to the state of the country as it is after Mr. Truman has been president for five and a half years. Especially they invite attention to the extent to which actions and policies of the Truman administration were causes of the present state or contributed to its coming about.

War In Forefront

Foremost in the present state of the country is war. The country is just coming to victorious conclusion of a war that has cost thousands of lives and billions of treasure. In expectation of more war and preparedness for it, our youth is being drafted, our people being subjected to economic controls which reduce their standard of living and are attended by sacrifices of their liberties.

The primary cause of our being at war and under necessity of preparing for more is of course Communist Russia. But to say this calls in question the conduct of our relations with Communist Russia by the Truman administration, especially our relations as respects China, for the war we are just concluding is a consequence of the overcoming of China by Russian Communism.

The Administration's policy about China was under attack during the years when it was being carried out and at this moment is under especially sharp attack. Defense of the policy is logically called for by any appeal to the people to elect a Congress that will support President Truman. Argument about the policy would cover an immense field, including judgments that are in dispute and facts that are not yet fully known. But two events are fully on record, both of which strongly support the view that our policy about China contributed to the fall of that country to Russian Communism.

At Yalta in February, 1945, President Roosevelt made an agreement with Stalin, secret at the time, by which Roosevelt promised that after the war Russia should have territory previously a part of China. This territory, with other advantages given Russia at the expense of China, provided a springboard and leverage for the subsequent drive of Russian Communism to overrun China.

Put Pressure On Chiang

In late 1946, after the drive of communism to overcome China had made headway, the Truman administration publicly put pressure on the Nationalist government of China under Chiang Kai-shek to take the Chinese Communists into a coalition government. That was encouragement to the Communists in their drive. On the Chinese people as a whole the step had a psychological effect, it was notice of an attitude on the part of the United States government which made success for the Nationalist government unlikely. That step in the policy of the Truman administration about China was devastating to the Nationalist government, and that was the only organized force in China resisting communism.

Appeal to the electorate for a Congress that will support the President is appeal for one that will support the Administration's China policy. For that policy is a continuing thing, past steps in it make future ones necessary, and the nature of the future steps is occasion for suspicion. An important Republican leader, Harold E. Stassen, the other day charged that after the election the Truman admiinstration will embrace the Chinese Communist government and encourage admission of it to the United Nations.

Reports from the states about the coming election indicate the existence of a large independent and silent vote. Such a vote is likely to want not a Congress that will support the President but one which, regardless of party affiliation, will be a strong Congress.

Administration Wants Steel Peace Deferred

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. — The administration, it became known today, indicated recently it would prefer that the steel companies and the Steelworkers Union should not reach an agreement in current negotiations before election day.

The plan had been to announce a simultaneous increase of wages and prices the moment an agreement was reached between the CIO and the management of some of the steel companies.

But apparently the administration felt that this might stimulate throughout the country an intense demand for immediate application of wage and price controls--and, of course, such a development could raise campaign issues that would be embarrassing all around.

So far as is known, the steel industry did not agree to the postponement, though its spokesmen were well aware of the administration's wish. So the objective was accomplished another way. President Truman and CIO chief Philip Murray conferred not long ago. It became apparent shortly after this conference that Mr. Murray was not in as much of a hurry to get the wage increases as he had been before. The negotiations suddenly slowed down, and now it is unlikely that any agreement could be reached before election, no matter how hard the bargaining representatives worked at it.

Can Be Stalled

It is easy enough to stall negotiations of such a complex character as are involved in the steel industry. The CIO leaders were able to comply with the wishes of the administration without difficulty. Just what arguments were used to persuade Mr. Murray to hold off can only be conjectured, though it is rather surprising that the matter has been enveloped in such secrecy. Usually one side or the other insists on an early end to protracted negotiations or there is a threat of more drastic action by the union. Evidently the conversations are proceeding leisurely.

When the steelworkers' contract is announced, it will impress the country with the seriousness of the latest move in the inflation spiral. It will probably result in criticism of both the union and the steel companies, and the demand for controls will be pressed sharply on Washington.

This, however, is only one of the problems facing the steel industry. The latest phase of governmental intervention comes in a speech by W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board. In an obvious reference to the steel industry, he said:

"In discussing this problem recently with the leaders of a great corporation which produces a basic material, they were frankly hesitant about expansion in their industry, because of their fear of carrying excessive capacity in the depression they considered inevitable.

"These industrialists also said they had a report which proved the United States could only absorb 42 million automobiles, that 37 million were already in use, and that therefore the production of cars should be curtailed.

"Is it right in any system of free enterprise, however, for the supplier to dictate to the customer when and what he can buy? Also it would seem that the American people, not any industry, or any group of industries, should decide how many automobiles the nation can afford on the highways."

Another Brannan Plan

The foregoing constitutes a paradox. On the one hand, private business must gauge accurately future demand or overbuild and run the risk of constructing plants which soon become idle and costly to maintain when not in operation. On the other hand, if the defense needs require more plants now, then it becomes a question of whether the government will supply the extra plants or finance them for industry—a problem that arose during World War II.

What seems to be overlooked, however, is that if wage scales go to high levels and building costs skyrocket, new companies will not go into the steel business to furnish more competition. Similarly, the existent companies will not be able to operate new plants for the government or for themselves except at higher and higher costs. It's easy to declaim about scarce facilities in wartime but someone has to pay for idle facilities in peacetime. Maybe there will be a Brannan plan for that, too, some day.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Sociological Experiment

FOR 17 years, there has been no strike in the Weirton steel plant and the CIO was unable to unionize it. This was a direct result of two ideas: 1. To provide maximum year-round employment; 2. To pay higher wages and provide better working conditions than other steel companies. This was possible because there were no strikes.

An independent union operated in the plant. The existence of this union was fought by the CIO, using every device available, including long hearings before the National Labor Relations Board and the courts. Finally, the independent union was declared to be a company union, was outlawed, and an NLRB election was ordered.

For 90 days prior to that election, management was hamstrung, it being forbidden to do any campaigning on the assumption that anything said might have the effect of invalidating the election. No such restriction was placed on the CIO. It conducted an active campaign to win votes. Phil Murray himself visited Weirton, addressed an audience, and announced a victory.

Meanwhile, the workers organized a new independent union, which was validated by the National Labor Relations Board and placed on the ballot. The election was closely supervised by the agents of the board and they counted the votes.

Eligible and available to vote were 11,520 employes. The total vote cast was 11,253. Challenged by the CIO were 381 votes. Improperly marked ballots thrown out amounted to 40. This then is the final result:

| | |
|---|---|
| Independent union | 7,291 |
| CIO | 3,454 |
| No union at all | 87 |

In view of all the circumstances, there figures may be viewed sociologically beyond the affairs of this one company. The employes live in two adjacent cities, Weirton, W. Va., and Steubenville, O. They are of numerous racial and religious origins. Weirton is a new community, built about the mill which is its sole industry. Steubenville is an older community with several industries. Weirton has never been unionized by either the A F of L or the CIO; Steubenville may be regarded as a CIO town. Yet, only 87 out of 11,253 voted for no union at all.

First, it strikes me that this indicates a definite desire for some type of union organization. The workers in this plant have had no strike for 17 years, nor have they had to pay heavy union dues, assessments, strike fund contributions or anything of the sort. But they want a union. They want organized representation.

Secondly, the fact that only 40 ballots were thrown out as invalid is astonishing in any election of more than 11,000. In these steel towns, it used to be that large numbers of workers were illiterate, many of them brought over by immigrant contractors. The present crop are elementary and high school graduates. They are not only literate but they are keenly interested in their problems. Given a free chance to state their wishes by a secret ballot, they express themselves.

It is also interesting to note that of the 11,520 eligible and available to vote, all but 267 voted. Among these 267 must have been some who, in the ordinary wear and tear of life, could not be there on the balloting day. In a word, it might be said, for all practical purposes, that everyone voted, indicating an interest in such matters far beyond the proportions even of a Presidential election.

It would we worth knowing how the vote stood by age groups, by length of employment, and by labor turnover, but I find that such information is unavailable because the NLRB correctly conducts a secret ballot, the voters not being identifiable.

Yet, it is to be noted that while the CIO received about 30 per cent of the total vote, workers in this company between the ages of 18 to 29 amount to about 33 per cent and those who have had five years service or less amount to about 50 per cent. According to the company, the turnover among workers who have been with them more than five years is negligible.

Beall And Gunter Deserve Your Vote

Allegany countians should feel proud on Election day, November 7, that when they go to the polls to vote they will be able to cast their ballots for native sons running for high office.

We are referring to William A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney, who is his party's choice to be the next attorney general of Maryland, and to Congressman J. Glenn Beall who, on the basis of his record, has been nominated for re-election.

Mr. Gunter's election will, of course, depend on the vote he receives from every part of Maryland, not just Allegany county. Mr. Beall's return to office rests with the voters of the Sixth district, Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties.

Both men, certainly, are worthy of your support at the polls, not alone because they are native sons, but because of their abilities and their achievements.

Some years ago, Mr. Gunter was elected state senator from Allegany county. He has headed many campaigns and civic enterprises since that time.

Doubtless the one thing, however, that shows his real spirit, the spirit of heart and conscience, was the organization by him during World War II of the Allegany County Letter League.

For some servicemen, the Letter League was their only contact with home during the endless months and years they were away. For others, it always was more welcome news from home. It kept them abreast of the goings-on in Allegany county and it gave them some of the excellent Gunter humor to go with it.

That Mr. Gunter has the ability to fill the position of attorney general there can be no question. He has the reputation of being a fine lawyer.

Congressman Beall's merits scarcely need to be cited. As The Cumberland News pointed out in an editorial last July, J. Glenn Beall, in his few years in Congress, has accomplished more for the Sixth District, and particularly Allegany and Garrett counties, than have his combined predecessors in the history of the district.

Completion of the C. and O. Parkway between Cumberland and Washington is now his No. 1 project. It is a project, now awaiting world developments, that many believed had not the slightest chance of being approved by Congress. But it does have that approval due to the persistence and tireless plugging for it by Mr. Beall.

His efforts have brought about completion of the Savage River dam to the point where it will be ready to start impounding water by March.

He worked tirelessly to bring about Congressional approval of the Cumberland flood control project.

The parkway, once it is undertaken, will provide a measure of relief to the area's economic ills. Its completion is expected to open this section of the state to the tourist trade, with accompanying economic benefits.

The Savage River dam upon its completion will furnish water for economic advancement industrially.

Flood control in Cumberland has given jobs to some who otherwise might be without work. Its completion will mean that this city need no longer fear the danger and damage of high water.

These are but a few of the projects J. Glenn Beall has obtained for his district in the past and he can be depended upon to do as much in the future. His record of accomplishment speaks for itself.

Yes, Allegany countians, all of them, should take pride in marking their ballots on Tuesday for William A. Gunter and J. Glenn Beall, two native sons, both loyal, both able and both with records of achievement.

Those Russians think of everything. Comrade Vishinsky, currently at large in the United States, has bought a new Cadillac which has a place to carry the Communist flag preparatory to the big Red parade down Broadway.

The Casualty Lists

There is a crumb of satisfaction in learning that the Korean conflict, while one of the bloodiest campaigns in U. S. military history, has the lowest mortality rate of any of them. That statement is made by Dr. Richard L. Meiling, director of medical services for the Department of Defense.

Dr. Meiling says the current rate of slightly more than one per cent of deaths among battle wounded is due to the streamlined operations of field units and the air evacuation system. Litter patients are now back at military hospitals in the U. S. in a matter of days, in contrast to the weeks needed during World War II.

Disease, which traditionally walks hand in hand with war, has hardly been able to get a foothold among U. S. troops. There are scattered cases of malaria, but virtually none of the cholera, dysentery and smallpox that rage through the civilian population.

But this is a deadly war. The Department of Defense has announced total casualty figures of more than 27,000, of which more than 4,000 are listed as dead and more than 4,300 missing. More Americans have been killed and wounded on this rugged, backboned peninsula than in the Spanish American War, Mexican War and the War of 1812 combined. Total casualties are more than twice the casualties of the Sicily campaign of World War II.

Casualty lists are fearful things. No amount of glossing down can obscure completely the sheer waste in terms of lives and shattered bodies. There is, nevertheless, some comfort in knowing that we are managing to do better than what might be considered "good" when it comes to taking care of our own. And in these days we must take our comfort as we find it.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Malaria Makes History

IT IS a well established fact that the armies of the past had more to fear from noxious parasites than from the armaments of the enemy. In almost all military campaigns such diseases as malaria, typhus, and dysentery have extracted a heavy toll from both troops and the population in the battle area. This has been true from the days of Alexander the Great to the Bataan and Guadalcanal era. This has been taken into consideration by our military men, and the top leaders must reckon with the power of these parasites to curtail or defeat war plans.

Thru the ages, malarial parasites have proved most powerful along this line. Malaria has caused so much illness that it is regarded by some experts as the worst of all human ailments. The chronic ill health that appears in communities where it is rife stifles ambition and the working and fighting capacity of civilians and the military. The malady has been known to destroy gradually the virility of whole nations. This happened to Greece and the Roman empire.

Malaria is no longer mysterious. Various new drugs are available to suppress, prevent, and cure but unfortunately the disease is most prevalent in areas where ignorance and poverty prevail and these aids are beyond reach. Many tropical and subtropical regions profited during the war from control measures that were set up by our armies. The disease had to be eradicated among civilians to make the country safe for soldiers.

World War II brought malaria closer to home but the infection was far from inert in the first World War. In 1916 one-fourth of the British Macedonian forces of 123,000 men had to be hospitalized for malaria. French troops suffered in like manner. In World War II the peril was greater because more man were involved all over the globe. Malaria casualties in the southwest Pacific in the four months of late 1942 and early 1943 amounted to about 90 per cent of the forces employed; they were five to 30 times greater than those incurred in battle. The British and Indian troops in Burma, the United States service men at Bataan and Guadalcanal, and the Australians at New Guiena and New Britain found the sledding just as hard.

Malaria produces severe chills, fever, and sweating. In the quotidian type, paroxysms occur daily and in the vivax form on alternate days. When there is an interval of three days between chills, the quartan parasite is suspected. As a rule, a chilly sensation is the first clew to suggest that a paroxysm is in the making. This increases in intensity so that the teeth chatter, the skin becomes blue and cold, and there is uncontrolable shaking. This lasts about an hour and subsides as the body temperature rises.

In this stage the face is flushed and the head pounds as the temperature soars to 105 degrees F. or higher. After two hours the victim suddenly breaks out into profuse perspiration, the temperature drops to normal, headache disappears, and the feeling of well being returns. Drowsiness and weakness persist for some time thereafter, but the majority are able to resume work. There are variations and in many instances more than one type of malaria is active at the same time. At any rate, it is incapacitating and a menace to any worker.

BLOOD PRESSURE SURGERY

B. L. writes: Is a nerve cutting operation of value in a 38 year old man whose blood pressure is high because of emotional disturbances?

REPLY

There is a good possibility that the operation would help because a sympathectomy severs the connecting link between the nervous system and the vascular system. Before deciding on such an operation the physician would make certain tests to determine whether the particular victim of hypertension would respond to the procedure.

ENCEPHALITIS

B. W. writes: Is sleeping sickness caused by a virus infection?

REPLY

No. The causative agent of this disease [trypanosomiasis] is a protozoan parasite introduced by the bite of the tsetse fly. Encephalitis lethargica is sometimes referred to as sleeping sickness and this disease is thought to be caused by a virus.

SALT USER

Mrs. Z. writes: I can't enjoy my meals unless I use lots of salt. Will this tend to make me nervous?

REPLY

Only if you keep thinking about it. Otherwise, the mineral has no effect on the nervous tissue.

O'Konski Violates Corrupt Practices Act; President Of O'Konski Club Is On His Congressional Payroll; Newspaper May Be Faced With Bribery Prosecution

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Shortly after elections kindly U. S. Attorney General Howard McGrath may have a test of the Corrupt Practices Act laid on his doorstep which he isn't going to appreciate.

The Corrupt Practices Act was passed in order to prevent candidates for public office from spending huge amounts of money, thus making it difficult for a poor man to be elected. However, candidates have got around the act by claiming they had no control over friends or independent committees who spent money for them without their knowledge. They could not be responsible, they said, for money which well-meaning boosters spent behind their backs.

Thanks to this dodge, thousands of dollars are being spent by both Democrats and Republicans in what is obviously a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act. And not since hard-hitting Alex Campbell left the Justice Department has there been any real attempt to prosecute.

In Wisconsin, however, there is now evidence of a clear-cut violation—by Congressman Alvin O'Konski, already famous for his nepotism, his income-tax finagling and his payroll juggling.

Smokescreen for $$

Officially, O'Konski spends little money on his election campaigns. His chief electioneering has been done by the "Veterans for O'Konski" club, which has spent money heavily.

President of the "Veterans for O'Konski" club is Wendel Johnson. And it now develops that Johnson is on O'Konski's congressional payroll in Washington for $218 a month. Actually Johnson doesn't work in Washington. He remains in Merrill, Wis., where he has an office at WLIN, the radio station owned by O'Konski, and has been the station manager.

This dispels any fiction that the Congressman doesn't know what Johnson as president of "The Veterans for O'Konski Club" is doing and how much money the club is spending. As a direct employe of the Congressman, drawing a salary paid by all the taxpayers, the usual dodge for violating the corrupt Practices Act blows up in smoke.

NOTE — Attorney General McGrath has had a clear-cut case of salary kickbacks against O'Konski for months but has failed to prosecute. The Congressman put members of a weekly newspaper staff in Hurley, Wis., on his congressional payroll, thereby reimbursing them for the purchase price of the paper. Thus the taxpayers actually paid for the purchase of O'Konski's newspaper. However, it looks as if the Justice Department only likes to prosecute congressmen who have gone after Communists — such as J. Parnell Thomas.

The Administration's policy about China was under attack during the years when it was being carried out and at this moment is under especially sharp attack. Defense of the policy is logically called for by any appeal to the people to elect a Congress that will support President Truman. Argument about the policy would cover an immense field, including judgments that are in dispute and facts that are not yet fully known. But two events are fully on record, both of which strongly support the view that our policy about China contributed to the fall of that country to Russian Communism.

At Yalta in February, 1945, President Roosevelt made an agreement with Stalin, secret at the time, by which Roosevelt promised that after the war Russia should have territory previously a part of China. This territory, with other advantages given Russia at the expense of China, provided a springboard and leverage for the subsequent drive of Russian Communism to overrun China.

Put Pressure On Chiang

In late 1946, after the drive of communism to overcome China had made headway, the Truman administration publicly put pressure on the Nationalist government of China under Chiang Kai-shek to take the Chinese Communists into a coalition government. That was encouragement to the Communists in their drive. On the Chinese people as a whole the step had a psychological effect, it was notice of an attitude on the part of the United States government which made success for the Nationalist government unlikely. That step in the policy of the Truman administration about China was devastating to the Nationalist government, and that was the only organized force in China resisting communism.

Appeal to the electorate for a Congress that will support the President is appeal for one that will support the Administration's China policy. For that policy is a continuing thing, past steps in it make future ones necessary, and the nature of the future steps is occasion for suspicion. An important Republican leader, Harold E. Stassen, the other day charged that after the election the Truman admiinstration will embrace the Chinese Communist government and encourage admission of it to the United Nations.

Reports from the states about the coming election indicate the existence of a large independent and silent vote. Such a vote is likely to want not a Congress that will support the President but one which, regardless of party affiliation, will be a strong Congress.

Administration Wants Steel Peace Deferred

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. — The administration, it became known today, indicated recently it would prefer that the steel companies and the Steelworkers Union should not reach an agreement in current negotiations before election day.

The plan had been to announce a simultaneous increase of wages and prices the moment an agreement was reached between the CIO and the management of some of the steel companies.

But apparently the administration felt that this might stimulate throughout the country an intense demand for immediate application of wage and price controls—and, of course, such a development could raise campaign issues that would be embarrassing all around.

So far as is known, the steel industry did not agree to the postponement, though its spokesmen were well aware of the administration's wish. So the objective was accomplished another way. President Truman and CIO chief Philip Murray conferred not long ago. It became apparent shortly after this conference that Mr. Murray was not in as much of a hurry to get the wage increases as he had been before. The negotiations suddenly slowed down, and now it is unlikely that any agreement could be reached before election, no matter how hard the bargaining representatives worked at it.

Can Be Stalled

It is easy enough to stall negotiations of such a complex character as are involved in the steel industry. The CIO leaders were able to comply with the wishes of the administration without difficulty. Just what arguments were used to persuade Mr. Murray to hold off can only be conjectured, though it is rather surprising that the matter has been enveloped in such secrecy. Usually one side or the other insists on an early end to protracted negotiations or there is a threat of more drastic action by the union. Evidently the conversations are proceeding leisurely.

When the steelworkers' contract is announced, it will impress the country with the seriousness of the latest move in the inflation spiral. It will probably result in criticism of both the union and the steel companies, and the demand for controls will be pressed sharply on Washington.

This, however, is only one of the problems facing the steel industry. The latest phase of governmental intervention comes in a speech by W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board. In an obvious reference to the steel industry, he said:

"In discussing this problem recently with the leaders of a great corporation which produces a basic material, they were frankly hesitant about expansion in their industry, because of their fear of carrying excessive capacity in the depression they considered inevitable.

"These industrialists also said they had a report which proved the United States could only absorb 42 million automobiles, that 37 million were already in use, and that therefore the production of cars should be curtailed.

"Is it right in any system of free enterprise, however, for the supplier to dictate to the customer when and what he can buy? Also it would seem that the American people, not any industry, or any group of industries, should decide how many automobiles the nation can afford on the highways."

Another Brannan Plan

The foregoing constitutes a paradox. On the one hand, private business must gauge accurately future demand or overbuild and run the risk of constructing plants which soon become idle and costly to maintain when not in operation. On the other hand, if the defense needs require more plants now, then it becomes a question of whether the government will supply the extra plants or finance them for industry—a problem that arose during World War II.

What seems to be overlooked, however, is that if wage scales go to high levels and building costs skyrocket, new companies will not go into the steel business to furnish more competition. Similarly, the existent companies will not be able to operate new plants for the government or for themselves except at higher and higher costs. It's easy to declaim about scarce facilities in wartime but someone has to pay for idle facilities in peacetime. Maybe there will be a Brannan plan for that, too, some day.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Sociological Experiment

FOR 17 years, there has been no strike in the Weirton steel plant and the CIO was unable to unionize it. This was a direct result of two ideas: 1. To provide maximum year-round employment; 2. To pay higher wages and provide better working conditions than other steel companies. This was possible because there were no strikes.

An independent union operated in the plant. The existence of this union was fought by the CIO, using every device available, including long hearings before the National Labor Relations Board and the courts. Finally, the independent union was declared to be a company union, was outlawed, and an NLRB election was ordered.

For 90 days prior to that election, management was hamstrung, it being forbidden to do any campaigning on the assumption that anything said might have the effect of invalidating the election. No such restriction was placed on the CIO. It conducted an active campaign to win votes. Phil Murray himself visited Weirton, addressed an audience, and announced a victory.

Meanwhile, the workers organized a new independent union, which was validated by the National Labor Relations Board and placed on the ballot. The election was closely supervised by the agents of the board and they counted the votes.

Eligible and available to vote were 11,520 employes. The total vote cast was 11,253. Challenged by the CIO were 381 votes. Improperly marked ballots thrown out amounted to 40. This then is the final result:

| | |
|---|---|
| Independent union | 7,291 |
| CIO | 3,454 |
| No union at all | 87 |

In view of all the circumstances, there figures may be viewed sociologically beyond the affairs of this one company. The employes live in two adjacent cities, Weirton, W. Va., and Steubenville, O. They are of numerous racial and religious origins. Weirton is a new community, built about the mill which is its sole industry. Steubenville is an older community with several industries. Weirton has never been unionized by either the A F of L or the CIO; Steubenville may be regarded as a CIO town. Yet, only 87 out of 11,253 voted for no union at all.

First, it strikes me that this indicates a definite desire for some type of union organization. The workers in this plant have had no strike for 17 years, nor have they had to pay heavy union dues, assessments, strike fund contributions or anything of the sort. But they want a union. They want organized representation.

Secondly, the fact that only 40 ballots were thrown out as invalid is astonishing in any election of more than 11,000. In these steel towns, it used to be that large numbers of workers were illiterate, many of them brought over by immigrant contractors. The present crop are elementary and high school graduates. They are not only literate but they are keenly interested in their problems. Given a free chance to state their wishes by a secret ballot, they express themselves.

It is also interesting to note that of the 11,520 eligible and available to vote, all but 267 voted. Among these 267 must have been some who, in the ordinary wear and tear of life, could not be there on the balloting day. In a word, it might be said, for all practical purposes, that everyone voted, indicating an interest in such matters far beyond the proportions even of a Presidential election.

It would we worth knowing how the vote stood by age groups, by length of employment, and by labor turnover, but I find that such information is unavailable because the NLRB correctly conducts a secret ballot, the voters not being identifiable.

Yet, it is to be noted that while the CIO received about 30 per cent of the total vote, workers in this company between the ages of 18 to 29 amount to about 33 per cent and those who have had five years service or less amount to about 50 per cent. According to the company, the turnover among workers who have been with them more than five years is negligible.

County Board Told Of School Work Planned

Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Holmes have reported on the conference they had with Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, concerning proposed improvements to the Corriganville School.

The conference was held after several residents of the Corriganville area protested about the lack of modern toilet facilities and other needed improvements at the school.

Kopp informed the board that in 1942 the sum of $7,800 was appropriated by the county commissioners to cover the cost of installing inside toilets at the school. Due to the scarcity of materials during World War II the proposed improvements could not be made at that time, Mr. Kopp added.

Other Improvements Needed

Lemmert said that Kopp stated a survey by the Board of Education indicated an increasing enrollment at the school, and that it appeared more should be done in the way of improvements than merely installing toilet facilities.

Plans for an addition to the school have been drawn and approved by the state architect. These include boys' and girls' toilet facilities, a principal's room, a teachers' room, a health room and cafeteria-auditorium.

The estimated cost of these improvements is between $75,000 and $100,000 and the money would have to be made available before it could be done, according to Kopp.

Kopp also told the board that Board of Education is working at present on plans for the construction of toilet facilities at the school at a cost of between $25,000 and $30,000.

Await Sewage Plans

The Board of Education is awaiting word from the State Department of Health concerning proper sewerage disposal plans for the school, and whether or not the school will be permitted to discharge the effluent into the stream near the school.

Lemmert said the Board of Education assured the commissioners that these plans for inside toilet facilities alone were being expedited.

Copies of the report by the commissioners have been sent to Mrs. Walter J. Shaffer, president of the Parent-Teachers Association of Corriganville and officials of the Corriganville Fire Department, the two groups which made the protest about conditions at the school.

2 Wills Admitted In Orphans' Court

Two wills were admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans' Court.

The will of William L. Wilson, Sr., this city, who died October 26, names his widow as sole beneficiary. A son, William L. Wilson, Jr., obtained letters of administration on the estate.

Under terms of the will of Mrs. Emily Donges Allen, this city, who died October 10, the estate is divided between her four children, Mary Jeannette Brown, Anna Lucile Brant, Mildred Virginia Beck and George William Allen. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Allen are administrators of the estate.

Local Church Set For 50th Anniversary

In preparation for the Golden Jubilee observance this month at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Oldtown Road the parish has been redecorated at a cost of $13,000.

Highlighting the celebration, both spiritual and social in scope, will be a solemn pontifical mass celebrated November 19 at 11 a.m. by Most Rev. Patrick Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore. Other officers of the mass have not been named.

George W. Sellers, chairman of the steering committee, reported yesterday that plans by various parish groups are nearing completion for the church's fiftieth anniversary. Interior work was completed about six weeks ago.

The program for November 19 includes a pageant depicting pointed incidents in the parish's history and will be enacted by children of the parochial school.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor, is preparing the church's history for publication. Expected to be the most complete of its kind ever published as a parochial record, the history will embrace photographs of early events, classes of the school and notes on various parish societies and the jubilee committees.

Another feature of the history will be pictures of former assistant priests at St. Mary's and the native parish vocations to the priesthood, brotherhood and sisterhood.

St. Mary's annual fair will be held the nights of November 8 and 9 with turkey suppers served from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Augustine Will is general chairman.

Poll Workers Pay Hike Favored By Board

A motion was introduced to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by Commissioner William H. Lemmert under which the board would recommend to the next session of the Legislature that the pay rates of poll workers be increased.

Lemmert said many judges and clerks have complained to him that the present rate of $10 for the first 12 hours they work or election day is too low. This rate amounts to 83 cents per hour, which is below the county prevailing wage scale, according to Lemmert.

Commissioner Lemmert also said the overtime pay after 12 hours is only 60 cents per hour.

Under the recommendation submitted by Lemmert, the poll workers would receive $1 per hour for the first 12 hours and time and one-half pay for overtime. This would fit into the county's wage pattern, Lemmert said.

After a discussion the board unanimously passed the motion.

Betty Lou House To Become Bride Of Thomas H. Brown

Ceremony To Be Performed Today

Miss Betty Lou House, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. House, Paw Paw, W. Va., will become the bride of Thomas H. Brown, Oldtown, tonight. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 7 p. m. in the Oldtown Assembly of God Church with Rev. H. L. Wigfield officiating. White flowers and leaves are being used in the decorations.

How familiar are you with how you look from the back? Here's an easy way to overcome rear-view faults.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

"I LOVE American women," the late Will Rogers once remarked. "They are wonderful! All pretty from the front, but from the back . . . it's a different story. When are they going to learn that they just can't go on meeting people face to face . . . someday they are going to have to pass somebody!"

How familiar are you with how you look from the back? Observe the rear view of the women you pass on the street; take a good look at the back of their heads. How many do you see who look attractive enough to make you want to take a couple of extra steps to get a glimpse of their faces? Few enough, I'll wager, to make you decide that it's worthwhile to study the back of your own head and to give it the attention that's apt to be long overdue.

Rear-View Faults

Should such inspection reveal that the back of your hairdo is unflattering to your head, neck and figure, or that dry, tattered ends betray your otherwise careful grooming, don't be dismayed. It's something you can overcome quickly.

The only equipment you need is a rear-view mirror. The least inexpensive and handiest types are those that are held around your neck by a comfortable plastic band and can be adjusted to any height. With this kind of a reflector you can get a clear image of the back of your head, whether your large dressing mirror is placed high or low.

You will quickly discover that lacquer, pomade, grip combs and invisible nets are of even greater use in perfecting the back of your coiffure than they are in front.

But your hair styling errors may not be so easily corrected. They require some study. If you follow the fashion for the close-cropped, curled crown, there is no law that says your hair must be curlycued in the back if that style foreshortens your body. Instead try a smooth, contoured swirl behind, and see how it elongates your neck and figure.

Beautiful Back Coiffures

Conversely, if you're the slim one with a slender column of a neck, a backview of your beauty might be soft waves down the entire length of the head with the ends turning to one side in an enormous pin curl that lies flat just behind the ear. Very new, too!

A graceful back solution to any coiffure, no matter how it may be styled in front, is the old upsweep. To achieve it, you must have your hair professionally cut in vertical layers so that the hair grows progressively longer from the left to the right side to prevent undue bulk. All the back hair should then be sent in pin curls. Next, in dressing, it should be brushed hard to the left until a curl cluster bunches over the left ear to hide a securing comb.

United Jewish Appeal Dinner Is Tomorrow

The toastmaster at the "kickoff" dinner for the annual fund raising campaign of the Jewish Welfare fund of Western Maryland tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. in B'er Chayim Temple, South Centre Street, will be Harvey Weiss, superintendent of Sinai Hospital in Baltimore and former head of Memorial Hospital here.

The principal speaker will be Rev. John Stanley Grauel, a Christian minister who served as a volunteer crew member of the world famed refugee ship "Exodus 1947" in order to learn at first hand the true story of the plight of Jewish refugees.

A writer, lecturer and radio commentator, Rev. Mr. Grauel is now touring the country delivering talks on the struggle of Israel to build a new and democratic state in the Middle East.

Rev. Mr. Grauel recently returned from a visit to Israel and Algerian camps for homeless Jews.

Budget Largest In History

The national budget for the United Jewish Appeal this year is 273 million dollars, largest in the history of the UJA fund raising. This is the agency for the United Palestine Appeal, Joint Distribution Committee, and United Service for New Americans.

Most of the funds raised will be used for a vast housing program in Israel, rehabilitation and assistance to persons in Eastern Europe and the Moslem lands of North Africa and to emigrants to the United States.

The quota for Western Maryland, also the highest in history, will be announced at the dinner.

The local campaign is under the direction of Robert Kaplon, general chairman, with Morris Baron, Max Spear, George Ossip, Robert Goldfine and Bertram Lazarus as co-chairmen; Norman Pliner, secretary; George Ossip, treasurer, and Marvin J. Kaplon and Joseph Goldman, auditors.

Take Advantage Of Your Heritage . . . . . Freedom Of Worship!

Every Dad thinks his son is going to be a "world-beater." He's not counting on his youngster to floor the Champ for a count of ten, but he dreams of the day his boy will triumph over every obstacle to happiness and success.

"World-beater" is a pretty descriptive name for what Dad envisions. The world is full of forces that destroy the best in a man. To make your life count for anything these days you have to vanquish those forces.

It takes courage and stamina to win the struggle . . . a very special kind of courage that is more spiritual than physical . . . a very special kind of stamina that is more moral than muscular.

Beall High School's Mountaineers scored a touchdown in every period yesterday and notched their 4th victory of the current gridiron campaign at the expense of the Ridgeley High School Blackhawks on a soggy field at Ridgeley. The secore was 28-6.

The Joe Hoopengardner-Ed Meconi coached aggregation skunked the home team until 19 seconds before the final whistle when Albert Decker skirted end for 13 yards and the Hawks' lone touchdown. Jack Abe's drop-kick for the point failed. Ridgeley's td, incidentally, was marked up while Beall's second string team was in the game.

Four Score Touchdowns

Norman Gaudio, Leo Brady, Bill Hawkins and George Miller contributed Beall High's touchdowns. All of the Mounties' extra points were on plunges with Miller getting two and Robert "Buddy" Gray and Brady one each.

A 30-yard run by Leo Brady to the Ridgeley 35 launched Beall's initial touchdown drive. Brady then toted the pigskin to the 12, George Miller advanced to the eight and Norm Gaudio reached paydirt in two carries, scoring on a wide end run from the three. Gray added the point.

Brady Races 50 Yards

Brady gave the spectators a thrill early in the second quarter when he raced 50 yards for Beall's second score. This drive was inaugurated when Ridgeley lost the ball bn downs on the Beall 27.

Beall recovered a RHS fumble in midfield to set sail for its third score. The Mountaineers clicked off first downs on the 38, 28 and 15, were thrown for a five-yard loss, then Brady passed to the glue-fingered Bill Hawkins who gathered in the ball on the five and dashed over the goal line. The touchdown play was good for 20 yards. George Miller converted.

In the third stanza, Ridgeley lost the ball on downs on its own 12 and in three plays Beall had another touchdown. Brady heaved a pass to Thompson who was downed on the 2 as the third quarter ended. Then George Miller carried from there for the six-pointer. Brady's plunge netted the extra point.

In addition to making Ridgeley's 13-yard touchdown run, Al Decker electrified the crowd in the 2nd quarter by dashing 59 yards to the Beall 5 where he was tackled by Frank Buskirk. Ridgeley got as far as the two, then was set back five yards on a penalty and later lost the ball on a fumble which Hawkins recovered.

Leland "Whitey" Folk of Beall suffered a cracked rib in yesterday's game.

Play Jackets Next

The entire Beall backfield gave a good account of itself in yesterday's game. Big Don Rice, Glenn Workman and Bill Hawkins were standouts on the line. Decker and Phillips played best for the Blackhawks who suffered their fifth defeat against a single win this season. Beall's batting .667 with a 4-2 record and tackles the Moorefield Yellow Jackets in Frostburg one week from today. Lineups:

New Jerseyites Join Spas, Twelve In Initial Workout

Murphy, Kelly Join Team; "Bill" Keegan Mentioned As Coach

Twelve players answered the first call for candidates for the Cumberland Spas basketball team at the initial practice held Thursday night and among those who worked out were John "Mutt" Murphy, 6-foot-8 center, and Edward "Jeff" Kelly, 5-foot-10 forward, both of Newark, N. J.

Others participating included seven holdovers of last season's championship All-American League Cumberland Dukes, namely, Bob Pence, Lou Bell, George Geatz, Walter "Pooch" Orndorff, Jim Clevenger, Jack Thomas and Paul Oberhaus. Bill Day, Jimmy Eckard and "Buddy" Giles rounded out the squad for the first drills.

According to Norman Gerderman, business manager of the local club which will again be represented in the A-A loop this year, Murphy is a former pivot man of Manhattan College and John Carroll University and has played in quite a few games in Madison Square Garden. Kelly also played at John Carroll.

Both players were highly recommended by "Jerry" Mulloy, the nationally known basketball referee, who was their coach when they played at Seton Hall Prep School.

Gerdeman stated that efforts are being made to book a game with St. Francis College of Loretto, Pa., here November 19. The league opener here will be with the Lake Erie Admirals of Erie, Pa., coached by Paul Birch, on Sunday, November 26. The Spas hope to land Coach Frankie Gustine's Waynesburg (Pa.) College for an exhibition tilt.

Among those mentioned in connection with the Spas' coaching job is William V. Keegan, former Meyersdale and Cumberland Caseys' star and later LaSalle and Cumberland Collegians coach.

Vandy Winner, 34-12, Curtis Ties Record

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 3 (AP)—Vanderbilt end Bucky Curtis tied the all-time scoring record for a Southeastern Conference lineman as the Commodores downed stubborn Chattanooga 34 to 12 here tonight.

A partisan crowd of 8,500 applauded wildly as a muddy field and a keyed up Chattanooga defense bottled up Quarterback Bill Wade's passing throughout most of the game.

Four minutes after a hard fought first quarter had ended scoreless, the Commodores went ahead on a five-yard plunge by Fullback Dean Davidson. Chattanooga recovered on the Commodores' one yard line when Vanderbilt fumbled a punt four minutes later and tied up the game on the next play.

Davidson bulled over for two more touchdowns before Curtis took a pass from Wade in the end zone for his ninth scoring reception of the season. The completion gave him 54 points in seven games, to equal the Southeastern Conference lineman record set by Ken Kavanaugh of Louisiana State in 1939.

Sammy Posts 275, Cops $1,500 Prize

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 3 (AP)—Sammy Snead bested par by two strokes today with a 35-35—70 finish to romp home a four-stroke victor over Johnny Palmer to win his second straight North and South Open Golf Championship with a 72-hole score of 275.

Snead, leading money winner of professional golf two years in a row, pocketed $1,500 in first money in the $7,500 event to boost his year's earnings to $35,258.

His rounds of 68-71-66-70 left him 13 under par for his four trips over the 6,952-yard Pinehurst Country Club course. His winning total was the third best in the event's 48-year history. A year ago he won with 274 as against Ben Hogan's record 271.

In 10 years Sammy has won the tournament three times. Actually, over that span he competed in only seven tournaments. In addition to his three victories he has finished second three times.

He had led the tournament the first two rounds and was tied for second, two strokes back of Snead, with Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, starting the final round.

Claude Harmon, a former Masters champion from Mamaroneck, N. Y., finished with 70, one of 12 sub-par rounds recorded today, to come in third at 281 and win $750.

Ferrier, No. 2 money winner this year, slipped to 38-38—76 for sixth place at 283. He won $450 to bring his winnings to just over the $26,000 mark.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, led the amateurs with 287 after 74 today.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 3—Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets extended their win streak to four games today when they turned back the Berkeley Springs High School Indians, 39 to 7.

One of the highlights of the contest was Bobby Wilson's 55-yard touchdown run in the 4th period. Kenny Vance accounted for the Jackets' first two scores, racking up the first on a 30-yard end run and the second on a five-yard smash off tackle. Vance and George Fisher booted the extra points.

Bobby Wilson gave Moorefield a 20-0 lead at the close of the first period when he shook loose through left tackle and ran 25 yards to pay dirt. A partially blocked punt on the Indians' 25 set the stage for this score.

In the third stanza, Moorefield drive 69 yards for its 4th score. The locals clicked off four first downs and Gene Baldwin sparked the drive with gains of 13, 11, 11 and 10 yards before finally plunging through center from the two.

Berkeley's lone score came in the final period after Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven had amassed a 32-0 lead. The Calhoun-coached team marched 70 yards on five running plays and four passes which netted 5, 21, 20 and 19 yards. Dawson's pass to Gary Kerns in the end zone produced the six-pointer and Dawson plunged the point.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

An inspired band of LaSalle High Explorers played a brilliant defensive game before bowing to a heavily-favored Allegany High eleven by the score of 13-0 before 2,500 fans last night at Fort Hill stadium.

The Alco Campers, hampered by injuries to several key players, were able to threaten but twice during the game against the rough and rugged LaSalle defense, capitalizing once for a touchdown. The other Allegany score resulted from a partially blocked LaSalle punt and a scintilating 42-yard run for the six-pointer by Quarterback Ronnie Sisk.

Lose Ball On Downs

LaSalle took the offensive and rocked the Campobello team back on its heels throughout most of the first half, once losing the ball on downs on the Camper 21 and again losing the ball when Bob Hook intercepted Charley Moran's pass on the Allegany 18.

Don "Elbie" Fletcher partially blocked Jimmy Byrnes' punt late in the initial quarter and Coach Bob Pence's Blue and White eleven took over the ball on the LaSalle 46.

Ronnie Sisk then picked up 14 yards in two plays to the Explorers 42 as the quarter ended. On the opening play of the second stanza Sisk circled his own left end and behind beautiful downfield blocking ran 42 yards for the first touchdown. Dick Widdows tacked on the extra point from placement and the Campers led 7-0.

Moments later after the ensuing kickoff LaSalle took over on the Explorers 30 and Byrnes picked up a first down on a 14-yard romp around right end. Then Bobby Arnone electrified the crowd by sweeping around left end and racing 49 yards to the AHS 7 where he was knocked out of bounds by Joe Hager, but the play was called back and the Explorers were penalized 5 yards for being offsides.

Explorers Threaten Again

LaSalle threatened again in the quarter but Hook's interception gave Allegany the ball on the AHS 18 and a 24-yard pass from Hook to Hager concluded first half play.

The Pencemen then dominated play throughout the second half keeping LaSalle always on the defensive but the Explorers forward wall arose to the occasion and stopped every AHS attempt to score but one.

A missed tackle by Ray Brown, Explorer center, paved the way for the second and clinching Alco score.

Byrnes punted to the Allegany 46 where Sisk, faking to let the ball go, suddenly grabbed the pigskin, eluded Brown's desperate lunge and raced down to the LaSalle six before being brought down. The Campers were penalized 15 yards for clipping on the play to the LaSalle 36.

Widdows Goes Over

A pass from Whisler to Ronnie Chapman gave the Pencemen a first on the LaSalle 22 and a 10-yard romp by Hook put the ball on the 12. The Campers then took four cracks at the stubborn LaSalle defense before Dick Widdows plunged over from the 3 for the td.

Another Alco threat late in the final stanza was halted when Earl McKenzie, substitute LaSalle back, made his second pass interception of the game to halt the drive on the LaSalle six.

LaSalle picked up only five first downs and 104 yards rushing with all the firsts and 84 yards coming in the first half.

Outstanding players for the losers who dropped their seventh straight game this season, were Lucindo Fabbri, Earl McKenzie, Paul Ackerman, Robert Arnone, James Byrnes and James Moran.

Allegany, which racked up its seventh victory in eight starts, was sparked by Ronnie Sisk, Mike Birmingham, Elbie Fletcher, Joe Hager, Dick Widdows, Bob Hook, and Pat McKenzie. Guard Bruce Price of the Campers was knocked out early in the second period and did not play the remainder of the game. The lineups:

Beall High School's Mountaineers scored a touchdown in every period yesterday and notched their 4th victory of the current gridiron campaign at the expense of the Ridgeley High School Blackhawks on a soggy field at Ridgeley. The secore was 28-6.

The Joe Hoopengardner-Ed Meconi coached aggregation skunked the home team until 19 seconds before the final whistle when Albert Decker skirted end for 13 yards and the Hawks' lone touchdown. Jack Abe's drop-kick for the point failed. Ridgeley's td, incidentally, was marked up while Beall's second string team was in the game.

Four Score Touchdowns

Norman Gaudio, Leo Brady, Bill Hawkins and George Miller contributed Beall High's touchdowns. All of the Mounties' extra points were on plunges with Miller getting two and Robert "Buddy" Gray and Brady one each.

A 30-yard run by Leo Brady to the Ridgeley 35 launched Beall's initial touchdown drive. Brady then toted the pigskin to the 12, George Miller advanced to the eight and Norm Gaudio reached paydirt in two carries, scoring on a wide end run from the three. Gray added the point.

Brady Races 50 Yards

Brady gave the spectators a thrill early in the second quarter when he raced 50 yards for Beall's second score. This drive was inaugurated when Ridgeley lost the ball on downs on the Beall 27.

Beall recovered a RHS fumble in midfield to set sail for its third score. The Mountaineers clicked off first downs on the 38, 28 and 15, were thrown for a five-yard loss, then Brady passed to the glue-fingered Bill Hawkins who gathered in the ball on the five and dashed over the goal line. The touchdown play was good for 20 yards. George Miller converted.

In the third stanza, Ridgeley lost the ball on downs on its own 12 and in three plays Beall had another touchdown. Brady heaved a pass to Thompson who was downed on the 2 as the third quarter ended. Then George Miller carried from there for the six-pointer. Brady's plunge netted the extra point.

In addition to making Ridgeley's 13-yard touchdown run, Al Decker electrified the crowd in the 2nd quarter by dashing 59 yards to the Beall 5 where he was tackled by Frank Buskirk. Ridgeley got as far as the two, then was set back five yards on a penalty and later lost the ball on a fumble which Hawkins recovered.

Leland "Whitey" Folk of Beall suffered a cracked rib in yesterday's game.

Play Jackets Next

The entire Beall backfield gave a good account of itself in yesterday's game. Big Don Rice, Glenn Workman and Bill Hawkins were standouts on the line. Decker and Phillips played best for the Blackhawks who suffered their fifth defeat against a single win this season. Beall's batting .667 with a 4-2 record and tackles the Moorefield Yellow Jackets in Frostburg one week from today. Lineups:

New Jerseyites Join Spas, Twelve In Initial Workout

Murphy, Kelly Join Team; "Bill" Keegan Mentioned As Coach

Twelve players answered the first call for candidates for the Cumberland Spas basketball team at the initial practice held Thursday night and among those who worked out were John "Mutt" Murphy, 6-foot-8 center, and Edward "Jeff" Kelly, 5-foot-10 forward, both of Newark, N. J.

Others participating included seven holdovers of last season's championship All-American League Cumberland Dukes, namely, Bob Pence, Lou Bell, George Geatz, Walter "Pooch" Orndorff, Jim Clevenger, Jack Thomas and Paul Oberhaus. Bill Day, Jimmy Eckard and "Buddy" Giles rounded out the squad for the first drills.

According to Norman Gerderman, business manager of the local club which will again be represented in the A-A loop this year, Murphy is a former pivot man of Manhattan College and John Carroll University and has played in quite a few games in Madison Square Garden. Kelly also played at John Carroll.

Both players were highly recommended by "Jerry" Mulloy, the nationally known basketball referee, who was their coach when they played at Seton Hall Prep School.

Gerdeman stated that efforts are being made to book a game with St. Francis College of Loretto, Pa., here November 19. The league opener here will be with the Lake Erie Admirals of Erie, Pa., coached by Paul Birch, on Sunday, November 26. The Spas hope to land Coach Frankie Gustine's Waynesburg (Pa.) College for an exhibition tilt.

Among those mentioned in connection with the Spas' coaching job is William V. Keegan, former Meyersdale and Cumberland Caseys' star and later LaSalle and Cumberland Collegians coach.

Vandy Winner, 34-12, Curtis Ties Record

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 3 (AP)—Vanderbilt end Bucky Curtis tied the all-time scoring record for a Southeastern Conference lineman as the Commodores downed stubborn Chattanooga 34 to 12 here tonight.

A partisan crowd of 8,500 applauded wildly as a muddy field and a keyed up Chattanooga defense bottled up Quarterback Bill Wade's passing throughout most of the game.

Four minutes after a hard fought first quarter had ended scoreless, the Commodores went ahead on a five-yard plunge by Fullback Dean Davidson. Chattanooga recovered on the Commodores' one yard line when Vanderbilt fumbled a punt four minutes later and tied up the game on the next play.

Davidson bulled over for two more touchdowns before Curtis took a pass from Wade in the end zone for his ninth scoring reception of the season. The completion gave him 54 points in seven games, to equal the Southeastern Conference lineman record set by Ken Kavanaugh of Louisiana State in 1939.

Snead Is Victor In North-South

Sammy Posts 275, Cops $1,500 Prize

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 3 (AP)—Sammy Snead bested par by two strokes today with a 35-35—70 finish to romp home a four-stroke victor over Johnny Palmer to win his second straight North and South Open Golf Championship with a 72-hole score of 275.

Snead, leading money winner of professional golf two years in a row, pocketed $1,500 in first money in the $7,500 event to boost his year's earnings to $35,258.

His rounds of 68-71-66-70 left him 13 under par for his four trips over the 6,952-yard Pinehurst Country Club course. His winning total was the third best in the event's 48-year history. A year ago he won with 274 as against Ben Hogan's record 271.

In 10 years Sammy has won the tournament three times. Actually, over that span he competed in only seven tournaments. In addition to his three victories he has finished second three times.

Palmer, chunky Badin, N. C., tournament regular, finished with a par 72 for second money of $1,000. His rounds were 65-70-72-72 as he moved from 11th to ninth in money winnings this year—$12,035.

He had led the tournament the first two rounds and was tied for second, two strokes back of Snead, with Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, starting the final round.

Claude Harmon, a former Masters champion from Mamaroneck, N. Y., finished with 70, one of 12 sub-par rounds recorded today, to come in third at 281 and win $750.

Ferrier, No. 2 money winner this year, slipped to 38-38—76 for sixth place at 283. He won $450 to bring his winnings to just over the $26,000 mark.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, led the amateurs with 287 after 74 today.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 3—Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets extended their win streak to four games today when they turned back the Berkeley Springs High School Indians, 39 to 7.

One of the highlights of the contest was Bobby Wilson's 55-yard touchdown run in the 4th period. Kenny Vance accounted for the Jackets' first two scores, racking up the first on a 30-yard end run and the second on a five-yard smash off tackle. Vance and George Fisher booted the extra points.

Bobby Wilson gave Moorefield a 20-0 lead at the close of the first period when he shook loose through left tackle and ran 25 yards to pay dirt. A partially blocked punt on the Indians' 25 set the stage for this score.

In the third stanza, Moorefield drive 69 yards for its 4th score. The locals clicked off four first downs and Gene Baldwin sparked the drive with gains of 13, 11, 11 and 10 yards before finally plunging through center from the two.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

An inspired band of LaSalle High Explorers played a brilliant defensive game before bowing to a heavily-favored Allegany High eleven by the score of 13-0 before 2,500 fans last night at Fort Hill stadium.

The Alco Campers, hampered by injuries to several key players, were able to threaten but twice during the game against the rough and rugged LaSalle defense, capitalizing once for a touchdown. The other Allegany score resulted from a partially blocked LaSalle punt and a scintilating 42-yard run for the six-pointer by Quarterback Ronnie Sisk.

Lose Ball On Downs

LaSalle took the offensive and rocked the Campobello team back on its heels throughout most of the first half, once losing the ball on downs on the Camper 21 and again losing the ball when Bob Hook intercepted Charley Moran's pass on the Allegany 18.

Don "Elbie" Fletcher partially blocked Jimmy Byrnes' punt late in the initial quarter and Coach Bob Pence's Blue and White eleven took over the ball on the LaSalle 46.

Ronnie Sisk then picked up 14 yards in two plays to the Explorers 42 as the quarter ended. On the opening play of the second stanza Sisk circled his own left end and behind beautiful downfield blocking ran 42 yards for the first touchdown. Dick Widdows tacked on the extra point from placement and the Campers led 7-0.

Moments later after the ensuing kickoff LaSalle took over on the Explorers 30 and Byrnes picked up a first down on a 14-yard romp around right end. Then Bobby Arnone electrified the crowd by sweeping around left end and racing 49 yards to the AHS 7 where he was knocked out of bounds by Joe Hager, but the play was called back and the Explorers were penalized 5 yards for being offsides.

Explorers Threaten Again

LaSalle threatened again in the quarter but Hook's interception gave Allegany the ball on the AHS 18 and a 24-yard pass from Hook to Hager concluded first half play.

The Pencemen then dominated play throughout the second half keeping LaSalle always on the defensive but the Explorers forward wall arose to the occasion and stopped every AHS attempt to score but one.

A missed tackle by Ray Brown, Explorer center, paved the way for the second and clinching Alco score.

Byrnes punted to the Allegany 46 where Sisk, faking to let the ball go, suddenly grabbed the pigskin, eluded Brown's desperate lunge and raced down to the LaSalle six before being brought down. The Campers were penalized 15 yards for clipping on the play to the LaSalle 36.

Widdows Goes Over

A pass from Whisler to Ronnie Chapman gave the Pencemen a first on the LaSalle 22 and a 10-yard romp by Hook put the ball on the 12. The Campers then took four cracks at the stubborn LaSalle defense before Dick Widdows plunged over from the 3 for the td.

Another Alco threat late in the final stanza was halted when Earl McKenzie, substitute LaSalle back, made his second pass interception of the game to halt the drive on the LaSalle six.

LaSalle picked up only five first downs and 104 yards rushing with all the firsts and 84 yards coming in the first half.

Outstanding players for the losers who dropped their seventh straight game this season, were Lucindo Fabbri, Earl McKenzie, Paul Ackerman, Robert Arnone, James Byrnes and James Moran.

Allegany, which racked up its seventh victory in eight starts, was sparked by Ronnie Sisk, Mike Birmingham, Elbie Fletcher, Joe Hager, Dick Widdows, Bob Hook, and Pat McKenzie. Guard Bruce Price of the Campers was knocked out early in the second period and did not play the remainder of the game. The lineups:

Fort Hill High School's undefeated Sentinels put their seven-game victory streak on the line tonight at the island stadium in Wheeling in what may prove to be the toughest test of the campaign for Coach William P. Hahn's gridiron warriors.

Linsly Institute, a military school for boys since 1814, coached by Edison C. "Etz" Rine, a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College, will provide the opposition for the Hilltoppers who will be gunning for their 16th consecutive triumph in two years. Rine's teams at Linsly have won 38, lost 8 and tied 1 in five years. The Wheeling mentor served in the navy in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Won Six, Lost Two

In eight games played to date, Linsly has won six and lost two—and both defeats came at the hands of teams from Ohio—Bellaire High and St. John's of Bellaire. Bellaire High, incidentally, has won six and tied one while St. John's record is six wins and one defeat.

Linsly has 250 boys from 5th to 12th grades, 150 of whom are in high school. The Cadets meet schools of West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio, play under West Virginia scholastic rules and are members of the Ohio Valley Athletic Association.

Ronald Beatty, the team's captain suffered a compound fracture of the leg in pre-season drills and will not play at all this year.

Topp Leads Scorers

Charles "Chuck" Topp, senior right half, is Linsly's high scorer with 10 touchdowns and 70 points. Montgomery and Comer also are good open field runners, being senior and sophomore.

Linsly will windup its season with Martins Ferry, Ohio, Fort Hill has two more games on its slate after tonight—Bedford and Allegany—both at home.

Linsly's drum and bugle corps is considered one of the best in the country and has put on exhibitions at many pro and college games and other events.

The Wheeling stadium seats 11,000 and is used by all of the city's schools—five.

Today's game is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

Keyser Teams Away

Keyser High School also will be a Wheeling visitor today. Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Mineral Countians, winners of two out of eight games, will play the powerful Triadelphia High eleven tonight at 8 o'clock at the Wheeling Stadium.

Potomac State School's eleven will journey to Salem, W. Va., today to battle Salem College in a conference game, the 4th and final on the Catamounts schedule. A victory would give Coach Lough's outfit a 4-0 record for the season in the state circuit. Potomac's record for the season to date is 6-1, including conference wins over Glenville, Shepherd and Concord.

Marquette Surprises

Don Saylor, assistant professional golfers at the Cumberland Country Club, has been given a medical discharge by the United States Marines and is back at the local club. He was at Quantico for 15 days.

Don was badly beaten up in several engagements with the Japs during the Second World War.

"Bill" Catherman reports that as soon as the golf season ends for most people the men's and women's locker rooms at the Cumberland Country Club will be moved to new quarters in the basement of the club and will be ready for occupancy by next spring.

Members have contributed approximately $3,700 for finishing the new locker rooms and this will be matched by the Hazelwood Company.

An amendment providing that a public school may play private or parochial schools which do not have full-time teacher-coaches will be sent to member schools of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association for a vote Nov. 15.

Schools are to ballot on the amendment before the PIAA board of control holds its final meeting of 1950 in December.

The amendment would open the door to possible settlement of a 5-year controversy that has prevented many smaller parochial schools from engaging in sports competition with PIAA members.

One-Hitter Cops Special

Defeats Chicle II For $15,000 Purse

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — One hitter brought Greentree Stable its third Pimlico Special victory today.

The 4-year-old chestnut made it two in a row for his stable, following Capot's triumph last year.

One Hitter, with Jockey Ted Atkinson up, led the entire mile and three-sixteenths. He was two and a half lengths ahead of Palatine Stable's Chicle II at the finish.

Completing the four-horse field were L. J. Shaw's Abstract and Mrs. E. Dupont Weir's Royal Governor.

With win betting only, One Hitter paid $6 for $2. His winning time for the 14th special was 1:58 3-5, two and three-fifths off the Pimlico record set by Capot.

Green tree Stable's previous special winner was Shut Out, father of One Hitter, in 1943.

The triumph was worth $15,000 to Greentree.

Since then Charles has earned undisputed rights to the championship by defeating Joe Louis.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP)—Irish Bob Murphy, 173, San Diego, Calif., stopped Dick Wagner, 166½, Toppenish, Wash. in the first round of a scheduled ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena tonight. Dr. Alexander Schiff ruled Wagner unable to continue because of a lacerated mouth.

Murphy, a 1 to 3 favorite dropped Wagner for a nine count in the first round. He was unable to continue after a rest following the first round.

A crowd of 1,758 that paid $4,206 barely got settled before Murphy, winner of 45 of 53 pro fights by knockouts, lowered the boom on Wagner.

Miss Betty Judy Says Germany Wants Peace

KEYSER, W. Va.—Miss Betty Judy, student at Potomac State School, who was a foreign work camper of the Brethren Service Commision in Germany this summer was the special speaker at the World Community Day program Friday at 2:30 p. m. at First Methodist Church.

The theme of the program was "Love Thy Neighbor". Mrs. John Fraser opened the meeting stressing the fact that we need to be closer to our foreign neighbors. Mrs. John I. Rogers led the silent meditation using John 3-16. The group sang the hymn, "In Christ There is no East and West". Rev. L. A. Steele, pastor of First Methodist, read the devotions. He read passages from John, followed by prayer.

Miss Beverly Bowne, music instructor at Potomac State, soloist, sang "How Beautiful Upon The Mountains" by Harkin. Miss Judy's talk followed. She told of her experiences in Germany in the camp, which was located one mile from Castle and close to Berlin. It had 2000 refugees who were surprised to find that the girl workers from America could handle a shovel along with them in building their camp. The Germans were shy and suspicious at first but were eventually overcome by the friendliness of the workers. She commented on the fact that the older people live mostly in the past and just live from day to day, while the hope for Germany is in the young people, who are looking ahead and hoping for peace. Miss Judy described the customs, dress, manners and food of the people. She said they had bible study and held worship service spoken partly in English and partly in German twice a week. Representatives from Denmark, Sweden, Poland and England visited the camp while she was there.

Just before the offering Miss Bowne sang "We Would Be Building" by Finlandia. The gifts included the knitted materials for overseas and also soup bowls for Limestone school. The group sang the hymn "A Charge to Keep I Have", followed by the benediction led by Mrs. A. V. Gallion.

Fort Hill High School's undefeated Sentinels put their seven-game victory streak on the line tonight at the island stadium in Wheeling in what may prove to be the toughest test of the campaign for Coach William P. Hahn's gridiron warriors.

Linsly Institute, a military school for boys since 1814, coached by Edison C. "Etz" Rine, a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College, will provide the opposition for the Hilltoppers who will be gunning for their 16th consecutive triumph in two years. Rine's teams at Linsly have won 38, lost 8 and tied 1 in five years. The Wheeling mentor served in the navy in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Won Six, Lost Two

In eight games played to date, Linsly has won six and lost two—and both defeats came at the hands of teams from Ohio—Bellaire High and St. John's of Bellaire. Bellaire High, incidentally, has won six and tied one while St. John's record is six wins and one defeat.

Linsly has 250 boys from 5th to 12th grades, 150 of whom are in high school. The Cadets meet schools of West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio, play under West Virginia scholastic rules and are members of the Ohio Valley Athletic Association.

Ronald Beatty, the team's captain suffered a compound fracture of the leg in pre-season drills and will not play at all this year.

Topp Leads Scorers

Charles "Chuck" Topp, senior right half, is Linsly's high scorer with 10 touchdowns and 70 points. Montgomery and Comer also are good open field runners, being senior and sophomore.

Linsly will windup its season with Martins Ferry, Ohio, Fort Hill has two more games on its slate after tonight—Bedford and Allegany—both at home.

Linsly's drum and bugle corps is considered one of the best in the country and has put on exhibitions at many pro and college games and other events.

The Wheeling stadium seats 11,000 and is used by all of the city's schools—five.

Today's game is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

Keyser Teams Away

Keyser High School also will be a Wheeling visitor today. Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Mineral Countians, winners of two out of eight games, will play the powerful Triadelphia High eleven tonight at 8 o'clock at the Wheeling Stadium.

Potomac State School's eleven will journey to Salem, W. Va., today to battle Salem College in a conference game, the 4th and final on the Catamounts schedule. A victory would give Coach Lough's outfit a 4-0 record for the season in the state circuit. Potomac's record for the season to date is 6-1, including conference wins over Glenville, Shepherd and Concord.

Marquette Surprises

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 3 (AP)—Marquette held two-touchdown favored South Carolina to a 13-13 intersectional football tie here tonight, matching South Carolina Left Halfback Steve Wadiak's running with Quarterback Frank Volm's spectacular passing.

Defeats Chicle II For $15,000 Purse

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — One hitter brought Greentree Stable its third Pimlico Special victory today.

The 4-year-old chestnut made it two in a row for his stable, following Capot's triumph last year.

One Hitter, with Jockey Ted Atkinson up, led the entire mile and three-sixteenths. He was two and a half lengths ahead of Palatine Stable's Chicle II at the finish.

Completing the four-horse field were L. J. Shaw's Abstract and Mrs. E. Dupont Weir's Royal Governor.

With win betting only, One Hitter paid $6 for $2. His winning time for the 14th special was 1:58 3-5, two and three-fifths off the Pimlico record set by Capot.

Miss Betty Judy Says Germany Wants Peace

KEYSER, W. Va.—Miss Betty Judy, student at Potomac State School, who was a foreign work camper of the Brethren Service Commision in Germany this summer was the special speaker at the World Community Day program Friday at 2:30 p. m. at First Methodist Church.

The theme of the program was "Love Thy Neighbor". Mrs. John Fraser opened the meeting stressing the fact that we need to be closer to our foreign neighbors. Mrs. John I. Rogers led the silent meditation using John 3-16. The group sang the hymn, "In Christ There is no East and West". Rev. L. A. Steele, pastor of First Methodist, read the devotions. He read passages from John, followed by prayer.

Miss Beverly Bowne, music instructor at Potomac State, soloist, sang "How Beautiful Upon The Mountains" by Harkin. Miss Judy's talk followed. She told of her experiences in Germany in the camp, which was located one mile from Castle and close to Berlin. It had 2000 refugees who were surprised to find that the girl workers from America could handle a shovel along with them in building their camp The Germans were shy and suspicious at first but were eventually overcome by the friendliness of the workers. She commented on the fact that the older people live mostly in the past and just live from day to day, while the hope for Germany is in the young people, who are looking ahead and hoping for peace Miss Judy described the customs dress, manners and food of the people. She said they had bible study and held worship service spoken partly in English and partly in German twice a week. Representatives from Denmark, Sweden, Poland and England visited the camp while she was there.

Just before the offering Miss Bowne sang "We Would Be Building" by Finlandia. The gifts included the knitted materials for overseas and also soup bowls for Limestone school. The group sang the hymn "A Charge to Keep I Have", followed by the benediction led by Mrs. A. V. Gallion.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov 3 (INS)—After ten rosy technicolor years, Yvonne De Carlo and Universal-International are on the verge of calling it quits, although you need a lie detector test to get either side to admit it.

Frankly, I'm surprised. Yvonne may not be another Bette Davis or Olivia De Havilland, but her gaudy colorful movies about Arabian and other princesses always went well at the box office. She's wonderful whistle-bait.

Yvonne De Carlo

I believe the answer to why so many good stock stars and studios are parting company these days is because the rountine, run-of-the-mill movies are not attracting fans.

The day has come for something socko and different in pictures instead of stories being tailored to fit contract stars on hand.

Errol Flynn was cruising on the Zaca with his mother and father and Mrs. Margaret Eddington off the coast of Acapulco the month of August, 1947—according to Mrs. Eddington—so he could not very well have lured the (then) 16-year-old Danielle Darvin aboard the Zaca off the coast of France and criminally attacked her during that month in that year.

Mrs. Eddington says the official sailing log for the Zaca backs up her claim that the yacht was in Mexican and not European waters.

The summons for the suit, filed by the parents of the girl, was slapped on Flynn at the reception following his wedding to Patrice Wymore in Monte Carlo.

All I can say is that someone is always slapping something on Flynn—but if Mrs. Eddington's story is accurate, he hasn't a worry in the world.

If you've got any old clothes, any toys that your children no longer use, and if you have a few cents to spend on candy, you'd be doing a wonderful deed to send them to Brother Gareth Hughes, at St. Mary's Church, Nixon, Nevada.

Gareth, who gave up a $1,000 a week movie career to spend his time helping the Indians, says that winter is fast approaching and his Indians need clothes badly.

He's done such wonder with these Indian children, not only teaching them about religion but giving them material aid. Believe me, this is a worthy cause.

Remember the address: St. Mary's Church, Nixon, Nevada.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Linda Darnell and Bill Dozier at the Mocambo—a new combination.

Doris Duke, as suntanned as an island goddess, planed in Thursday morning. Next to Honolulu, she likes Beverly Hills best.

Joan Leslie's husband, Dr. William Caldwell, is so ill with pneumonia at Queen of Angels Hospital, he's under an oxygen tent.

Madeleine Carroll and her bridegroom, Andrew Heiskell, bought a $75,000 home in New Canaan, Connecticut, because it's close to his publishing job in New York and her thriving new TV career.

Jane Russell, a very religious girl, had a lot to do with the reconciliation of her brother, Wally, and his starlet wife, Joan Banning. Jane, who hates divorce, talked the youngsters into giving marriage another chance.

It will be a St. Paul wedding on December 1 for Peter Graves, who clicked in "Rogue River," and non-professional Joan Address, the home town girl who kept his heart.

Gabriel Pascal planed out for London as soon as word of George Bernard Shaw's illness reached him. He wasn't able to get there before the end. Pascal was the only one Shaw would allow to film his pictures.

Dorothy Manners mother, Mrs. Gertrude Manners, and Fred Winnett were married last Saturday in the Little Church of the West at Last Frontier. Mr. Winnett is an executive of the Porter Muffler Company and a brother of P. G. Winnett, president of Bullock's.

Got an idea for Lionel Barrymore's biography? Neither Lionel nor Biographer Cameron Shipp can think of a title even with the book scheduled for January release.

Bob Crosby's four kids are all enrolled at Arthur Murray's Westwood dance studio. With Bing's boys all singers—are we going to get all dancers from Bob?

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov 3 (INS)—After ten rosy technicolor years, Yvonne De Carlo and Universal-International are on the verge of calling it quits, although you need a lie detector test to get either side to admit it.

Frankly, I'm surprised. Yvonne may not be another Bette Davis or Olivia De Havilland, but her gaudy colorful movies about Arabian and other princesses always went well at the box office. She's wonderful whistle-bait.

Yvonne De Carlo

I believe the answer to why so many good stock stars and studios are parting company these days is because the rountine, run-of-the-mill movies are not attracting fans.

The day has come for something socko and different in pictures instead of stories being tailored to fit contract stars on hand.

• — • — •

Errol Flynn was cruising on the Zaca with his mother and father and Mrs. Margaret Eddington off the coast of Acapulco the month of August, 1947—according to Mrs. Eddington—so he could not very well have lured the (then) 16-year-old Danielle Darvin aboard the Zaca off the coast of France and criminally attacked her during that month in that year.

Mrs. Eddington says the official sailing log for the Zaca backs up her claim that the yacht was in Mexican and not European waters.

The summons for the suit, filed by the parents of the girl, was slapped on Flynn at the reception following his wedding to Patrice Wymore in Monte Carlo.

All I can say is that someone is always slapping somethir g on Flynn—but if Mrs. Eddington's story is accurate, he hasn't a worry in the world.

If you've got any old clothes, any toys that your children no longer use, and if you have a few cents to spend on candy, you'd be doing a wonderful deed to send them to Brother Gareth Hughes, at St. Mary's Church, Nixon, Nevada.

Gareth, who gave up a $1,000 a week movie career to spend his time helping the Indians, says that winter is fast approaching and his Indians need clothes badly.

He's done such wonder with these Indian children, not only teaching them about religion but giving them material aid. Believe me, this is a worthy cause.

Remember the address: St. Mary's Church, Nixon, Nevada.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Linda Darnell and Bill Dozier at the Mocambo—a new combination.

Doris Duke, as suntanned as an island goddess, planed in Thursday morning. Next to Honolulu, she likes Beverly Hills best.

Joan Leslie's husband, Dr. William Caldwell, is so ill with pneumonia at Queen of Angels Hospital, he's under an oxygen tent.

Madeleine Carroll and her bridegroom, Andrew Heiskell, bought a $75,000 home in New Canaan, Connecticut, because it's close to his publishing job in New York and her thriving new TV career.

Jane Russell, a very religious girl, had a lot to do with the reconciliation of her brother, Wally, and his starlet wife, Joan Banning. Jane, who hates divorce, talked the youngsters into giving marriage another chance.

It will be a St. Paul wedding on December 1 for Peter Graves, who clicked in "Rogue River," and non-professional Joan Address, the home town girl who kept his heart.

Gabriel Pascal planed out for London as soon as word of George Bernard Shaw's illness reached him. He wasn't able to get there before the end. Pascal was the only one Shaw would allow to film his pictures.

Dorothy Manners mother, Mrs. Gertrude Manners, and Fred Winnett were married last Saturday in the Little Church of the West at Last Frontier. Mr. Winnett is an executive of the Porter Muffler Company and a brother of P. G. Winnett, president of Bullock's.

Got an idea for Lionel Barrymore's biography? Neither Lionel nor Biographer Cameron Shipp can think of a title even with the book scheduled for January release.

Bob Crosby's four kids are all enrolled at Arthur Murray's Westwood dance studio. With Bing's boys all singers—are we going to get all dancers from Bob?

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

More In Sorrow Than In Anger

TELEVISION makes me nervous from time to time and, in trying to track down this particular nervousness, I have reached something approximating a conclusion. At least this is as close to a conclusion as I ever get. I get particularly jumpy when the old entertainers approach television for the first time. I sit there, palms sweating, hoping they'll be good.

John Crosby

I consider this an imposition on my good nature. It's really none of my business whether the old entertainers, the ones who were famous in radio, are worth their salt (a word meaning $7000) in television. Still, checking around my small circle of friends, I find they do this too. Radio is such an intimate medium that these performers become friends of the family. When they embark on TV, you feel pretty much as if they were your small son undertaking the Gettysburg Address at commencement. You hope to God he remembers his lines, that he doesn't trip with his necktie and that he doesn't fall flat on his face when he makes his exit.

I was struck with this nervousness particularly sharply by the Burns and Allen television debut. Now, George Burns, despite all evidence to the contrary, is one of Hollywood's wittiest citizens. Their opening show, I'm told, was three months in preparation. And I can't understand what happened to all that time and all that intelligence. Not that it was a bad show. In fact, it was a pretty good one. But it didn't seem up to all that travail. The jokes were all on what you might call the middle level, as if Mr. Burns was afraid of going over our heads. They were also, I'm afraid, familiar jokes, and here again I got the feeling that this was deliberate, as if Mr. B. felt that old jokes are soothing to old customers, that a new joke might upset our digestions.

If this is the approach Mr. Burns is using, I would like to register strong disapproval. I feel affronted whenever I am treated like a backward child, and I have a hunch other listeners do too. The Burns and Allen television show is a carefully done replica of the Burns and Allen radio show. In fact, the Burns and Allen radio program has been treated with a reverence generally accorded only to the restoration of public buildings. The framework, the cornices, the furniture have all been left exactly as they were in the eighteenth century.

As a gesture toward the visible aspects of television the Burns' had fragmentary setings of their house and the houses their next door neighbors who were, and have always been, important parts of the Burns and Allen plots. However, the goings-on in these houses are exactly as they were in the old days. Gracie still buddies door-to-door salesmen with terrible innocence of all practical matters. George's badinage with his announcer, Bill Goodwin, has not changed a syllable. A lot of it was very amusing, but none of it seemed to belong on television.

One thing I've noticed about virtually all the old radio comics, newly transferred to television. They all talk too much. George Burns even acts as narrator on his show. Well, of course, one had to have a narrator in radio to inform us that Gracie had just got back from the grocery store. But on TV, we more or less assume that Gracie has been shopping when she walks into the living room with a bagful of groceries, till, George insisted on telling us these plainly visible things. The only explanation I have for this strange behavior is that George Burns doesn't really believe that television actually exists, that he doesn't really believe a picture is being transmitted, that he thinks the whole thing, in short, is a monumental hoax.

• — •

I say all this more in sorrow than in anger because I think Burns and Allen are two very gifted and charming comedians. And anyone who has ever talked to George Burns for ten minutes will tell you that he is a very funny fellow. I just wish he wouldn't suppress his wit so skillfully on the air.

These Days

This election is interesting because it did not involve wages, hours or working conditions nor was it a jurisdictional quarrel between the CIO and the AF of L or even John L. Lewis's District 50. The only question at issue was whether the workers would belong to an international union or to one limited to their plant under their own control. They voted about 70 to 30 for their own union.

These Days

This election is interesting because it did not involve wages, hours or working conditions nor was it a jurisdictional quarrel between the CIO and the A F of L or even John L. Lewis's District 50. The only question at issue was whether the workers would belong to an international union or to one limited to their plant under their own control. They voted about 70 to 30 for their own union.

Nearly one-half the total dollar value of exports and imports for United States is handled in six major ports in New York state.

The Port of New York has 550 miles of developed waterfront and employs 250,000 persons.

Yesterday's Answer

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THE LEAVES LIVE FOR LOVE, AND EVERY HAPPY TREE LOVES IN HIS SEASON—CLAUDIAN.

Man Indicted In Shooting Case

Claude Selby, 22, Friendsville, was indicted yesterday morning by a grand jury in Garrett county on charges of assault with intent to kill District Game Warden Theodore Thoerig, 37, Mt. Savage.

The grand jurors had been recalled into session by Associate Judge George Henderson in order to give speedy action in the matter.

Selby was also indicted for hunting during closed season and hunting without a license, and in another case he was indicted for the larceny of a heifer calf.

Selby shot Warden Thoerig last Saturday in a wooded section near Kendall in Garrett county after hearing the sound of shooting in the forest. The game warden was struck in the shoulder with a .22 caliber bullet. He is a patient in Memorial Hospital here and his condition is satisfactory.

The shooting of Thoerig took place as he and his deputy, Doyle McCullough, of Friendsville, were investigating shots they had heard. The two officers saw Selby and Ernest Ray Frazee, 18, also of Friendsville, with guns.

As the wardens pursued the two men Selby fired from behind a tree. Thoerig was almost upon Frazee at the time.

State Police arrested the two men at the Frazee Hotel, Friendsville, several hours later.

Frazee was not indicted in connection with the shooting, but was indicted for hunting during a closed season and larceny in the theft of a heifer calf which he and Selby shot recently. The animal was owned by John Beachy of Swanton.

Both men are held under $1,000 bond.

Bedford Paper Becomes Daily

The Bedford Gazette, Bedford county, Pa., founded in 1805 and continued since that time as a weekly, will be published every morning, Monday through Friday, it has been announced.

The staffs of three long-established weeklies—The Gazette, Bedford Inquirer and Everett Republican—are combining to produce the first daily in the history of Bedford county.

The Inquirer and Republican will continue as weekly papers, being issued every Saturday.

A letter from the editors in the first issue states that the daily is being started as an experiment, "But we are resolved to make it succeed, because we know how much it can mean to the future of Bedford county."

More than 5,000 copies were sold of the first issue. In addition to county-wide coverage, the new paper also has the world-wide service of the Associated Press.

Rising Stock Market Halted By Batch Of Selling Orders

NEW YORK, No. 3 (AP)—A rising stock market stumbled over a batch of selling orders late today.

Damage was not severe but a good many early gains were cut down or eliminated. Gains outnumbered losses by a small margin at the final bell with changes for the most part limited to around $1 a share or less.

Sales amounted to only 1,560,000 shares, the smallest figure for a full day in nearly two months. This compared with 1,580,000 Thursday.

Auto shares were flattened with the rest of the market in the afternoon but snapped back quickly to close with a substantial part of their morning gains.

Chrysler ended 87 cents higher at $76.50 a share, General Motors up 62 cents at 51⅜, and Studebaker unchanged at 31¼.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks stayed at $82.90 a share. Advances for the industrial and utility groups were offset by a drop in the rail component.

Profit taking was credited with taking a toll of stocks today. Another freshet of rich earnings and extra and increased dividends was a mild sustaining influence at best. News of rough going for United Nations troops in Northern Korea, plus the approaching elections on Nov. 7, probably helped to curb trading enthusiasm.

Little to the liking of Wall street was a speech by W. Stuart Symington, chief of the nation's mobilization program.

Symington warned businessmen last night in Houston that unjustified price increases may result in sharp rollback orders, if and when the government invokes price control.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

LOW HONORS PROMOTED

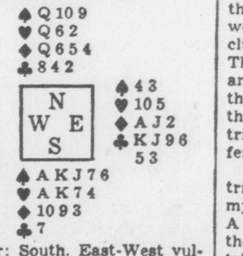
LOW HONORS gain in trick-taking value when they are opposite higher honors of their suits. That is a principle in the promotional value of honors opposite honors which is not clearly understood by many players. For instance, a king is as good as an ace when the ace is opposite it, a queen also if opposite an ace-king, and a queen causes the side to have a sure trick-taker, possibly two, if the king is across the table from it.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 1 NT | 2 ♣ |
| 2 ♥ | Pass | 2 ♠ | Pass |
| 3 ♠ | | | |

North's three queens proved indispensable to South, thereby justifying the two bids made by their holder. The first call of 1-No Trump was of course the weakest action North could take, aside from a pass, and his second bid of 2-Spades was a mere preference, shifting from the second suit of South to the first and therefore showing no additional strength. Having done that, North was through and of course passed the 3-Spades try by South to see if North had even the slightest strength to spare.

West scored his club A and led the Q for South to ruff with the spade 6. The diamond 10 went through to the J and a third club was ruffed by the spade 7. The diamond 9 went to the A and the heart 10 was returned to the A. The diamond 3 went to the K for the defenders' fourth trick and the heart J was offered to the K.

Now South was ready to take tricks with all three of the dummy's queens. He scored the spade A and K, overtook the J with the Q and then took the last two tricks with the two red queens to make the contract.

Man Indicted In Shooting Case

Claude Selby, 22, Friendsville, was indicted yesterday morning by a grand jury in Garrett county on charges of assault with intent to kill District Game Warden Theodore Thoerig, 37, Mt. Savage.

The grand jurors had been recalled into session by Associate Judge George Henderson in order to give speedy action in the matter.

Selby was also indicted for hunting during closed season and hunting without a license, and in another case he was indicted for the larceny of a heifer calf.

Selby shot Warden Thoerig last Saturday in a wooded section near Kendall in Garrett county after hearing the sound of shooting in the forest. The game warden was struck in the shoulder with a .22 caliber bullet. He is a patient in Memorial Hospital here and his condition is satisfactory.

The shooting of Thoerig took place as he and his deputy, Doyle McCullough, of Friendsville, were investigating shots they had heard. The two officers saw Selby and Ernest Ray Frazee, 18, also of Friendsville, with guns.

As the wardens pursued the two men Selby fired from behind a tree. Thoerig was almost upon Frazee at the time.

State Police arrested the two men at the Frazee Hotel, Friendsville, several hours later.

Frazee was not indicted in connection with the shooting, but was indicted for hunting during a closed season and larceny in the theft of a heifer calf which he and Selby shot recently. The animal was owned by John Beachy of Swanton.

Both men are held under $1,000 bond.

Bedford Paper Becomes Daily

The Bedford Gazette, Bedford county, Pa., founded in 1805 and continued since that time as a weekly, will be published every morning, Monday through Friday, it has been announced.

The staffs of three long-established weeklies—The Gazette, Bedford Inquirer and Everett Republican—are combining to produce the first daily in the history of Bedford county.

The Inquirer and Republican will continue as weekly papers, being issued every Saturday.

A letter from the editors in the first issue states that the daily is being started as an experiment, "But we are resolved to make it succeed, because we know how much it can mean to the future of Bedford county."

More than 5,000 copies were sold of the first issue. In addition to county-wide coverage, the new paper also has the world-wide service of the Associated Press.

Rising Stock Market Halted By Batch Of Selling Orders

NEW YORK, No. 3 (AP)—A rising stock market stumbled over a batch of selling orders late today.

Damage was not severe but a good many early gains were cut down or eliminated. Gains outnumbered losses by a small margin at the final bell with changes for the most part limited to around $1 a share or less.

Sales amounted to only 1,560,000 shares, the smallest figure for a full day in nearly two months. This compared with 1,580,000 Thursday.

Auto shares were flattened with the rest of the market in the afternoon but snapped back quickly to close with a substantial part of their morning gains.

Chrysler ended 87 cents higher at $76.50 a share, General Motors up 62 cents at 51⅜, and Studebaker unchanged at 31¼.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks stayed at $82.90 a share. Advances for the industrial and utility groups were offset by a drop in the rail component.

Profit taking was credited with taking a toll of stocks today. Another freshet of rich earnings and extra and increased dividends was a mild sustaining influence at best. News of rough going for United Nations troops in Northern Korea, plus the approaching elections on Nov. 7, probably helped to curb trading enthusiasm.

Little to the liking of Wall street was a speech by W. Stuart Symington, chief of the nation's mobilization program.

Symington warned businessmen last night in Houston that unjustified price increases may result in sharp rollback orders, if and when the government invokes price control.

"The Authority on Authorities"

LOW HONORS PROMOTED

LOW HONORS gain in trick-taking value when they are opposite higher honors of their suits. That is a principle in the promotional value of honors opposite honors which is not clearly understood by many players. For instance, a king is as good as an ace when the ace is opposite it, a queen also if opposite an ace-king, and a queen causes the side to have a sure trick-taker, possibly two, if the king is across the table from it.

North's three queens proved indispensable to South, thereby justifying the two bids made by their holder. The first call of 1-No Trump was of course the weakest action North could take, aside from a pass, and his second bid of 2-Spades was a mere preference, shifting from the second suit of South to the first and therefore showing no additional strength. Having done that, North was through and of course passed the 3-Spades try by South to see if North had even the slightest strength to spare.

West scored his club A and led the Q for South to ruff with the spade 6. The diamond 10 went through to the J and a third club was ruffed by the spade 7. The diamond 9 went to the A and the heart 10 was returned to the A. The diamond 3 went to the K for the defenders' fourth trick and the heart J was offered to the K.

Now South was ready to take tricks with all three of the dummy's queens. He scored the spade A and K, overtook the J with the Q and then took the last two tricks with the two red queens to make the contract.

$100 Stolen In Burglary At Moose Home

Detective See Studying Prints

A burglary at the Moose Home, 100 Beall Street, which resulted in theft of over $100, was being probed by Detective Thomas J. See.

His best bet appeared to be some fingerprints on a smashed bowling machine from which the coins had been taken. See said yesterday afternoon he is giving special study to these prints.

Detective See said that a jimmy bar apparently had been used to force open the locked door to the lodge secretary's office. Inside the office the burglars seemed to have used a screw driver to force their way into locked drawers. The office which was ransacked is on the second floor of the place.

The burglars also obtained some money, bills and change, when they pried open a closet in the bar, located on the first floor of the Moose property. The smashed bowling machine was in the barroom.

Detective See said that the burglars apparently fled by the rear door.

Because there was no evidence that an outside door had been forced, it was presumed the culprits secreted themselves in the building at the time it was locked, about 12:30 a. m. yesterday. A custodian discovered the theft about 8 a. m.

Mrs. Ruth Oates Wins Case For Fire Insurance

Company Fails To Prove Arson Charge

A Mineral County Circuit jury returned a verdict in favor of Mrs. Ruth Iser Oates, of Keyser, W. Va., for $7,000 due her on two fire insurance policies issued by the Northwestern National Insurance Company of Milwaukee and the Continental Insurance Company of New York.

Mrs. Oates had sued the companies for the policy values after they refused to pay her for the loss of her home and personal possessions at Fort Ashby, W. Va., by fire several months ago.

After she filed her suit, the companies, through their attorneys, answered the suit, claiming arson was suspected in the blaze.

In the two-day trial, attorneys for the company called a number of witnesses in an effort to prove that Mrs. Oates had set her home afire.

On the witness stand, however, she told the court and jury that she was not home for several days around the time of the fire, and had gone to Baltimore, York and Bedford, Pa. She was represented by H. G. Shores and H. R. Athey, Keyser attorneys.

The jury deliberated less than an hour and indicated they did not put any credence in the charge of arson by returning a full verdict for the plaintiff, Mrs. Oates.

The case attracted considerable attention among authorities, attorneys and insurance men.

Those seated, left to right, are Calvin C. Thrasher, post chaplain; John Eichhorn, president, Good Will Fire Department; Harold C. Members of the VFW Post sponsored a campaign to urge citizens to sign pledges of loyalty to the United States, and support the Ober Bill election day.

VFW Claims Reserve Calls Are Inequitable

Charge System Puts High Burden On Vets

Inequities in present regulations regarding the call to active duty of reservists and guardsmen and of men drafted for the Armed Forces have been scored by Commander-in-Chief Charles C. Ralls, Veterans of Foreign Wars; according to Edward R. Murray, commander of VFW District No. 3.

Murray said numerous reservists have complained to the VFW here and elsewhere in the country, over the method of calling them to active duty, and the very little time given them to report for physicals and their ultimate induction to active service. Numerous hardship cases have come to light, he explained.

Ralls said that the present system of calling National Guardsmen and Reservists, without regard to family ties, former disabilities or other causes for which draftees are deferred, is not compatible to the VFW.

He called for early revision of these regulations so that a more balanced and justifiable program could be arranged in building up Armed Forces personnel.

"Men who have served their country," Ralls declared, "have never hesitated to answer that call again; but we do feel that there should be an equalization between those who have never worn a uniform and those men who have previously jeopardized their safety in the nation's interest.

"One glaring inequity seems to be that inactive Reservists with service disabilities ranging up to 30 per cent or more are being recalled and placed on limited active duty. Certainly, some of the deferred draftees could also serve on limited duty where some physical qualities may be lacking.

"The VFW is also on record as favoring the advance of the draft age to 35 years and tightening up on deferments which might give the Selective Service Boards a greater opportunity to work out a justifiable program," he said.

"While I understand that the House Armed Services Committee, of which Rep. Carl Vinson is chairman, has under consideration corrective legislation to present to Congress upon its return to Washington on November 27, the VFW feels that something should be done for those who have already been inducted under this unequal setup.

"It seems to us to be eminently unfair to call Reservists and Guardsmen regardless of age or disability, dependencies and jobs which they now hold, and then to exempt from the draft men over 25 years or with a dependent. Most of these Reservists have already seen active military service in World War II.

"This manner of selection," Ralls continued, "for Armed Forces duty seems to place the burden pretty much on the veterans, many of whom have already served a number of years on active duty—and in combat.

Safety Heads Hold Session At Luke Plant

Fire, Accident Prevention Cited

Safety directors from the various mills of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company held an all-day conference on accident and fire prevention at the Luke plant yesterday.

This was reported by John J. Long, director of plant and personnel protection at Luke.

Top company officials from the New York office indicated that increased exchange of information on individual safety programs will be encouraged among the various plants, Long said.

"Accident targets" during the past year and plans for 1951 comprised most of the morning discussion.

Safety measures and devices used to minimize accidents, as well as other phases of each mill's safety program, were emphasized during the conference.

Skit Is Presented

In connection with the discussion on fire prevention, a skit was presented during the afternoon session by Victor Kalbaugh, fire marshal at the Luke plant, and John Hanna, a welder.

The skit, illustrated fire prevention precautions taken by a foreman and his welder.

To give an illustration of the loss of vision and the seriousness of accidents to the eyes, each person was asked to wear a mask for one minute during the luncheon period and attempt to eat while blindfolded.

A. M. Kaiser, manager of the Luke plant, joined the discussion at the luncheon period and again at dinner last night.

Top Officials Attend

M. L. Hodges, safety director of the Charleston, S. C., plant; and James L. Towsen, vice president in charge of personnel, and Harry Haller, public relations official, both of the New York office of the company.

Besides Kaiser, Long and Kalbaugh, other representatives of the Luke mill were Dan Staley, personnel director; Frank Borges, of the maintenance and construction department; Gerald Haywood, research department; Paul Bowman pulp mill department.

Julian Patrick, main laboratory superintendent; Fred Gortner, outside division superintendent; Frank Zeitlin, assistant mill manager; Dan Eisenberger, personnel department.

Two-Way Probe Into Explosion Now Underway

County, State Men Investigate Blast

County and state authorities have joined forces in an investigation of the explosion which wrecked a $12,000 power shovel at a strip mine operated by the Mineral Coal Company on Jackson Mountain at Moscow yesterday.

County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, working out of State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris' office, and Deputy Sheriff George Harris visited the scene yesterday afternoon in the county's part of the probe. State Trooper T. M. Gilmore is handling State Police investigation of the violence.

The explosion was the second instance of coal mine property destruction in the Georges Creek section in 14 hours. County authorities said a fan house near Barton was deliberately set afire and destroyed Thursday.

Investigator Boyle, questioned last night, could shed little light on the mine mystery. He said the cause was unknown although it appeared certain it was not an accident. He considered it surprising that a bulldozer and caterpiller tractor near the shovel were unharmed. It was believed that the explosive, although high-powered, was not dynamite.

A spokesman at the office of Sheriff Edward R. Muir said an investigation of recent violence has ruled out any theory that it was the result of labor troubles, because both union and non-union mines had been hit.

Residents at Lonaconing, two and one half miles from the site, reported hearing a terrific explosion at 1:10 a. m. yesterday. However, location of the blast was not determined until later in the day when Harold Skelly of Cresaptown, foreman for the company, reported the incident to State Police. He said two blasts destroyed the shovel. He also reported the mine had not been worked heavily recently.

Thursday a fan house at the Hampshire mine of the Campbell Coal Company near Barton was destroyed by fire. An earlier explosion damaged a power shovel and bulldozer near Barton and that loss was set at $10,000. Other blasts wrecked a wheelhouse and conveyor belt near Pekin.

W. Va. Mine House Leveled By Fire

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — The $600 brake house at a mine of the North Branch Coal Company about a mile east of here has been destroyed by fire.

L. R. Grant, overseer of the property, believes the blaze occurred sometime Thursday night although the loss was not discovered until yesterday afternoon. Only last Sunday Grant had found that a $100 air lock timber at the mouth of the mine had been burned.

The overseer has notified the sheriff's office of the blazes, which he believes have been deliberate. Two other fires have occurred at the mine which has not been operated for 18 months. On May 20, 1947 machinery was burned and shortly afterwards a tool house with $400 worth of tools was destroyed by flames.

Celanese Contract Plan Is Ratified

Referee John R. Regan in a report Thursday to New York Supreme Court Justice William C. Hecht, approved the Celanese Corporation of America proposal for the commutation of a contract with the Drs. Camille and Henry Dreyfus which had been ratified by stockholders at their annual meeting last April.

The report said the commutation agreement, providing for the issuance of 330,846 common shares and the payment of $1,500,000 to the Drs. Dreyfus for surrender of their rights under the contract "is valid fair and reasonable and in the best interests of the corporation and its stockholders."

Referee Regan found with the corporation that the Drs. Dreyfus were not entitled to any distribution as a result of stock dividends paid by the corporation in 1939, 1940 and 1944. Regan authorized the corporation to return to its general funds a reserve of $129,500 which had been set up as a contingent liability.

Soil Office Open Friday

The Soil Conservation Office in the Post Office Building will be open each Friday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. during the fall and winter season.

Farmers are invited to contact one of the conservation aids, either Martin Gordon or Stuart Delbrook for the purpose of discussing their problems relating to soil conservation, contour farming, etc.

The soil representatives will contact interested farmers at their farms in order to get first hand impressions of the problems and to help them plan and layout their farms for strip cropping and soil preservation. This field work will be done on Mondays to Thursdays.

On Wednesday, November 8, Gordon and Delbrook will conduct a tour for children of the fifth and sixth grades of Johnson Height School, Union Grove, at the farm of Ralph Ferguson. The children will be shown how farm plans are made, what contour strip-cropping means, how drainage problems are solved, and other problems relating to farm management.

A similar tour was conducted for the fifth and sixth grades of Echart Elementary School last Tuesday. Approximately 80 children from the school observed farm problems at the Charles Harvey farm.

McKeldin Bids For Support Of Mahoney Group

Points Of Agreement Cited In TV Address

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — Theodore R. McKeldin made a pointed effort tonight to gather George P. Mahoney supporters into his fold.

In a television appearance, the Republican candidate for governor mentioned several instances where he said he and Mahoney agreed in their criticism of Governor Lane and administration policy.

Discussing the sales tax, McKeldin outlined the differences between his proposals and those of Governor Lane. Then he added:

"Everyone knows that Mr. Lane and his platform are in complete disagreement with the platform positions of Mr. Mahoney and myself, that the sales tax should ultimately be ended x x x."

On financial control:

"Budget reform, accounting controls and administrative reorganization of the state government, on all of which Mr. Mahoney and I agree in principle, have not been mentioned by Mr. Lane x x x"

On election reform:

"Mr. Lane and his platform contain no offer of election reform, the need for which was so glaringly shown in the recent primary when 20,000 voters were disfranchised. Again I believe Mr. Mahoney and I agree in principle, but Mr. Lane remains silent x x x"

On schools:

"Mr. Lane has repeatedly stated that he has built some 250 new school buildings throughout the state. On August 15, 1950, Mr. Mahoney said of Mr. Lane's claim: 'This is a flat falsehood.' x x x"

On roads:

"Mr. Lane talks about 1,144 miles of new roads, but I have been all over this state in the last two months and can personally tell you that Mr. Mahoney's statements to you about the hop, skip and jump system of short stretches of road x x x is absolutely true. x x x"

The winners will represent the state in the Northeastern poultry judging contest at Boston in December.

In the vegetable judging, Montgomery 4-H members placed first with Howard County second.

Pinto Plant Develops Jato Motor For U. S.

New Device Packs Power, Lacks Smoke

A new smokeless rocket motor with greater safety and better performance for aircraft booster power has been developed by the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto, W. Va.

The new motor was announced yesterday by the Navy in Washington.

This new Jato or Rato (jet or rocket assist for takeoff) is expected to become standard for the military services. The Air Force and Army paid part of the cost of the development by the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory near here.

Navy officials say the new unit matches the old in power and far surpasses it in other respects. The new Jato motor also weighs less and is much less affected by temperature extremes and rough handling. Cost estimates are approximately the same as for present units.

Jato commonly is used to supplement regular power for aircraft taking off with overloads, on short runways, from carrier decks, from airports at high altitude, or in very warm air. It is installed in some planes for emergency power in flight.

The usual Jato motor provides 1,000 pounds of thrust for 14 seconds. It is identified with a tremendous trail of smoke laden with tiny particles of residue from the burning powder.

Experts contend the ash-laden smoke trail blocks out carrier decks and airport runways and might damage aircraft in the vicinity.

Copies Of New City Code Are Received Here

1950 Edition Contains Total Of 651 Pages

Work of almost two years was culminated yesterday with the arrival at City Hall of about 300 copies of the 1950 edition of "Charter and City Ordinances of the City of Cumberland."

The new book, which contains 651 pages, was edited by Dr. Carl N. Everstine, assistant director of research, Legislative Council of Maryland.

The edition is the first to be compiled since the 1926 city code was printed.

It includes all public laws of the city in force up to and including the Acts of the 1949 General Assembly.

Thirty-five chapters and a 22-page index are devoted to the section on city ordinances.

They include all ordinances in effect up to Ordinance 1886, which was passed October 17, 1949, to legalize the 1950 edition of the code of general ordinances.

At the beginning of the section devoted to the city charter, Dr. Everstine lists the act passed by the 1949 Legislature to legalize the codification of the charter.

The charter section carries a six-page index.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson recalled that total cost of preparation and printing is nearly $4,000, or a cost of about $13 per copy.

The books are attractively bound in dark green, with gold lettering on the cover.

They were printed by Frank Fleckenstein, this city.

About five extra copies in loose-leaf form are expected to be printed, so that future ordinances or amendments can be inserted under the various headings.

Ill Man's Pet Parakeet Disappears But Story Has Happy Conclusion

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Pets often appear small and insignificant but they mean an awful lot to their owners.

That's why the disappearance about 5:30 p. m. yesterday of "Butch" was considered almost a tragedy by the family of Robert G. Rice, who lives in a second-floor apartment at 102 Frederick Street.

For "Butch" is a 10-month old parakeet who provides Rice with almost his only pleasure in life. Rice, who is 41, is exceedingly ill with a rare disease.

Having little interest in reading, Rice was left by his illness with only two recreational pursuits. One was listening to baseball game broadcasts and the other was playing with his pet parakeet. The baseball season ended last month so Rice was left with only one diversion. The disappearance of the pet bird left him with none.

"Butch" was given to Rice back in February when the bird was only three weeks old. Since then the ill man and the small parrot have become fast friends. The bird "talked a blue streak" and Rice often laughed at the bird's chatter.

Relatives and friends searched downtown Cumberland for more than an hour last night looking for the parakeet, to no avail.

But this is a story with a happy ending.

Finally, about 7:10 last night, Mrs Charles Trappe, Rice's sister found the bird. While walking toward her brother's apartment from her home on Henderson Avenue she saw "Butch" on the wall at LaSalle High School. The bird flew off the wall and came down and kissed Mrs. Trappe on the cheek.

Rice was the happiest man in Cumberland when she arrived at his apartment with "Butch."

$100 Stolen In Burglary At Moose Home

Detective See Studying Prints

A burglary at the Moose Home, 100 Beall Street, which resulted in theft of over $100, was being probed by Detective Thomas J. See.

His best bet appeared to be some fingerprints on a smashed bowling machine from which the coins had been taken. See said yesterday afternoon he is giving special study to these prints.

Detective See said that a jimmy bar apparently had been used to force open the locked door to the lodge secretary's office. Inside the office the burglars seemed to have used a screw driver to force their way into locked drawers. The office which was ransacked is on the second floor of the place.

The burglars also obtained some money, bills and change, when they pried open a closet in the bar, located on the first floor of the Moose property. The smashed bowling machine was in the barroom.

Detective See said that the burglars apparently fled by the rear door.

Because there was no evidence that an outside door had been forced, it was presumed the culprits secreted themselves in the building at the time it was locked, about 12:30 a. m. yesterday. A custodian discovered the theft about 8 a. m.

Mrs. Ruth Oates Wins Case For Fire Insurance

Company Fails To Prove Arson Charge

A Mineral County Circuit jury returned a verdict in favor of Mrs. Ruth Iser Oates, of Keyser, W. Va., for $7,000 due her on two fire insurance policies issued by the Northwestern National Insurance Company of Milwaukee and the Continental Insurance Company of New York.

Mrs. Oates had sued the companies for the policy values after they refused to pay her for the loss of her home and personal possessions at Fort Ashby, W. Va., by fire several months ago.

After she filed her suit, the companies, through their attorneys, answered the suit, claiming arson was suspected in the blaze.

In the two-day trial, attorneys for the company called a number of witnesses in an effort to prove that Mrs. Oates had set her home afire.

On the witness stand, however, she told the court and jury that she was not home for several days around the time of the fire, and had gone to Baltimore, York and Bedford, Pa. She was represented by H. G. Shores and H. R. Athey, Keyser attorneys.

The jury deliberated less than an hour and indicated they did not put any credence in the charge of arson by returning a full verdict for the plaintiff, Mrs. Oates.

The case attracted considerable attention among authorities, attorneys and insurance men.

Charge System Puts High Burden On Vets

Inequities in present regulations regarding the call to active duty of reservists and guardsmen and of men drafted for the Armed Forces have been scored by Commander-in-Chief Charles C. Ralls, Veterans of Foreign Wars; according to Edward R. Murray, commander of VFW District No. 3.

Murray said numerous reservists have complained to the VFW here and elsewhere in the country, over the method of calling them to active duty, and the very little time given them to report for physicals and their ultimate induction to active service. Numerous hardship cases have come to light, he explained.

Ralls said that the present system of calling National Guardsmen and Reservists, without regard to family ties, former disabilities or other causes for which draftees are deferred, is not compatible to the VFW.

He called for early revision of these regulations so that a more balanced and justifiable program could be arranged in building up Armed Forces personnel.

"Men who have served their country," Ralls declared, "have never hesitated to answer that call again; but we do feel that there should be an equalization between those who have never worn a uniform and those men who have previously jeopardized their safety in the nation's interest.

"One glaring inequity seems to be that inactive Reservists with service disabilities ranging up to 30 per cent or more are being recalled and placed on limited active duty. Certainly, some of the deferred draftees could also serve on limited duty where some physical qualities may be lacking.

"The VFW is also on record as favoring the advance of the draft age to 35 years and tightening up on deferments which might give the Selective Service Boards a greater opportunity to work out a justifiable program," he said.

"While I understand that the House Armed Services Committee, of which Rep. Carl Vinson is chairman, has under consideration corrective legislation to present to Congress upon its return to Washington on November 27, the VFW feels that something should be done for those who have already been inducted under this unequal setup.

"It seems to us to be eminently unfair to call Reservists and Guardsmen regardless of age or disability, dependencies and jobs which they now hold, and then to exempt from the draft men over 25 years or with a dependent. Most of these Reservists have already seen active military service in World War II.

"This manner of selection," Ralls continued, "for Armed Forces duty seems to place the burden pretty much on the veterans, many of whom have already served a number of years on active duty—and in combat.

Safety Heads Hold Session At Luke Plant

Fire, Accident Prevention Cited

Safety directors from the various mills of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company held an all-day conference on accident and fire prevention at the Luke plant yesterday.

This was reported by John J. Long, director of plant and personnel protection at Luke.

Top company officials from the New York office indicated that increased exchange of information on individual safety programs will be encouraged among the various plants, Long said.

"Accident targets" during the past year and plans for 1951 comprised most of the morning discussion.

Safety measures and devices used to minimize accidents, as well as other phases of each mill's safety program, were emphasized during the conference.

Skit Is Presented

In connection with the discussion on fire prevention, a skit was presented during the afternoon session by Victor Kalbaugh, fire marshal at the Luke plant, and John Hanna, a welder.

The skit, illustrated fire prevention precautions taken by a foreman and his welder.

To give an illustration of the loss of vision and the seriousness of accidents to the eyes, each person was asked to wear a mask for one minute during the luncheon period and attempt to eat while blindfolded.

A. M. Kaiser, manager of the Luke plant, joined the discussion at the luncheon period and again at dinner last night.

Two-Way Probe Into Explosion Now Underway

County, State Men Investigate Blast

County and state authorities have joined forces in an investigation of the explosion which wrecked a $12,000 power shovel at a strip mine operated by the Mineral Coal Company on Jackson Mountain at Moscow yesterday.

County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, working out of State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris' office, and Deputy Sheriff George Harris visited the scene yesterday afternoon in the county's part of the probe. State Trooper T. M. Gilmore is handling State Police investigation of the violence.

The explosion was the second instance of coal mine property destruction in the Georges Creek section in 14 hours. County authorities said a fan house near Barton was deliberately set afire and destroyed Thursday.

Investigator Boyle, questioned last night, could shed little light on the mine mystery. He said the cause was unknown although it appeared certain it was not an accident. He considered it surprising that a bulldozer and caterpiller tractor near the shovel were unharmed. It was believed that the explosive, although high-powered, was not dynamite.

A spokesman at the office of Sheriff Edward R. Muir said an investigation of recent violence has ruled out any theory that it was the result of labor troubles, because both union and non-union mines had been hit.

Residents at Lonaconing, two and one half miles from the site, reported hearing a terrific explosion at 1:10 a. m. yesterday. However, location of the blast was not determined until later in the day when Harold Skelly of Cresaptown, foreman for the company, reported the incident to State Police. He said two blasts destroyed the shovel. He also reported the mine had not been worked heavily recently.

Thursday a fan house at the Hampshire mine of the Campbell Coal Company near Barton was destroyed by fire. An earlier explosion damaged a power shovel and bulldozer near Barton and that loss was set at $10,000. Other blasts wrecked a wheelhouse and conveyor belt near Pekin.

W. Va. Mine House Leveled By Fire

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — The $600 brake house at a mine of the North Branch Coal Company about a mile east of here has been destroyed by fire.

L. R. Grant, overseer of the property, believes the blaze occurred sometime Thursday night although the loss was not discovered until yesterday afternoon. Only last Sunday Grant had found that a $100 air lock timber at the mouth of the mine had been burned.

The overseer has notified the sheriff's office of the blazes, which he believes have been deliberate. Two other fires have occurred at the mine which has not been operated for 18 months. On May 20, 1947 machinery was burned and shortly afterwards a tool house with $400 worth of tools was destroyed by flames.

Celanese Contract Plan Is Ratified

Referee John R. Regan in a report Thursday to New York Supreme Court Justice William C. Hecht, approved the Celanese Corporation of America proposal for the commutation of a contract with the Drs. Camille and Henry Dreyfus which had been ratified by stockholders at their annual meeting last April.

The report said the commutation agreement, providing for the issuance of 330,846 common shares and the payment of $1,500,000 to the Drs. Dreyfus for surrender of their rights under the contract "is valid fair and reasonable and in the best interests of the corporation and its stockholders."

Referee Regan found with the corporation that the Drs. Dreyfus were not entitled to any distribution as a result of stock dividends paid by the corporation in 1939, 1940 and 1944. Regan authorized the corporation to return to its general funds a reserve of $129,500 which had been set up as a contingent liability.

Soil Office Open Friday

The Soil Conservation Office in the Post Office Building will be open each Friday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. during the fall and winter season.

Farmers are invited to contact one of the conservation aids, either Martin Gordon or Stuart Delbrook for the purpose of discussing their problems relating to soil conservation, contour farming, etc.

The soil representatives will contact interested farmers at their farms in order to get first hand impressions of the problems and to help them plan and layout their farms for strip cropping and soil preservation. This field work will be done on Mondays to Thursdays.

On Wednesday, November 8, Gordon and Delbrook will conduct a tour for children of the fifth and sixth grades of Johnson Height School, Union Grove, at the farm of Ralph Ferguson. The children will be shown how farm plaps are made, what contour strip-cropping means, how drainage problems are solved, and other problems relating to farm management.

A similar tour was conducted for the fifth and sixth grades of Echart Elementary School last Tuesday. Approximately 80 children from the school observed farm problems at the Charles Harvey farm.

McKeldin Bids For Support Of Mahoney Group

Points Of Agreement Cited In TV Address

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — Theodore R. McKeldin made a pointed effort tonight to gather George P. Mahoney supporters into his fold.

In a television appearance, the Republican candidate for governor mentioned several instances where he said he and Mahoney agreed in their criticism of Governor Lane and administration policy.

Discussing the sales tax, McKeldin outlined the differences between his proposals and those of Governor Lane. Then he added:

"Everyone knows that Mr. Lane and his platform are in complete disagreement with the platform positions of Mr. Mahoney and myself, that the sales tax should ultimately be ended x x x."

On financial control:

"Budget reform, accounting controls and administrative reorganization of the state government, on all of which Mr. Mahoney and I agree in principle, have not been mentioned by Mr. Lane x x x"

On election reform:

"Mr. Lane and his platform contain no offer of election reform, the need for which was so glaringly shown in the recent primary when 20,000 voters were disfranchised. Again I believe Mr. Mahoney and I agree in principle, but Mr. Lane remains silent x x x"

On schools:

"Mr. Lane has repeatedly stated that he has built some 250 new school buildings throughout the state. On August 15, 1950, Mr. Mahoney said of Mr. Lane's claim: 'This is a flat falsehood.' x x x"

On roads:

"Mr. Lane talks about 1,144 miles of new roads, but I have been all over this state in the last two months and can personally tell you that Mr. Mahoney's statements to you about the hop, skip and jump system of short stretches of road x x x is absolutely true. x x x"

The winners will represent the state in the Northeastern poultry judging contest at Boston in December.

In the vegetable judging, Montgomery 4-H members placed first with Howard County second.

Pinto Plant Develops Jato Motor For U. S.

New Device Packs Power, Lacks Smoke

A new smokeless rocket motor with greater safety and better performance for aircraft booster power has been developed by the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto, W. Va.

The new motor was announced yesterday by the Navy in Washington.

This new Jato or Rato (jet or rocket assist for takeoff) is expected to become standard for the military services. The Air Force and Army paid part of the cost of the development by the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory near here.

Navy officials say the new unit matches the old in power and far surpasses it in other respects. The new Jato motor also weighs less and is much less affected by temperature extremes and rough handling. Cost estimates are approximately the same as for present units.

Jato commonly is used to supplement regular power for aircraft taking off with overloads, on short runways, from carrier decks, from airports at high altitude, or in very warm air. It is installed in some planes for emergency power in flight.

The usual Jato motor provides 1,000 pounds of thrust for 14 seconds. It is identified with a tremendous trail of smoke laden with tiny particles of residue from the burning powder.

Experts contend the ash-laden smoke trail blocks out carrier decks and airport runways and might damage aircraft in the vicinity.

1950 Edition Contains Total Of 651 Pages

Work of almost two years was culminated yesterday with the arrival at City Hall of about 300 copies of the 1950 edition of "Charter and City Ordinances of the City of Cumberland."

The new book, which contains 651 pages, was edited by Dr. Carl N. Everstine, assistant director of research, Legislative Council of Maryland.

The edition is the first to be compiled since the 1926 city code was printed.

It includes all public laws of the city in force up to and including the Acts of the 1949 General Assembly.

Thirty-five chapters and a 22-page index are devoted to the section on city ordinances.

They include all ordinances in effect up to Ordinance 1886, which was passed October 17, 1949, to legalize the 1950 edition of the code of general ordinances.

At the beginning of the section devoted to the city charter, Dr. Everstine lists the act passed by the 1949 Legislature to legalize the codification of the charter.

The charter section carries a six-page index.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson recalled that total cost of preparation and printing is nearly $4,000, or a cost of about $13 per copy.

The books are attractively bound in dark green, with gold lettering on the cover.

They were printed by Frank Fleckenstein, this city.

About five extra copies in loose-leaf form are expected to be printed, so that future ordinances or amendments can be inserted under the various headings.

Ill Man's Pet Parakeet Disappears But Story Has Happy Conclusion

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Pets often appear small and insignificant but they mean an awful lot to their owners.

That's why the disappearance about 5:30 p. m. yesterday of "Butch" was considered almost a tragedy by the family of Robert G. Rice, who lives in a second-floor apartment at 102 Frederick Street.

For "Butch" is a 10-month old parakeet who provides Rice with almost his only pleasure in life. Rice, who is 41, is exceedingly ill with a rare disease.

Having little interest in reading, Rice was left by his illness with only two recreational pursuits. One was listening to baseball game broadcasts and the other was playing with his pet parakeet. The baseball season ended last month so Rice was left with only one diversion. The disappearance of the pet bird left him with none.

"Butch" was given to Rice back in February when the bird was only three weeks old. Since then the ill man and the small parrot have become fast friends. The bird "talked a blue streak" and Rice often laughed at the bird's chatter.

Relatives and friends searched downtown Cumberland for more than an hour last night looking for the parakeet, to no avail.

But this is a story with a happy ending.

Finally, about 7:10 last night, Mrs Charles Trappe, Rice's sister found the bird. While walking toward her brother's apartment from her home on Henderson Avenue she saw "Butch" on the wall at LaSalle High School. The bird flew off the wall and came down and kissed Mrs. Trappe on the cheek.

Rice was the happiest man in Cumberland when she arrived at his apartment with "Butch."

U.N. Adopts Collective Security Plan

U. S. Program Is Approved By 52-5 Vote

Committee Brands War Gravest Crime

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — The United Nations Assembly today approved by 52 to five Secretary of State Acheson's program for a veto-free system of collective security giving the U. N. power to meet aggression with armed force on a few hours notice.

For the first time in U. N. history, the Assembly was empowered to ask for troops if the Security Council fails to handle aggression immediately.

Assembly President Nashollah Entezam hailed the action as the most important taken by this fifth General Assembly and perhaps the most important ever taken by any U. N. Assembly. Many delegates agreed that aggression of the North Korean type must not occur again.

Entezam, in effect, called on all U. N. members to back up the resolution by placing armed forces on call for U. N. use, which was one of the key sections of the plan. He told the delegates after the vote: "It is now for us to show the world we are uniting for peace."

Acheson Hails Action

Secretary Acheson said in a statement in Washington that the "peoples of the world will be heartened by this historic step toward effective collective security through the United Nations."

"The cause of peace with freedom must surely be advanced by the firm resolve of 52 members to develop and unite their strength through the United Nations," Acheson said. "Anything that strengthens the United Nations at this critical time strengthens all nations who want peace."

Meanwhile, the 60-nation Political Committee of the Assembly approved at Lake Success a resolution, also backed by the U. S., calling aggressive war the gravest crime against humanity. The whole resolution was approved, 47 votes to five. The Soviet bloc opposed the resolution but abstained on the particular section referring to aggressive warfare. Yugoslavia abstained on the whole resolution.

The committee in its action endorsed once more the Assembly plan for control of atomic energy, urged the U. N. members to strive for control and elimination of weapons of mass destruction and to regulate arms under a U. N. system of control. Finally, it declared that these goals can be attained if all members demonstrate by their deeds their will to achieve peace.

Western Answer To Persia

This committee resolution was the western answer to Soviet proposals, based on the Stockholm peace appeal, for an immediate prohibition of atomic weapons, a Big Five peace pact, and a reduction by one-third of the armed forces of the five big powers. These proposals were voted down in the committee last Monday.

The resolution approved by the committee stands apart from the Acheson plan approved by the Assembly. The committee sounded another call for peaceful actions while the Acheson plan put teeth into collective security measures.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky accepted for Russia a place on a peace observation commission, but voted with the four other members of the Russian bloc against the whole resolution. India and Argentina abstained. The 60th member, Lebanon, was not present for the vote.

U.N. Denounces Red Satellites

NEW YORK, Nov. 3. (AP) — The U. N. Assembly today denounced Communist - dominated Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria for trampling on human rights in their treason trials and purges.

Rejecting Soviet bloc charges that the U. S. was behind the move to mask its concern over the smashing of an American "spy network" in Russia's Balkan satellites, the Assembly approved the resolution by a vote of 40 in favor, five against and 12 absentions.

The Assembly action grew out of the treason trial and imprisonment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in Hungary and similar trials in Romania and Bulgaria.

109,417 S. Korean Killed

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 3 (AP)—South Korean civilian war casualties so far total 284,233, including 109,417 killed, the republican Ministry of Social Activities reported tonight.

U. S. Unemployment Drops To 1,940,000, 2-Year Low, With 61,764,000 Employed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—Only 1,940,000 Americans were listed as unemployed in October—the smallest number in the past two years. And employment jumped to 61,764,000, the highest for any October in history.

The Census Bureau, which reported the job figures today, said the 401,000 fall-off in the number of unemployed resulted from two factors: Draft calls cut down the size of the working force, and good weather allowed expansion in farm employment.

Total employment advanced by 38,000 over September, with net additions of 680,000 in agricultural work far more than offsetting a decline of 142,000 in non-farm employment.

Defense Officials Concerned

It was evident that the full impact of the rearmament program had not been felt. With little slack in the manpower situation, officials were beginning to show more and more concern over the nation's ability to supply the extra 2,500,000 or more workers which it is estimated defense industries will need by next summer, while eventually expanding the armed services to 3,000,000 men as planned.

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer observed that the dwindling reservoir of unemployed "is rapidly ruling out the jobless group as an important source of additional workers for defense industries."

The Census Bureau, which is a part of Sawyer's department, defines the unemployed as persons without job and looking for work. When a housewife or student, for example, applies to an employment agency for a job, and doesn't find it immediately, she or he is classed as unemployed.

137,000 New Job Seekers

The Census Bureau said that 137,000 persons, many of them women, became job seekers last month.

Besides the employed and unemployed, there is a group of 45,704,000 Americans above the age of 14 who are not gainfully employed and who aren't looking for work right now either. Some are old, some are sick and some are housewives who simply aren't looking for outside employment. It is from this group, however, that industry and the government must look for help if the manpower situation gets much tighter.

HELD IN PLOT—Mrs. Carmen Torresola (above), 21-year-old widow of Griselio Torresola who was slain in Washington Wednesday during his attempt to assassinate President Truman, is held in New York in $50,000 bail on a charge of conspiracy to "injure" the President.

Truman, Stassen Swap Political Blasts Tonight

President Expected To Get Big Audience

[By The Associated Press]

President Truman will speak to the nation tonight for the first time since the attempt on his life.

The spectacular Blair House shooting is figured to swell the vast audience the Democrats have sought to line up to hear his frankly political broadcast from St. Louis at 10 p. m. (EST).

Harold E. Stassen will reply for the Republicans as soon as the President finishes.

The GOP has engaged only one network, Mutual, for Stassen while the Democrats have dug deep into their treasury and bought time for the President on 1,200 radio and 72 television stations, including all major networks.

The Democratic National Committee estimated that 66,500,000 persons would tune in to hear Mr. Truman call for the election of a Democratic Congress next Tuesday.

Republicans thought that figure was optimistic. But they conceded that millions might be added to the President's audience as a result of the curiosity and sympathy aroused by Wednesday's assassination attempt.

Nobody suggested that Mr. Truman would try to make capital out of the Puerto Rican revolutionist plot. The President has sought to shrug it off except for his expressions of sympathy for the three guards who were shot down in routing the would-be-assassins. One of the guards was fatally wounded.

But anything that happens to a President is examined by the professionals in the light of its political effect. The consensus as that Mr. Truman will get a huge audience tonight, and that may help get out the Democratic vote in next Tuesday's election.

Stassen's reply to the President will be broadcast from New Haven, Conn. Like Mr. Truman's speech, it is expected to hit hardest on foreign affairs.

Arsonist Given 4 To 40 Years

CIRCLEVILLE, O., Nov. 3 (AP) — A 21-year-old former circus roustabout, who admits burning to death or killing 172 persons during the last 12 years, was sentenced today to four to 40 years in prison.

Robert Dale Segee, who says he set the 1944 Ringling Bros. circus fire in Hartford, Conn., stood quietly before Common Pleas Judge William D. Radcliff of Pickaway county. Weeks ago he pleaded guilty to setting two minor Circleville fires.

"I have never been in trouble before," said Segee. "I would like to ask the court to grant me leniency."

Judge Radcliff then sentenced Segee to two terms of two-to-20 years in Ohio penitentiary. The terms are to run consecutively, which means a maximum of 40 years or a minimum of four years with about eight months off for good behavior. This was the maximum penalty under Ohio law.

Hot Coin "Treat" To Kids Lands Woman In Trouble

MIAMI, Fla., Nov. 3 (AP) — A mother of three grown up children landed in trouble today for trying out on nine Miami kids a Halloween prank she says was played on her as a child in "wealthy sections of New York."

Assistant County Solicitor Herbert Shapiro identified her as Mrs. Alice Eisele, 52. He filed informations charging her with "torturing and tormenting" the kids here.

Shapiro said Mrs. Eisele admitted heating coins in a pan and then tossing them to the children as a "treat." It brought back memories, she said, of her childhood Halloween celebrations in New York.

"We children used to go to Madison avenue or other wealthy sections of New York and knock on the door and the people would throw out hot coins. We'd pick them up and drop them and had a good time.

"So that's what I did. I heated about $1.15 in a pan and then shook it behind my back to cool off the coins but evidently they didn't cool enough."

The children, ranging in age from 12 to 14, told Shapiro Mrs. Eisele "tossed the hot coins from the pan into the air. Without thinking we dived for the money.

The charges were filed after mothers of the children refused to accept Mrs. Eisele's apology.

Gunman's Widow Held In New York

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — Under heavy guard, President Truman today walked from the White House to Emergency Hospital to visit the two policemen wounded in Wednesday's furious gun battle in defending him from assassination.

Five Secret Service men closely flanked the President as he made the two-block trip to and from the hospital. Other Secret Service agents rode slowly along in an escort car.

Mr. Truman chatted for about five minutes with the two wounded men—Pvts. Joseph A. Downs and Donald T. Birdzell—and later he told newsmen:

"They are getting along fine."

Truman To Attend Funeral

The President and Mrs. Truman will attend funeral services at 11 a. m., E.S.T., tomorrow for Police Pvt. Leslie Coffelt, 40, who was fatally wounded in the wild shooting fray outside Blair House, the temporary presidential residence.

Meanwhile, the body of Griselio Torresola, one of the two Puerto Rican gunmen involved in the assassination attempt, lay unclaimed in the city morgue.

Coroner A. Magruder MacDonald said a single bullet, in the brain, killed Torresola almost instantly. He said a chemical analysis has not yet been completed, but there was no physical evidence that the slain man was crazed by drugs or liquor.

Gunman's Widow Held

In New York, Torrescola's 21-year-old widow, Carmen, was held in $50,000 bail on a charge of conspiracy to "injure" the President. Conviction could bring a sentence of six years in prison or $5,000 fine, or both.

Mrs. Torresola, described as a pretty, dark - eyed woman, was seized by FBI agents last night after she had disappeared with her six-months-old daughter and had become the object of an intensive hunt.

Prosecutor Saypol disclosed that Torresola left farewell letters to his two children before leaving on his suicidal mission to Washington.

Saypol said the letters indicated that Torresola was aware of "the imminence of death on his part."

He was said to believe he was sacrificing his life for a cause and knew he would not return.

Airliner With 48 Aboard Is Believed Lost In Swiss Alps

GENEVA, Switzerland, Nov. 3 (AP) —A chartered Constellation airliner en route from Bombay to London with 40 East Indian seamen and a crew of eight was missing tonight and believed to have crashed in a Alpine approaches to Geneva airport.

No word has been received from the plane since it radioed Geneva at 10:43 a. m., (4:43 a. m., EST). At that time the British pilot, Capt. Alan Saint, said he was in the vicinity of Grenoble, France, 65 miles South of Geneva, and expected to land at Geneva airport at 11:05 a. m.

A French laborer from the village of Villaroger, in the Savoy region, told authorities he heard two loud explosions a few seconds apart about 2:30 p. m. in the direction of Mont Pass on the French-Italian frontier. Search parties were sent out.

Mass Meetings Urge Red China Intervention

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3 (AP) — Chinese Communist broadcasts today reported mass meetings in China which appeared aimed at raising popular support for open intervention in the Korean war.

Broadcasts from the Peiping radio, heard by the Associated Press in San Francisco, quoted village speakers as calling American forces in Korea a "man-eating beast which, if not shot in time, will break into our homes."

There was no reference to United Nations action in Korea. Nor was there the slightest hint that Chinese Red troops already have crossed the Manchurian border into North Korea to help the Red Korean army.

Actress Breaks Wrist

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 3 (AP) — Actress Lynn Fontanne fractured her left wrist in a fall tonight but appeared as scheduled in a stage performance of "I Know My Life."

New Enemy Faces In North Korea

Chinese Communist soldiers, wearing Manchurian winter equipment, line up for questioning in a prison stockade at Hamhung, North Korea. The soldiers, captured by U. S. Marines south of the Changjin reservoir, reportedly were part of non-combat elements supplying ammunition to North Korean Reds.

Navy Estimates USSR Has 14,000 Combat Planes

Long-Range Bombing Arm Relatively Small

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The Navy said today that the authorized operating strength of Russia's air force is estimated conservatively at 14,000 combat planes.

It added that this estimate does not include Russian naval aviation, transport planes or trainers.

A Navy spokesman gave that explanation of a statement appearing in "Naval Aviation News," magazine of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics. Exactly how much of such "authorized" strength has been achieved, the Navy official did not attempt to say.

No Aircraft Carriers

The magazine, which is an official publication, put the Russian picture this way:

"The Soviet Union today is said to have an air force of upwards of 14,000 operational aircraft, including some jet fighters and TU-4 (B-29 type) medium bombers.

"Its strategic (long-range) bombing force is relatively small, although this arm appears to have been stressed in the Soviet post-war program.

Censorship Clouds Picture

"Naval Aviation News" said the Soviet concept of air power is clouded by censorship, propaganda, and frequent reorganization. But because Russia is a land power, the magazine expressed belief that the primary purpose of Russian air power will probably be to back up the Russian army by tactical operations, which usually are of short or medium range.

Comparison of the newly published estimate with the operational combat strength of the U. S. Air Force is difficult. Since early in the Korean conflict, the American Air Force has stopped releasing figures on the total number of combat planes it operates. However, last June 30 it was officially disclosed to be operating 3,200 with an additional 4,600 in storage.

Penitentiary Convict Loses His First Case

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Nov. 3 (AP)—A penitentiary convict studying law in jail lost his first case today and was sentenced to ten more years in addition to his current term.

Russia Suggests Big Four Meeting On German Arms

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (INS) — Russia called tonight for a Big Four meeting on the question of arms for Germany and received an immediate rebuff from the State Department.

The State Department announced that the Soviet demand was given to U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk in Moscow by Acting Russian Foreign Minister Andri Gromyko. Gromyko was quoted as saying similar demands were given to the British and French ambassadors.

Less than half an hour after reporting the Russian demand, department spokesman Michael McDermitt indicated that it will be rejected—for the time being, at least.

Spread Of Phone Walkout Looms

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — A telephone strike in St. Louis threatened to spread to five states today in advance of next week's scheduled national walkout.

President Joseph A. Beirne of the CIO Communications Workers of America, said the St. Louis strike—involving about 3,000 persons—could spread through Missouri, Arkansas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas.

But he added it would not be used as an excuse to jump the gun on a national strike, involving 300,000 employes, set for next Thursday.

Federal mediators, meanwhile, worked feverishly against the clock here to thresh out the national dispute in time to head off next week's big strike.

Weekend meetings were in prospect.

The main strike threat is aimed against Western Electric Co., a subsidiary of the Bell Telephone System.

The national issues center around wages, length of contract and retroactivity of any wage boosts.

The surprise walkout of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. employes in St. Louis paralyzed that area's few non-dial phones and its long distance service.

Thieves 'Cut Off' Mexico

Customs Bureau Clamps Down Lid On Shipping Data

Move Ordered As Security Measure

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP)—The customs service has clamped a wartime-tight lid on disclosure by its Offices of Information on ship arrivals and departures, destination and cargoes.

The Customs Bureau said today the purpose is "to protect the security of the United States by restricting the disclosure of information concerning the movement of vessels and cargoes in foreign trade."

The bureau apparently was motivated in particular by desire to confine information about shipment of weapons and other strategic equipment to Western European countries in the mutual defense assistance pact.

Officials said:

(1) The action does not mean a new emergency has arisen or is considered imminent.

(2) It is not an undertaking to censor information from sources outside the custom service on ship schedules and similar data.

The barrier against opening official customs records on entry and clearances of ships and the makeup of cargoes was made by an amendment to customs regulations adopted Oct. 20 and put into effect this week by notice to all port offices.

Officials said the law provides for keeping the records open to public inspection except in time of war or upon proclamation of an emergency.

The restrictive amendment was adopted in conformance with a presidential proclamation of Oct. 18.

Ingrid Wants Pia To Meet Half Brother

PARIS, Nov. 3 (AP) — Ingrid Bergman said tonight she hoped to bring her American daughter, 12-year old Pia Lindstrom, to Europe "to meet her new half brother," Roberto Rossellini, Jr.

The attractive Swedish film star, who bore Italian Movie Director Roberto Rossellini a son Feb. 2 while still married to a Los Angeles, surgeon, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, met reporters at a press cocktail party.

Pia is in school in California, she said.

Wailing Saves Abducted Baby From Fiery Death

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3 (AP)—A five-week-old baby girl, missing two hours, was found inside the trailer section of a truck today as workmen were about to burn it for scrap metal content.

Only the faint wailing of tiny Janet Lee Mann saved her from becoming a charred body in the junk pyre already doused with gasoline, workmen at the O'Neill Scrap Iron Co. yard said.

The baby's mother, Mrs. Eleanor Mann, said she had placed the child in her carriage outside the door of their home. When she discovered her missing a few minutes later, she called police and a frantic search was begun.

Police learned a nine-year old school girl had taken the baby from its doorstep and placed it in the trailer "to play with after school." Then the girl returned to school from noon recess.

Patrolman William Diehl found the schoolgirl and with the help of the girl's teacher, Nancy Karpan, learned what had happened.

But the trailer was missing when they went for the baby.

The baby was returned to the mother who said through a torrent of tears, "I can't begin to tell you the joy of having her again."

South Korean Division Holds Firm At Kunu

Half Of Trapped U. S. Regiment Escapes

BULLETIN

WITH U. S. MARINES IN NORTHEAST KOREA, Saturday, Nov. 4 (AP)—Chinese Communists today cut off two Marine battalions north of Sudong after penetrating positions of the attacking Seventh Marine Regiment.

An official source tonight said a Chinese roadblock was set up behind the two battalions.

The Marines, attacking north from Sudong, 20 miles south of the bitterly-defended Changjin reservoir, encountered strong opposition, a 10th Corps officer said.

SEOUL, Saturday, Nov. 4 (AP) — Escape of at least half of a trapped U. S. regiment was disclosed today and the Red counter-drive in Northwest Korea, which sprang the trap, ground to a halt.

South Korean troops held fast at Kunu, 47 miles north of the fallen enemy capital of Pyongyang — the point of deepest penetration by Chinese and North Korean troops.

A U. S. Eighth Army spokesman said action was limited Friday night, in contrast with recent days which saw heavy Red attacks force Allied withdrawals of up to 50 miles.

The spokesman said at least half of the U. S. First Cavalry's Eighth Regiment, trapped north of Kunu and west of Unsan, had escaped. Others were trying to filter through and rejoin friendly forces.

The South Korean Seventh Division restored its main defenses at Kunu by noon Friday after the Reds had made some penetrations.

In Northeast Korea, a Marine battalion was in a Red trap. For a time Friday, a Marine regiment was threatened with encirclement.

A Marine briefing officer said two regiments of Chinese Reds halted the Marine drive with flanking attacks shortly after the leathernecks pushed off from Sudong toward the Changjin reservoir 16 air miles to the north.

Marine staff officers said they believed the regiment was advancing again, however, after getting ammunition by air drop.

Eighty miles southwest of Sudong, Korean Reds isolated a Marine battalion at Majon, 16 miles west of Wonsan. The Marines had gone there to block the northern escape route of by-passed North Korean reds, but were themselves cut off. They were reported in good shape but the Reds ambushed a relief column.

At the same time, Marine fliers bombed a force of 2,000 by-passed Reds only five miles from Wonsan, big east coast port and site of the largest Allied airfield in North Korea. Tanks were called up to protect the airfield.

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton said the First Marine Division was strung out over 100 miles from Sudong southward to Kojo, 30 miles south of Wonsan, in what many Marine officers called an almost impossible tactical situation.

An intelligence spokesman at Gen. MacArthur's Tokyo headquarters said the United Nations still held the initiative in North Korea generally, despite the withdrawals.

He called the new attacks large-scale enemy defensive action and not a counteroffensive.

The Red drive knifed south of Unsan to within two miles of Kunu, which is 47 miles north of Pyongyang. The Communists captured much American equipment in the push, including 13 tanks. It was presumed that the tanks were disabled by their American crews before they were abandoned.

On the west coast, the U. S. 24th Division withdrew 50 miles south and east of Chongju to avoid entrapment.

Reds Claim 3,500 U.N. Casualties

LONDON, Nov. 3. (AP)—The North Korean Communists claimed tonight they have killed or wounded 1,500 United Nations officers and men and taken 2,000 others prisoner in the Anju area.

Anju is a river town in northwestern Korea 13 miles southwest of Kunu.

The Communist claim was made in a communique by the North Korean supreme command, broadcast by the Moscow radio and heard here by the Soviet monitor.

The communique said Red units were advancing west of Anju. It claimed that heavy losses were inflicted on United Nations forces north and northeast of Anju.

French Retreat From Laokay

SAIGON, Vietnam, Indochina, Nov. 3. (AP)—A French column of 1,200 troops retreated westward from abandoned Laokay under enemy harassment today through misty jungle-tangled ravines of the Tonkin mountains. They hoped for a haven by the weekend with friendly Thai tribesmen.

The withdrawal left the Communist-led Vietminh in full control of Laokay, the last French fortress on Indochina's northwest frontier, and a 300-mile-wide zone of communication with Communist China.

Speculation developed here last week over the question of whether the garrison—including Senegalese, Algerians and Indochinese colonial forces—would be ordered to stand and fight or to pull out through the enemy-controlled mountain country about Laokay. The troops had been isolated for several weeks, except for an airlift.

Tydings Counsels U. S. To Keep Up Defenses

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — Sen. Tydings (D-Md) tonight counseled the United States to keep its defenses strong, aid the rest of the free world and continue to seek "a just, honorable and gangster-proof peace."

Tydings spoke over three television and four radio stations in his bid for re-election Tuesday to a fifth term in the Senate. As usual, he did not mention his Republican opponent, John Marshall Butler, by name.

He criticized "our friends, the Republicans" for a record of isolationism and held up himself and the Democratic Party as internationalists working for peace through world cooperation.

Shorter Work Month Is Recommended For Pullman Conductors

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (AP) — A presidential emergency board today recommended a reduced work month for Pullman conductors. It said the effect would be to give them a pay increase of 10 to 11 cents an hour.

The White House made public the report from the board which President Truman appointed last summer to try to settle a wage dispute dating back to September, 1949. The conductors had called a strike for last July 11 when Mr. Truman appointed the board under the railway Labor Act.

The conductors now work a so-called "basic month" of 225 hours. The board proposed cutting this to 210 hours without any change in monthly pay which ranges from $323.20 to $356.20 a month.

Saying this would mean an increase of 10 to 11 cents in the calculated hourly rate, the board noted:

"These hourly rates are used in making payments for overtime and for various kinds of special services."

30-Inch Gas Pipeline Explodes In Virginia

CHATHAM, Va., Nov. 3 (AP) — A big 30-inch pipeline carrying natural gas from Texas to New York exploded in a farm pasture near here today with a thunderous roar heard 10 miles away.

Approximately 550 feet of pipe was blasted from the deep trench in which it lay athwart the farm of Robert Motley, at Sheva.

Flames shot an estimated 1,000 feet skyward. Nobody was injured but some of the farm's livestock was.

Earth in a 30-acre circle around the point of explosion was cooked to a bricklike hardness. Much of the twisted pipe was melted.

Industry Backs Mobilization Plan

SEA ISLAND, Ga., Nov. 3 (AP) — Business leaders today approved the government's "get ready" policy of mobilizing industry before full-scale armament demands hit the economy with disruptive impact.

A majority of the 90-odd members of the business advisory council of the Department of Commerce brought this view to their carefully guarded, three-day meeting with top defense officials here.

There was no vote on this or other defense problems today; yet delegates said the general sentiment amounted to an endorsement of the gradual, but vigorous, program of building and production controls launched by the National Production Authority.

There is clear indication, members said, that the sentiment for "all-out" mobilization with direct wage, price and manpower controls is fading in industry, although still held by some leaders like Bernard Baruch.

Navy Wife Dies In Leap

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3 (AP)—A pretty blonde young mother, despondent over separation from her Navy husband overseas, leaped to her death from the bay bridge early today.

She was identified as Mrs. Patricia Byrus, 22, wife of William O. Byrus, a Navy machinist's mate recently sent to Guam.

Lost Ferry Found

ASTORIA, Ore., Nov. 3 (AP)—A 180-foot ferry with 19 persons aboard, lost today in a heavy fog at the mouth of the Columbia river, was found far off course but safely anchored.

The ferry, the M. R. Chessman, was the object of a widespread river search when it failed to arrive on its cross-river five-mile run from Megler, Wash., at 7:45 a. m.

The first woman newspaper comic-character artist on an American newspaper was Rose O'Neill, who drew the Kewpies in 1903.

'Informer' Banned In West Germany

WIESBADEN, Germany, Nov. 3 (AP) — The R.K.O. film, "The Informer," was banned in Western Germany today by the voluntary censorship board of the West German film industry.

The film, which deals with Irish rebellion against England, "might disturb German relations with one of the western occupying powers," the board announced in explanation of its action. England is one of the occupying powers.

Also the film "portrays political murder as a permissible means of obtaining political goals," the board added.

Accountant Plunges Six Stories To Death

NEW YORK, Nov. 3 (AP) — A 38-year-old man plunged six stories to his death from a Rockefeller Center building today, narrowly missing pedestrians on the crowded sidewalk of Fifth Avenue.

The man was identified by police as Guy Bowden of Flushing, Queens, New York City, an accountant and assistant treasurer of the Aluminum Import Corp. The company has offices in the British Empire building, from the roof of which Bowden jumped or fell.

His body struck a small tree at the outer edge of the sidewalk in the plunge and almost hit Dr. and Mrs. Morris Rosenbloom of Newark, N. J., as they strolled along among afternoon shoppers.

Celanese Newark Plant Honored

The Newark plant of Celanese Corporation of America has been granted the highly coveted Distinguished Service to Safety Award by the National Safety Council in recognition of an outstanding safety record, it has been announced.

Ned H. Dearborn, president of the council, in a letter to the company, declared that "the Newark plant has demonstrated its eligibility to receive this award by establishing accident rates substantially below the most recent averages for similar organizations and by showing marked improvement in comparison with the previous year."

For a period of more than 16 months—from June 2, 1949, to October 13, 1950—the Newark Plant operated without a single lost-time or disabling injury to any of its employes. During that period, a total of 2,348,219 man-hours were worked. It was in recognition of this impressive safety record that the National Safety Council honored the plant.

Beall And Gunter Deserve Your Vote

Allegany countians should feel proud on Election day, November 7, that when they go to the polls to vote they will be able to cast their ballots for native sons running for high office.

We are referring to William A. Gunter, Cumberland attorney, who is his party's choice to be the next attorney general of Maryland, and to Congressman J. Glenn Beall who, on the basis of his record, has been nominated for re-election.

Mr. Gunter's election will, of course, depend on the vote he receives from every part of Maryland, not just Allegany county. Mr. Beall's return to office rests with the voters of the Sixth district, Allegany, Garrett, Washington, Frederick and Montgomery counties.

Both men, certainly, are worthy of your support at the polls, not alone because they are native sons, but because of their abilities and their achievements.

Some years ago, Mr. Gunter was elected state senator from Allegany county. He has headed many campaigns and civic enterprises since that time.

Doubtless the one thing, however, that shows his real spirit, the spirit of heart and conscience, was the organization by him during World War II of the Allegany County Letter League.

For some servicemen, the Letter League was their only contact with home during the endless months and years they were away. For others, it always was more welcome news from home. It kept them abreast of the goings-on in Allegany county and it gave them some of the excellent Gunter humor to go with it.

That Mr. Gunter has the ability to fill the position of attorney general there can be no question. He has the reputation of being a fine lawyer.

Congressman Beall's merits scarcely need to be cited. As The Cumberland News pointed out in an editorial last July, J. Glenn Beall, in his few years in Congress, has accomplished more for the Sixth District, and particularly Allegany and Garrett counties, than have his combined predecessors in the history of the district.

Completion of the C. and O. Parkway between Cumberland and Washington is now his No. 1 project. It is a project, now awaiting world developments, that many believed had not the slightest chance of being approved by Congress. But it does have that approval due to the persistence and tireless plugging for it by Mr. Beall.

His efforts have brought about completion of the Savage River dam to the point where it will be ready to start impounding water by March.

He worked tirelessly to bring about Congressional approval of the Cumberland flood control project.

The parkway, once it is undertaken, will provide a measure of relief to the area's economic ills. Its completion is expected to open this section of the state to the tourist trade, with accompanying economic benefits.

The Savage River dam upon its completion will furnish water for economic advancement industrially.

Flood control in Cumberland has given jobs to some who otherwise might be without work. Its completion will mean that this city need no longer fear the danger and damage of high water.

These are but a few of the projects J. Glenn Beall has obtained for his district in the past and he can be depended upon to do as much in the future. His record of accomplishment speaks for itself.

Yes, Allegany countians, all of them, should take pride in marking their ballots on Tuesday for William A. Gunter and J. Glenn Beall, two native sons, both loyal, both able and both with records of achievement.

The Casualty Lists

There is a crumb of satisfaction in learning that the Korean conflict, while one of the bloodiest campaigns in U. S. military history, has the lowest mortality rate of any of them. That statement is made by Dr. Richard L. Meiling, director of medical services for the Department of Defense.

Dr. Meiling says the current rate of slightly more than one per cent of deaths among battle wounded is due to the streamlined operations of field units and the air evacuation system. Litter patients are now back at military hospitals in the U. S. in a matter of days, in contrast to the weeks needed during World War II.

Disease, which traditionally walks hand in hand with war, has hardly been able to get a foothold among U. S. troops. There are scattered cases of malaria, but virtually none of the cholera, dysentery and smallpox that rage through the civilian population.

But this is a deadly war. The Department of Defense has announced total casualty figures of more than 27,000, of which more than 4,000 are listed as dead and more than 4,300 missing. More Americans have been killed and wounded on this rugged, backboned peninsula than in the Spanish American War, Mexican War and the War of 1812 combined. Total casualties are more than twice the casualties of the Sicily campaign of World War II.

Casualty lists are fearful things. No amount of playing down can obscure completely the sheer waste in terms of lives and shattered bodies. There is, nevertheless, some comfort in knowing that we are managing to do better than what might be considered "good" when it comes to taking care of our own. And in these days we must take our comfort as we find it.

Malaria Makes History

IT IS a well established fact that the armies of the past had more to fear from noxious parasites than from the armaments of the enemy. In almost all military campaigns such diseases as malaria, typhus, and dysentery have extracted a heavy toll from both troops and the population in the battle area. This has been true from the days of Alexander the Great to the Bataan and Guadalcanal era. This has been taken into consideration by our military men, and the top leaders must reckon with the power of these parasites to curtail or defeat war plans.

Thru the ages, malarial parasites have proved most powerful along this line. Malaria has caused so much illness that it is regarded by some experts as the worst of all human ailments. The chronic ill health that appears in communities where it is rife stifles ambition and the working and fighting capacity of civilians and the military. The malady has been known to destroy gradually the virility of whole nations. This happened to Greece and the Roman empire.

Malaria is no longer mysterious. Various new drugs are available to suppress, prevent, and cure but unfortunately the disease is most prevalent in areas where ignorance and poverty prevail and these aids are beyond reach. Many tropical and subtropical regions profited during the war from control measures that were set up by our armies. The disease had to be eradicated among civilians to make the country safe for soldiers.

World War II brought malaria closer to home but the infection was far from inert in the first World War. In 1916 one-fourth of the British Macedonian forces of 123,000 men had to be hospitalized for malaria. French troops suffered in like manner. In World War II the peril was greater because more man were involved all over the globe. Malaria casualties in the southwest Pacific in the four months of late 1942 and early 1943 amounted to about 90 per cent of the forces employed; they were five to 30 times greater than those incurred in battle. The British and Indian troops in Burma, the United States service men at Bataan and Guadalcanal, and the Australians at New Guiena and New Britain found the sledding just as hard.

Malaria produces severe chills, fever, and sweating. In the quotidian type, paroxysms occur daily and in the vivax form on alternate days. When there is an interval of three days between chills, the quartan parasite is suspected. As a rule, a chilly sensation is the first clew to suggest that a paroxysm is in the making. This increases in intensity so that the teeth chatter, the skin becomes blue and cold, and there is uncontrolable shaking. This lasts about an hour and subsides as the body temperature rises.

In this stage the face is flushed and the head pounds as the temperature soars to 105 degrees F. or higher. After two hours the victim suddenly breaks out into profuse perspiration, the temperature drops to normal, headache disappears, and the feeling of well being returns. Drowsiness and weakness persist for some time thereafter, but the majority are able to resume work. There are variations and in many instances more than one type of malaria is active at the same time. At any rate, it is incapacitating and a menace to any worker.

BLOOD PRESSURE SURGERY

B. L. writes: Is a nerve cutting operation of value in a 38 year old man whose blood pressure is high because of emotional disturbances?

REPLY

There is a good possibility that the operation would help because a sympathectomy severs the connecting link between the nervous system and the vascular system. Before deciding on such an operation the physician would make certain tests to determine whether the particular victim of hypertension would respond to the procedure.

ENCEPHALITIS

B. W. writes: Is sleeping sickness caused by a virus infection?

REPLY

No. The causative agent of this disease [trypanosomiasis] is a protozoan parasite introduced by the bite of the tsetse fly. Encephalitis lethargica is sometimes referred to as sleeping sickness and this disease is thought to be caused by a virus.

SALT USER

Mrs. Z. writes: I can't enjoy my meals unless I use lots of salt. Will this tend to make me nervous?

REPLY

Only if you keep thinking about it. Otherwise, the mineral has no effect on the nervous tissue.

O'Konski Violates Corrupt Practices Act; President Of O'Konski Club Is On His Congressional Payroll; Newspaper May Be Faced With Bribery Prosecution

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Shortly after elections kindly U. S. Attorney General Howard McGrath may have a test of the Corrupt Practices Act laid on his doorstep which he isn't going to appreciate.

The Corrupt Practices Act was passed in order to prevent candidates for public office from spending huge amounts of money, thus making it difficult for a poor man to be elected. However, candidates have got around the act by claiming they had no control over friends or independent committees who spent money for them without their knowledge. They could not be responsible, they said, for money which well-meaning boosters spent behind their backs.

Thanks to this dodge, thousands of dollars are being spent by both Democrats and Republicans in what is obviously a violation of the Corrupt Practices Act. And not since hard-hitting Alex Campbell left the Justice Department has there been any real attempt to prosecute.

In Wisconsin, however, there is now evidence of a clear-cut violation—by Congressman Alvin O'Konski, already famous for his nepotism, his income-tax finagling and his payroll juggling.

Smokescreen for $$

Officially, O'Konski spends little money on his election campaigns. His chief electioneering has been done by the "Veterans for O'Konski" club, which has spent money heavily.

President of the "Veterans for O'Konski" club is Wendel Johnson. And it now develops that Johnson is on O'Konski's congressional payroll in Washington for $218 a month. Actually Johnson doesn't work in Washington. He remains in Merrill, Wis., where he has an office at WLIN, the radio station owned by O'Konski, and has been the station manager.

This dispels any fiction that the Congressman doesn't know what Johnson as president of "The Veterans for O'Konski Club" is doing and how much money the club is spending. As a direct employe of the Congressman, drawing a salary paid by all the taxpayers, the usual dodge for violating the corrupt Practices Act blows up in smoke.

NOTE — Attorney General McGrath has had a clear-cut case of salary kickbacks against O'Konski for months but has failed to prosecute. The Congressman put members of a weekly newspaper staff in Hurley, Wis., on his congressional payroll, thereby reimbursing them for the purchase price of the paper. Thus the taxpayers actually paid for the purchase of O'Konski's newspaper. However, it looks as if the Justice Department only likes to prosecute congressmen who have gone after Communists — such as J. Parnell Thomas.

Merry-Go-Round

Senator Taft is reported gaining on Democratic Joe Ferguson in the last couple of week. . . . Congressman Clarence Brown, Taft's No. 1 Ohio brain truster, admits to friends: "In ten years I've never had such a tough fight." However, he'll probably win. . . . Congressman Ed Breen, ex-mayor of Dayton, may be the next Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio if he comes back to Congress with sufficient majority. . . . Democrat Charles Buckley of the Bronx, sometimes called the phantom congressman because of his long absences, is likely to be defeated by Max Bloom of the New York Liberal Party. . . . Alex Campbell, Democratic candidate for the Senate in Indiana, is descended from Alexander Campell, founder of the Christian church, otherwise known as "Campbellites." In Oklahoma, a preacher in the same church, "Billy Sunday" Alexander, is also running for the Senate—but on the GOP ticket. . . . The two candidates with the greatest amounts to spend on billboards appear to be Taft in Ohio and Nixon in California. Nixon has so much money that he even puts billboards across the border in Mexico.

Idaho Scandals

Idaho, famous for its Senator Borah and Cowboy Glen Taylor, who deserted the Democratic party for Henry Wallace, is likely to stage some political surprises. Local scandals have mixed things up. . . . It all began with a state liquor and insurance scandal which the GOP-controlled state legislature tried to shush. However, the irate people of Idaho, many of them Mormons, took things into their own hands, and a grand jury demanded prosecutions. Eventually the state purchasing agent, Harold Boyd, got 10 years in jail, while the liquor law-enforcement chief, Clarence Saunders, was fired. . . . All this has seriously hurt GOP Candidate Henry Dworshak who had been defeated by the late Sen. Bert Miller in 1948 and is trying to stage a comeback. Running against him is a live-wire farm-implement salesman and history professor, Claude Burtenshaw. . . . On the other hand, the Democrat who defeated Glen Taylor in the primaries, ex-Senator Worth Clark, is pretty sure to lose.

Political Grapevine

A bribery prosecution may be in the works for a Negro newspaper in Los Angeles in connection with political advertising. . . . The editor of a newspaper (white) on the outskirts of Los Angeles tells how he was offered $1,000 in Nixon advertising if he would come out editorially for Nixon. He refused. . . . San Bernardino, vice mecca for Angelenos since Mayor Bowron's cleanups, seems certain to kick out its present sheriff and elect Gene Mueller, an FBI police-academy graduate. . . . In Ohio a lot of Republicans are cutting the GOP candidate for governor, Don H. Ebright, in order to vote for Democratic Governor Lausche because of Lausche's silent support for Taft. . . . A big Republican vote is expected in North Carolina — cast by Democrats in protest against the primary campaign tactics of Willis Smith. . . . In South Carolina not too many folks will bother about voting. With the issues decided in the primaries, South Carolina is chiefly looking forward to what ex-Secretary of State Jimmie Byrnes is going to say about his ex-boss in the White House when Jimmie becomes governor.

Jazzed-Up Diplomacy

Troubled by the fact that comrade Vishinsky steals the play at Lake Success, the U. S. delegation is putting a new spice into its speeches. Witness the reference to Frank Sinatra by staid Wall Street Lawyer John Foster Dulles.

Dulles had carefully prepared a speech rebutting Vishinsky on the hot question of voiding the veto. It was mimeographed and issued to the press. But when newsmen listened to the speech, something new had been added.

"We are hearing the same old song from Mr. Vishinsky," explained Mr. Dulles. "But are we bobby-soxers who swoon when our modern Frank Sinatra croons?"

It was a good try, but Vishinsky got the headlines just the same.

"Support The President" Address Is Anticipated

By MARK SULLIVAN

THE address to the country which President Truman is to make tonight will speak for itself. Whatever the wording, the fact of his making it and the attendant circumstances determine its nature and purport. Directly in all likelihood, or by implication most certainly, it will be an appeal to the people to elect a Congress which will "support the President" —that phrase is used repeatedly by Administration candidates and partisans.

In any Congressional election the president in office is a figure, usually the principal one. He is made so by his leadership of his party by the disposition of the party candidates to identify themselves with him. He is further made a figure by the fact that he is the symbol of the nation—voters tend to express approval or disapproval of the state of the nation by voting symbolically for or against the president in office. These conditions make Mr. Truman an important figure in the coming election and the importance will be increased to paramountcy if in his coming address he asks to people to elect a Congress that will support him.

Appeals from any source for a Congress that will support the president invite attention to the state of the country as it is after Mr. Truman has been president for five and a half years. Especially they invite attention to the extent to which actions and policies of the Truman administration were causes of the present state or contributed to its coming about.

War In Forefront

Foremost in the present state of the country is war. The country is just coming to victorious conclusion of a war that has cost thousands of lives and billions of treasure. In expectation of more war and preparedness for it, our youth is being drafted, our people being subjected to economic controls which reduce their standard of living and are attended by sacrifices of their liberties.

The primary cause of our being at war and under necessity of preparing for more is of course Communist Russia. But to say this calls in question the conduct of our relations with Communist Russia by the Truman administration, especially our relations as respects China, for the war we are just concluding is a consequence of the overcoming of China by Russian Communism.

The Administration's policy about China was under attack during the years when it was being carried out and at this moment is under especially sharp attack. Defense of the policy is logically called for by any appeal to the people to elect a Congress that will support President Truman. Argument about the policy would cover an immense field, including judgments that are in dispute and facts that are not yet fully known. But two events are fully on record, both of which strongly support the view that our policy about China contributed to the fall of that country to Russian Communism.

At Yalta in February, 1945, President Roosevelt made an agreement with Stalin, secret at the time, by which Roosevelt promised that after the war Russia should have territory previously a part of China. This territory, with other advantages given Russia at the expense of China, provided a springboard and leverage for the subsequent drive of Russian Communism to overrun China.

Put Pressure On Chiang

In late 1946, after the drive of communism to overcome China had made headway, the Truman administration publicly put pressure on the Nationalist government of China under Chiang Kai-shek to take the Chinese Communists into a coalition government. That was encouragement to the Communists in their drive. On the Chinese people as a whole the step had a psychological effect, it was notice of an attitude on the part of the United States government which made success for the Nationalist government unlikely. That step in the policy of the Truman administration about China was devastating to the Nationalist government, and that was the only organized force in China resisting communism.

Appeal to the electorate for a Congress that will support the President is appeal for one that will support the Administration's China policy. For that policy is a continuing thing, past steps in it make future ones necessary, and the nature of the future steps is occasion for suspicion. An important Republican leader, Harold E. Stassen, the other day charged that after the election the Truman admiinstration will embrace the Chinese Communist government and encourage admission of it to the United Nations.

Reports from the states about the coming election indicate the existence of a large independent and silent vote. Such a vote is likely to want not a Congress that will support the President but one which, regardless of party affiliation, will be a strong Congress.

Administration Wants Steel Peace Deferred

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3. — The administration, it became known today, indicated recently it would prefer that the steel companies and the Steelworkers Union should not reach an agreement in current negotiations before election day.

The plan had been to announce a simultaneous increase of wages and prices the moment an agreement was reached between the CIO and the management of some of the steel companies.

But apparently the administration felt that this might stimulate throughout the country an intense demand for immediate application of wage and price controls—and, of course, such a development could raise campaign issues that would be embarrassing all around.

So far as is known, the steel industry did not agree to the postponement, though its spokesmen were well aware of the administration's wish. So the objective was accomplished another way. President Truman and CIO chief Philip Murray conferred not long ago. It became apparent shortly after this conference that Mr. Murray was not in as much of a hurry to get the wage increases as he had been before. The negotiations suddenly slowed down, and now it is unlikely that any agreement could be reached before election, no matter how hard the bargaining representatives worked at it.

Can Be Stalled

It is easy enough to stall negotiations of such a complex character as are involved in the steel industry. The CIO leaders were able to comply with the wishes of the administration without difficulty. Just what arguments were used to persuade Mr. Murray to hold off can only be conjectured, though it is rather surprising that the matter has been enveloped in such secrecy. Usually one side or the other insists on an early end to protracted negotiations or there is a threat of more drastic action by the union. Evidently the conversations are proceeding leisurely.

When the steelworkers' contract is announced, it will impress the country with the seriousness of the latest move in the inflation spiral. It will probably result in criticism of both the union and the steel companies, and the demand for controls will be pressed sharply on Washington.

This, however, is only one of the problems facing the steel industry. The latest phase of governmental intervention comes in a speech by W. Stuart Symington, chairman of the National Security Resources Board. In an obvious reference to the steel industry, he said:

"In discussing this problem recently with the leaders of a great corporation which produces a basic material, they were frankly hesitant about expansion in their industry, because of their fear of carrying excessive capacity in the depression they considered inevitable.

"These industrialists also said they had a report which proved the United States could only absorb 42 million automobiles, that 37 million were already in use, and that therefore the production of cars should be curtailed.

"Is it right in any system of free enterprise, however, for the supplier to dictate to the customer when and what he can buy? Also it would seem that the American people, not any industry, or any group of industries, should decide how many automobiles the nation can afford on the highways."

Another Brannan Plan

The foregoing constitutes a paradox. On the one hand, private business must gauge accurately future demand or overbuild and run the risk of constructing plants which soon become idle and costly to maintain when not in operation. On the other hand, if the defense needs require more plants now, then it becomes a question of whether the government will supply the extra plants or finance them for industry—a problem that arose during World War II.

What seems to be overlooked, however, is that if wage scales go to high levels and building costs skyrocket, new companies will not go into the steel business to furnish more competition. Similarly, the existent companies will not be able to operate new plants for the government or for themselves except at higher and higher costs. It's easy to declaim about scarce facilities in wartime but someone has to pay for idle facilities in peacetime. Maybe there will be a Brannan plan for that, too, some day.

These Days

A Sociological Experiment

FOR 17 years, there has been no strike in the Weirton steel plant and the CIO was unable to unionize it. This was a direct result of two ideas: 1. To provide maximum year-round employment; 2. To pay higher wages and provide better working conditions than other steel companies. This was possible because there were no strikes.

An independent union operated in the plant. The existence of this union was fought by the CIO, using every device available, including long hearings before the National Labor Relations Board and the courts. Finally, the independent union was declared to be a company union, was outlawed, and an NLRB election was ordered.

For 90 days prior to that election, management was hamstrung, it being forbidden to do any campaigning on the assumption that anything said might have the effect of invalidating the election. No such restriction was placed on the CIO. It conducted an active campaign to win votes. Phil Murray himself visited Weirton, addressed an audience, and announced a victory.

Meanwhile, the workers organized a new independent union, which was validated by the National Labor Relations Board and placed on the ballot. The election was closely supervised by the agents of the board and they counted the votes.

Eligible and available to vote were 11,520 employes. The total vote cast was 11,253. Challenged by the CIO were 381 votes. Improperly marked ballots thrown out amounted to 40. This then is the final result:

| | |
|---|---|
| Independent union | 7,291 |
| CIO | 3,454 |
| No union at all | 87 |

In view of all the circumstances, there figures may be viewed sociologically beyond the affairs of this one company. The employes live in two adjacent cities, Weirton, W. Va., and Steubenville, O. They are of numerous racial and religious origins. Weirton is a new community, built about the mill which is its sole industry. Steubenville is an older community with several industries. Weirton has never been unionized by either the A F of L or the CIO; Steubenville may be regarded as a CIO town. Yet, only 87 out of 11,253 voted for no union at all.

First, it strikes me that this indicates a definite desire for some type of union organization. The workers in this plant have had no strike for 17 years, nor have they had to pay heavy union dues, assessments, strike fund contributions or anything of the sort. But they want a union. They want organized representation.

Secondly, the fact that only 40 ballots were thrown out as invalid is astonishing in any election of more than 11,000. In these steel towns, it used to be that large numbers of workers were illiterate, many of them brought over by immigrant contractors. The present crop are elementary and high school graduates. They are not only literate but they are keenly interested in their problems. Given a free chance to state their wishes by a secret ballot, they express themselves.

It is also interesting to note that of the 11,520 eligible and available to vote, all but 267 voted. Among these 267 must have been some who, in the ordinary wear and tear of life, could not be there on the balloting day. In a word, it might be said, for all practical purposes, that everyone voted, indicating an interest in such matters far beyond the proportions even of a Presidential election.

It would we worth knowing how the vote stood by age groups, by length of employment, and by labor turnover, but I find that such information is unavailable because the NLRB correctly conducts a secret ballot, the voters not being identifiable.

Yet, it is to be noted that while the CIO received about 30 per cent of the total vote, workers in this company between the ages of 18 to 29 amount to about 33 per cent and those who have had five years service or less amount to about 50 per cent. According to the company, the turnover among workers who have been with them more than five years is negligible.

County Board Told Of School Work Planned

Commissioners William H. Lemmert and James Holmes have reported on the conference they had with Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, concerning proposed improvements to the Corriganville School.

The conference was held after several residents of the Corriganville area protested about the lack of modern toilet facilities and other needed improvements at the school.

Kopp informed the board that in 1942 the sum of $7,800 was appropriated by the county commissioners to cover the cost of installing inside toilets at the school. Due to the scarcity of materials during World War II the proposed improvements could not be made at that time, Mr. Kopp added.

Other Improvements Needed

Lemmert said that Kopp stated a survey by the Board of Education indicated an increasing enrollment at the school, and that it appeared more should be done in the way of improvements than merely installing toilet facilities.

Plans for an addition to the school have been drawn and approved by the state architect. These include boys' and girls' toilet facilities, a principal's room, a teachers' room, a health room and cafeteria-auditorium.

The estimated cost of these improvements is between $75,000 and $100,000 and the money would have to be made available before it could be done, according to Kopp.

Kopp also told the board that Board of Education is working at present on plans for the construction of toilet facilities at the school at a cost of between $25,000 and $30,000.

Await Sewage Plans

The Board of Education is awaiting word from the State Department of Health concerning proper sewerage disposal plans for the school, and whether or not the school will be permitted to discharge the effluent into the stream near the school.

Lemmert said the Board of Education assured the commissioners that these plans for inside toilet facilities alone were being expedited.

Copies of the report by the commissioners have been sent to Mrs. Walter J. Shaffer, president of the Parent-Teachers Association of Corriganville and officials of the Corriganville Fire Department, the two groups which made the protest about conditions at the school.

2 Wills Admitted In Orphans' Court

Two wills were admitted to probate yesterday in Orphans' Court.

The will of William L. Wilson, Sr., this city, who died October 26, names his widow as sole beneficiary. A son, William L. Wilson, Jr., obtained letters of administration on the estate.

Under terms of the will of Mrs. Emily Donges Allen, this city, who died October 10, the estate is divided between her four children, Mary Jeannette Brown, Anne Lucile Brant, Mildred Virginia Beck and George William Allen. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Allen are administrators of the estate.

Local Church Set For 50th Anniversary

In preparation for the Golden Jubilee observance this month at St. Mary's Catholic Church on Oldtown Road the parish has been redecorated at a cost of $13,000.

Highlighting the celebration, both spiritual and social in scope, will be a solemn pontifical mass celebrated November 19 at 11 a.m. by Most Rev. Patrick Keough, Archbishop of Baltimore. Other officers of the mass have not been named.

George W. Sellers, chairman of the steering committee, reported yesterday that plans by various parish groups are nearing completion for the church's fiftieth anniversary. Interior work was completed about six weeks ago.

The program for November 19 includes a pageant depicting pointed incidents in the parish's history and will be enacted by children of the parochial school.

Rev. Lawrence P. Landrigan, pastor, is preparing the church's history for publication. Expected to be the most complete of its kind ever published as a parochial record, the history will embrace photographs of early events, classes of the school and notes on various parish societies and the jubilee committees.

Another feature of the history will be pictures of former assistant priests at St. Mary's and the native parish vocations to the priesthood, brotherhood and sisterhood.

St. Mary's annual fair will be held the nights of November 8 and 9 with turkey suppers served from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Augustine Will is general chairman.

Poll Workers Pay Hike Favored By Board

A motion was introduced to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday by Commissioner William H. Lemmert under which the board would recommend to the next session of the Legislature that the pay rates of poll workers be increased.

Lemmert said many judges and clerks have complained to him that the present rate of $10 for the first 12 hours they work or election day is too low. This rate amounts to 83 cents per hour, which is below the county prevailing wage scale, according to Lemmert.

Commissioner Lemmert also said the overtime pay after 12 hours is only 60 cents per hour.

Under the recommendation submitted by Lemmert, the poll workers would receive $1 per hour for the first 12 hours and time and one-half pay for overtime. This would fit into the county's wage pattern, Lemmert said.

After a discussion the board unanimously passed the motion.

The bride is wearing a gown of white bridal satin, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, tight bodice, long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand, and full skirt ending in a sweeping train. Her fingertip length veil is held by a coronet of orange blossoms. An old fashioned bouquet of white flowers centered with an orchid, will complete her costume.

Her maid of honor's gown is of yellow taffeta and her headdress of yellow net and rosebuds matching her bouquet of yellow rosebuds. The bride's maid dress is of pink taffeta and her headdress and bouquet of pink rosebuds.

Mrs. House has chosen a green dress for her daughter's wedding. With it she is wearing black accessories. Mrs. Brown is wearing a black print. Both mothers will have corsages of white pompons.

How familiar are you with how you look from the back? Here's an easy way to overcome rear-view faults.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

"I LOVE American women," the late Will Rogers once remarked. "They are wonderful! All pretty from the front, but from the back . . . it's a different story. When are they going to learn that they just can't go on meeting people face to face . . . someday they are going to have to pass somebody!"

How familiar are you with how you look from the back? Observe the rear view of the women you pass on the street; take a good look at the back of their heads. How many do you see who look attractive enough to make you want to take a couple of extra steps to get a glimpse of their faces? Few enough, I'll wager, to make you decide that it's worthwhile to study the back of your own head and to give it the attention that's apt to be long overdue.

Rear-View Faults

Should such inspection reveal that the back of your hairdo is unflattering to your head, neck and figure, or that dry, tattered ends betray your otherwise careful grooming, don't be dismayed. It's something you can overcome quickly.

The only equipment you need is a rear-view mirror. The least inexpensive and handiest types are those that are held around your neck by a comfortable plastic band and can be adjusted to any height. With this kind of a reflector you can get a clear image of the back of your head, whether your large dressing mirror is placed high or low.

You will quickly discover that lacquer, pomade, grip combs and invisible nets are of even greater use in perfecting the back of your coiffure than they are in front.

But your hair styling errors may not be so easily corrected. They require some study. If you follow the fashion for the close-cropped, curled crown, there is no law that says your hair must be curlycued in the back if that style foreshortens your body. Instead try a smooth, contoured swirl behind, and see how it elongates your neck and figure.

Beautiful Back Coiffures

Conversely, if you're the slim one with a slender column of a neck, a backview of your beauty might be soft waves down the entire length of the head with the ends turning to one side in an enormous pin curl that lies flat just behind the ear. Very new, too!

A graceful back solution to any coiffure, no matter how it may be styled in front, is the old upsweep. To achieve it, you must have your hair professionally cut in vertical layers so that the hair grows progressively longer from the left to the right side to prevent undue bulk. All the back hair should then be sent in pin curls. Next, in dressing, it should be brushed hard to the left until a curl cluster bunches over the left ear to hide a securing comb.

Monday: Formula for success.

United Jewish Appeal Dinner Is Tomorrow

The toastmaster at the "kickoff" dinner for the annual fund raising campaign of the Jewish Welfare fund of Western Maryland tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. in B'er Chayim Temple, South Centre Street, will be Harvey Weiss, superintendent of Sinai Hospital in Baltimore and former head of Memorial Hospital here.

The principal speaker will be Rev. John Stanley Grauel, a Christian minister who served as a volunteer crew member of the world famed refugee ship "Exodus 1947" in order to learn at first hand the true story of the plight of Jewish refugees.

A writer, lecturer and radio commentator, Rev. Mr. Grauel is now touring the country delivering talks on the struggle of Israel to build a new and democratic state in the Middle East.

Rev. Mr. Grauel recently returned from a visit to Israel and Algerian camps for homeless Jews.

Budget Largest In History

The national budget for the United Jewish Appeal this year is 273 million dollars, largest in the history of the UJA fund raising. This is the agency for the United Palestine Appeal, Joint Distribution Committee, and United Service for New Americans.

Most of the funds raised will be used for a vast housing program in Israel, rehabilitation and assistance to persons in Eastern Europe and the Moslem lands of North Africa and to emigrants to the United States.

The quota for Western Maryland, also the highest in history, will be announced at the dinner.

The local campaign is under the direction of Robert Kaplon, general chairman, with Morris Baron, Max Spear, George Ossip, Robert Goldfine and Bertram Lazarus as co-chairmen; Norman Pliner, secretary; George Ossip, treasurer, and Marvin J. Kaplon and Joseph Goldman, auditors.

Take Advantage Of Your Heritage . . . . . Freedom Of Worship!

Every Dad thinks his son is going to be a "world-beater." He's not counting on his youngster to floor the Champ for a count of ten, but he dreams of the day his boy will triumph over every obstacle to happiness and success.

"World-beater" is a pretty descriptive name for what Dad envisions. The world is full of forces that destroy the best in a man. To make your life count for anything these days you have to vanquish those forces.

It takes courage and stamina to win the struggle . . . a very special kind of courage that is more spiritual than physical . . . a very special kind of stamina that is more moral than muscular.

Sunday morning is a good time to begin. Weekly training in the Church can help father and son to gain the courage and stamina that will win every bout in life.

Beall High School's Mountaineers scored a touchdown in every period yesterday and notched their 4th victory of the current gridiron campaign at the expense of the Ridgeley High School Blackhawks on a soggy field at Ridgeley. The secore was 28-6.

The Joe Hoopengardner-Ed Meconi coached aggregation skunked the home team until 19 seconds before the final whistle when Albert Decker skirted end for 13 yards and the Hawks' lone touchdown. Jack Abe's drop-kick for the point failed. Ridgeley's td, incidentally, was marked up while Beall's second string team was in the game.

Four Score Touchdowns

Norman Gaudio, Leo Brady, Bill Hawkins and George Miller contributed Beall High's touchdowns. All of the Mounties' extra points were on plunges with Miller getting two and Robert "Buddy" Gray and Brady one each.

A 30-yard run by Leo Brady to the Ridgeley 35 launched Beall's initial touchdown drive. Brady then toted the pigskin to the 12, George Miller advanced to the eight and Norm Gaudio reached paydirt in two carries, scoring on a wide end run from the three. Gray added the point.

Brady Races 50 Yards

Brady gave the spectators a thrill early in the second quarter when he raced 50 yards for Beall's second score. This drive was inaugurated when Ridgeley lost the ball bn downs on the Beall 27.

Beall recovered a RHS fumble in midfield to set sail for its third score. The Mountaineers clicked off first downs on the 38, 28 and 15, were thrown for a five-yard loss, then Brady passed to the glue-fingered Bill Hawkins who gathered in the ball on the five and dashed over the goal line. The touchdown play was good for 20 yards. George Miller converted.

In the third stanza, Ridgeley lost the ball on downs on its own 12 and in three plays Beall had another touchdown. Brady heaved a pass to Thompson who was downed on the 2 as the third quarter ended. Then George Miller carried from there for the six-pointer. Brady's plunge netted the extra point.

In addition to making Ridgeley's 13-yard touchdown run, Al Decker electrified the crowd in the 2nd quarter by dashing 59 yards to the Beall 5 where he was tackled by Frank Buskirk. Ridgeley got as far as the two, then was set back five yards on a penalty and later lost the ball on a fumble which Hawkins recovered.

Leland "Whitey" Folk of Beall suffered a cracked rib in yesterday's game.

Play Jackets Next

The entire Beall backfield gave a good account of itself in yesterday's game. Big Don Rice, Glenn Workman and Bill Hawkins were standouts on the line. Decker and Phillips played best for the Blackhawks who suffered their fifth defeat against a single win this season. Beall's batting .667 with a 4-2 record and tackles the Moorefield Yellow Jackets in Frostburg one week from today. Lineups:

New Jerseyites Join Spas, Twelve In Initial Workout

Murphy, Kelly Join Team; "Bill" Keegan Mentioned As Coach

Twelve players answered the first call for candidates for the Cumberland Spas basketball team at the initial practice held Thursday night and among those who worked out were John "Mutt" Murphy, 6-foot-8 center, and Edward "Jeff" Kelly, 5-foot-10 forward, both of Newark, N. J.

Others participating included seven holdovers of last season's championship All-American League Cumberland Dukes, namely, Bob Pence, Lou Bell, George Geatz, Walter "Pooch" Orndorff, Jim Clevenger, Jack Thomas and Paul Oberhaus. Bill Day, Jimmy Eckard and "Buddy" Giles rounded out the squad for the first drills.

According to Norman Gerderman, business manager of the local club which will again be represented in the A-A loop this year, Murphy is a former pivot man of Manhattan College and John Carroll University and has played in quite a few games in Madison Square Garden. Kelly also played at John Carroll.

Both players were highly recommended by "Jerry" Mulloy, the nationally known basketball referee, who was their coach when they played at Seton Hall Prep School.

Gerdeman stated that efforts are being made to book a game with St. Francis College of Loretto, Pa., here November 19. The league opener here will be with the Lake Erie Admirals of Erie, Pa., coached by Paul Birch, on Sunday, November 26. The Spas hope to land Coach Frankie Gustine's Waynesburg (Pa.) College for an exhibition tilt.

Among those mentioned in connection with the Spas' coaching job is William V. Keegan, former Meyersdale and Cumberland Caseys' star and later LaSalle and Cumberland Collegians coach.

Vandy Winner, 34-12, Curtis Ties Record

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Nov. 3 (AP)—Vanderbilt end Bucky Curtis tied the all-time scoring record for a Southeastern Conference lineman as the Commodores downed stubborn Chattanooga 34 to 12 here tonight.

A partisan crowd of 8,500 applauded wildly as a muddy field and a keyed up Chattanooga defense bottled up Quarterback Bill Wade's passing throughout most of the game.

Four minutes after a hard fought first quarter had ended scoreless, the Commodores went ahead on a five-yard plunge by Fullback Dean Davidson. Chattanooga recovered on the Commodores' one yard line when Vanderbilt fumbled a punt four minutes later and tied up the game on the next play.

Davidson bulled over for two more touchdowns before Curtis took a pass from Wade in the end zone for his ninth scoring reception of the season. The completion gave him 54 points in seven games, to equal the Southeastern Conference lineman record set by Ken Kavanaugh of Louisiana State in 1939.

Sammy Posts 275, Cops $1,500 Prize

PINEHURST, N. C., Nov. 3 (AP)—Sammy Snead bested par by two strokes today with a 35-35—70 finish to romp home a four-stroke victor over Johnny Palmer to win his second straight North and South Open Golf Championship with a 72-hole score of 275.

Snead, leading money winner of professional golf two years in a row, pocketed $1,500 in first money in the $7,500 event to boost his year's earnings to $35,258.

His rounds of 68-71-66-70 left him 13 under par for his four trips over the 6,952-yard Pinehurst Country Club course. His winning total was the third best in the event's 48-year history. A year ago he won with 274 as against Ben Hogan's record 271.

In 10 years Sammy has won the tournament three times. Actually, over that span he competed in only seven tournaments. In addition to his three victories he has finished second three times.

Palmer, chunky Badin, N. C., tournament regular, finished with a par 72 for second money of $1,000. His rounds were 65-70-72-72 as he moved from 11th to ninth in money winnings this year—$12,035.

He had led the tournament the first two rounds and was tied for second, two strokes back of Snead, with Jim Ferrier of San Francisco, starting the final round.

Claude Harmon, a former Masters champion from Mamaroneck, N. Y., finished with 70, one of 12 sub-par rounds recorded today, to come in third at 281 and win $750.

Ferrier, No. 2 money winner this year, slipped to 38-38—76 for sixth place at 283. He won $450 to bring his winnings to just over the $26,000 mark.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, led the amateurs with 287 after 74 today.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Nov. 3—Moorefield High School's Yellow Jackets extended their win streak to four games today when they turned back the Berkeley Springs High School Indians, 39 to 7.

One of the highlights of the contest was Bobby Wilson's 55-yard touchdown run in the 4th period. Kenny Vance accounted for the Jackets' first two scores, racking up the first on a 30-yard end run and the second on a five-yard smash off tackle. Vance and George Fisher booted the extra points.

Bobby Wilson gave Moorefield a 20-0 lead at the close of the first period when he shook loose through left tackle and ran 25 yards to pay dirt. A partially blocked punt on the Indians' 25 set the stage for this score.

In the third stanza, Moorefield drive 69 yards for its 4th score. The locals clicked off four first downs and Gene Baldwin sparked the drive with gains of 13, 11, 11 and 10 yards before finally plunging through center from the two.

Berkeley's lone score came in the final period after Coach Johnny Paugh's eleven had amassed a 32-0 lead. The Calhoun-coached team marched 70 yards on five running plays and four passes which netted 5, 21, 20 and 19 yards. Dawson's pass to Gary Kerns in the end zone produced the six-pointer and Dawson plunged the point.

With 1:03 to play, Moorefield marched 74 yards for its final score. Myers, Clark and Wilson reeled off gains of 14, 13 and 10 yards and a 12-yard pass, Merle Barr to Wilson advanced the ball to the two from where Harlan Hott took it over. Fisher hit Merle Barr with a pass for the extra point.

By JOHN W. KNOWLTON

An inspired band of LaSalle High Explorers played a brilliant defensive game before bowing to a heavily-favored Allegany High eleven by the score of 13-0 before 2,500 fans last night at Fort Hill stadium.

The Alco Campers, hampered by injuries to several key players, were able to threaten but twice during the game against the rough and rugged LaSalle defense, capitalizing once for a touchdown. The other Allegany score resulted from a partially blocked LaSalle punt and a scintilating 42-yard run for the six-pointer by Quarterback Ronnie Sisk.

Lose Ball On Downs

LaSalle took the offensive and rocked the Campobello team back on its heels throughout most of the first half, once losing the ball on downs on the Camper 21 and again losing the ball when Bob Hook intercepted Charley Moran's pass on the Allegany 18.

Don "Elbie" Fletcher partially blocked Jimmy Byrnes' punt late in the initial quarter and Coach Bob Pence's Blue and White eleven took over the ball on the LaSalle 46.

Ronnie Sisk then picked up 14 yards in two plays to the Explorers 42 as the quarter ended. On the opening play of the second stanza Sisk circled his own left end and behind beautiful downfield blocking ran 42 yards for the first touchdown. Dick Widdows tacked on the extra point from placement and the Campers led 7-0.

Moments later after the ensuing kickoff LaSalle took over on the Explorers 30 and Byrnes picked up a first down on a 14-yard romp around right end. Then Bobby Arnone electrified the crowd by sweeping around left end and racing 49 yards to the AHS 7 where he was knocked out of bounds by Joe Hager, but the play was called back and the Explorers were penalized 5 yards for being offsides.

Explorers Threaten Again

LaSalle threatened again in the quarter but Hook's interception gave Allegany the ball on the AHS 18 and a 24-yard pass from Hook to Hager concluded first half play.

The Pencemen then dominated play throughout the second half keeping LaSalle always on the defensive but the Explorers forward wall arose to the occasion and stopped every AHS attempt to score but one.

A missed tackle by Ray Brown, Explorer center, paved the way for the second and clinching Alco score.

Byrnes punted to the Allegany 46 where Sisk, faking to let the ball go, suddenly grabbed the pigskin, eluded Brown's desperate lunge and raced down to the LaSalle six before being brought down. The Campers were penalized 15 yards for clipping on the play to the LaSalle 36.

Widdows Goes Over

A pass from Whisler to Ronnie Chapman gave the Pencemen a first on the LaSalle 22 and a 10-yard romp by Hook put the ball on the 12. The Campers then took four cracks at the stubborn LaSalle defense before Dick Widdows plunged over from the 3 for the td.

Another Alco threat late in the final stanza was halted when Earl McKenzie, substitute LaSalle back, made his second pass interception of the game to halt the drive on the LaSalle six.

LaSalle picked up only five first downs and 104 yards rushing with all the firsts and 84 yards coming in the first half.

Outstanding players for the losers who dropped their seventh straight game this season, were Lucindo Fabbri, Earl McKenzie, Paul Ackerman, Robert Arnone, James Byrnes and James Moran.

Allegany, which racked up its seventh victory in eight starts, was sparked by Ronnie Sisk, Mike Birmingham, Elbie Fletcher, Joe Hager, Dick Widdows, Bob Hook, and Pat McKenzie. Guard Bruce Price of the Campers was knocked out early in the second period and did not play the remainder of the game. The lineups:

Fort Hill High School's undefeated Sentinels put their seven-game victory streak on the line tonight at the island stadium in Wheeling in what may prove to be the toughest test of the campaign for Coach William P. Hahn's gridiron warriors.

Linsly Institute, a military school for boys since 1814, coached by Edison C. "Etz" Rine, a graduate of West Virginia Wesleyan College, will provide the opposition for the Hilltoppers who will be gunning for their 16th consecutive triumph in two years. Rine's teams at Linsly have won 38, lost 8 and tied 1 in five years. The Wheeling mentor served in the navy in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Won Six, Lost Two

In eight games played to date, Linsly has won six and lost two—and both defeats came at the hands of teams from Ohio—Bellaire High and St. John's of Bellaire. Bellaire High, incidentally, has won six and tied one while St. John's record is six wins and one defeat.

Linsly has 250 boys from 5th to 12th grades, 150 of whom are in high school. The Cadets meet schools of West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Ohio, play under West Virginia scholastic rules and are members of the Ohio Valley Athletic Association.

Ronald Beatty, the team's captain suffered a compound fracture of the leg in pre-season drills and will not play at all this year.

Topp Leads Scorers

Charles "Chuck" Topp, senior right half, is Linsly's high scorer with 10 touchdowns and 70 points. Montgomery and Comer also are good open field runners, being senior and sophomore.

Linsly will windup its season with Martins Ferry, Ohio, Fort Hill has two more games on its slate after tonight—Bedford and Allegany—both at home.

Linsly's drum and bugle corps is considered one of the best in the country and has put on exhibitions at many pro and college games and other events.

The Wheeling stadium seats 11,000 and is used by all of the city's schools—five.

Today's game is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

Keyser Teams Away

Keyser High School also will be a Wheeling visitor today. Coach Fred "Tack" Clark's Mineral Countians, winners of two out of eight games, will play the powerful Triadelphia High eleven tonight at 8 o'clock at the Wheeling Stadium.

Potomac State School's eleven will journey to Salem, W. Va., today to battle Salem College in a conference game, the 4th and final on the Catamounts schedule. A victory would give Coach Lough's outfit a 4-0 record for the season in the state circuit. Potomac's record for the season to date is 6-1, including conference wins over Glenville, Shepherd and Concord.

Marquette Surprises

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 3 (AP)—Marquette held two-touchdown favored South Carolina to a 13-13 intersectional football tie here tonight, matching South Carolina Left Halfback Steve Wadiak's running with Quarterback Frank Volm's spectacular passing.

Members have contributed approximately $3,700 for finishing the new locker rooms and this will be matched by the Hazelwood Company.

An amendment providing that a public school may play private or parochial schools which do not have full-time teacher-coaches will be sent to member schools of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association for a vote Nov. 15.

Schools are to ballot on the amendment before the PIAA board of control holds its final meeting of 1950 in December.

The amendment would open the door to possible settlement of a 5-year controversy that has prevented many smaller parochial schools from engaging in sports competition with PIAA members.

Defeats Chicle II For $15,000 Purse

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — One hitter brought Greentree Stable its third Pimlico Special victory today.

The 4-year-old chestnut made it two in a row for his stable, following Capot's triumph last year.

One Hitter, with Jockey Ted Atkinson up, led the entire mile and three-sixteenths. He was two and a half lengths ahead of Palatine Stable's Chicle II at the finish.

Completing the four-horse field were L. J. Shaw's Abstract and Mrs. E. Dupont Weir's Royal Governor.

With win betting only, One Hitter paid $6 for $2. His winning time for the 14th special was 1:58 3-5, two and three-fifths off the Pimlico record set by Capot.

Green tree Stable's previous special winner was Shut Out, father of One Hitter, in 1943.

The triumph was worth $15,000 to Greentree.

Charles Gets Offer To Fight Walcott

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 3 (AP)—Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles today was offered a $100,000 guarantee to meet Jersey Joe Walcott in a title bout here next Feb. 22.

Felix Bocchicchio, Walcott's manager, made the offer and said Walcott would take a percentage of the receipts for another crack at Charles. The champion won a decision over Walcott June 22, 1949, at Chicago to gain National Boxing Association recognition as titleholder. Since then Charles has earned undisputed rights to the championship by defeating Joe Louis.

Murphy, a 1 to 3 favorite dropped Wagner for a nine count in the first round. He was unable to continue after a rest following the first round.

Miss Betty Judy Says Germany Wants Peace

KEYSER, W. Va.—Miss Betty Judy, student at Potomac State School, who was a foreign work camper of the Brethren Service Commision in Germany this summer was the special speaker at the World Community Day program Friday at 2:30 p. m. at First Methodist Church.

The theme of the program was "Love Thy Neighbor". Mrs. John Fraser opened the meeting stressing the fact that we need to be closer to our foreign neighbors. Mrs. John I. Rogers led the silent meditation using John 3-16. The group sang the hymn, "In Christ There is no East and West". Rev. L. A. Steele, pastor of First Methodist, read the devotions. He read passages from John, followed by prayer.

Miss Beverly Bowne, music instructor at Potomac State, soloist, sang "How Beautiful Upon The Mountains" by Harkin. Miss Judy's talk followed. She told of her experiences in Germany in the camp, which was located one mile from Castle and close to Berlin. It had 2000 refugees who were surprised to find that the girl workers from America could handle a shovel along with them in building their camp The Germans were shy and suspicious at first but were eventually overcome by the friendliness of the workers. She commented on the fact that the older people live mostly in the past and just live from day to day, while the hope for Germany is in the young people, who are looking ahead and hoping for peace Miss Judy described the customs dress, manners and food of the people. She said they had bible study and held worship service spoken partly in English and partly in German twice a week. Representatives from Denmark, Sweden, Poland and England visited the camp while she was there.

Just before the offering Miss Bowne sang "We Would Be Building" by Finlandia. The gifts included the knitted materials for overseas and also soup bowls for Limestone school. The group sang the hymn "A Charge to Keep I Have", followed by the benediction led by Mrs. A. V. Gallion.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov 3 (INS)—After ten rosy technicolor years, Yvonne De Carlo and Universal-International are on the verge of calling it quits, although you need a lie detector test to get either side to admit it.

Frankly, I'm surprised. Yvonne may not be another Bette Davis or Olivia De Havilland, but her gaudy colorful movies about Arabian and other princesses always went well at the box office. She's wonderful whistle-bait.

Yvonne De Carlo

I believe the answer to why so many good stock stars and studios are parting company these days is because the rountine, run-of-the-mill movies are not attracting fans.

The day has come for something socko and different in pictures instead of stories being tailored to fit contract stars on hand.

Errol Flynn was cruising on the Zaca with his mother and father and Mrs. Margaret Eddington off the coast of Acapulco the month of August, 1947—according to Mrs. Eddington—so he could not very well have lured the (then) 16-year-old Danielle Darvin aboard the Zaca off the coast of France and criminally attacked her during that month in that year.

Mrs. Eddington says the official sailing log for the Zaca backs up her claim that the yacht was in Mexican and not European waters.

The summons for the suit, filed by the parents of the girl, was slapped on Flynn at the reception following his wedding to Patrice Wymore in Monte Carlo.

All I can say is that someone is always slapping something on Flynn—but if Mrs. Eddington's story is accurate, he hasn't a worry in the world.

If you've got any old clothes, any toys that your children no longer use, and if you have a few cents to spend on candy, you'd be doing a wonderful deed to send them to Brother Gareth Hughes, at St. Mary's Church, Nixon, Nevada.

Gareth, who gave up a $1,000 a week movie career to spend his time helping the Indians, says that winter is fast approaching and his Indians need clothes badly.

He's done such wonder with these Indian children, not only teaching them about religion but giving them material aid. Believe me, this is a worthy cause.

Remember the address: St. Mary's Church, Nixon, Nevada.

Joan Leslie's husband, Dr. William Caldwell, is so ill with pneumonia at Queen of Angels Hospital, he's under an oxygen tent.

Madeleine Carroll and her bridegroom, Andrew Heiskell, bought a $75,000 home in New Canaan, Connecticut, because it's close to his publishing job in New York and her thriving new TV career.

Jane Russell, a very religious girl, had a lot to do with the reconciliation of her brother, Wally, and his starlet wife, Joan Banning, Jane, who hates divorce, talked the youngsters into giving marriage another chance.

It will be a St. Paul wedding on December 1 for Peter Graves, who clicked in "Rogue River," and non-professional Joan Address, the home town girl who kept his heart.

Gabriel Pascal planed out for London as soon as word of George Bernard Shaw's illness reached him. He wasn't able to get there before the end. Pascal was the only one Shaw would allow to film his pictures.

Radio And Television

More In Sorrow Than In Anger

TELEVISION makes me nervous from time to time and, in trying to track down this particular nervousness, I have reached something approximating a conclusion. At least this is as close to a conclusion as I ever get. I get particularly jumpy when the old entertainers approach television for the first time. I sit there, palms sweating, hoping they'll be good.

John Crosby

I consider this an imposition on my good nature. It's really none of my business whether the old entertainers, the ones who were famous in radio, are worth their $ (a word meaning $7000) in television. Still, checking around my small circle of friends, I find they do this too. Radio is such an intimate medium that these performers become friends of the family. When they embark on TV, you feel pretty much as if they were your small son undertaking the Gettysburg Address at commencement. You hope to God he remembers his lines, that he doesn't fall with his necktie and that he doesn't fall flat on his face when he makes his exit.

I was struck with this nervousness particularly sharply by the Burns and Allen television debut. Now, George Burns, despite all evidence to the contrary, is one of Hollywood's wittiest citizens. Their opening show, I'm told, was three months in preparation. And I can't understand what happened to all that time and all that intelligence. Not that it was a bad show. In fact, it was a pretty good one. But it didn't seem up to all that travail. The jokes were all on what you might call the middle level, as if Mr. Burns was afraid of going over our heads. They were also, I'm afraid, familiar jokes, and here again I got the feeling that this was deliberate, as if Mr. B. felt that old jokes are soothing to old customers, that a new joke might upset our digestions.

If this is the approach Mr. Burns is using, I would like to register strong disapproval. I feel affronted whenever I am treated like a backward child, and I have a hunch other listeners do too. The Burns and Allen television show is a carefully done replica of the Burns and Allen radio show. In fact, the Burns and Allen radio program has been treated with a reverence generally accorded only to the restoration of public buildings. The framework, the cornices, the furniture have all been left exactly as they were in the eighteenth century.

As a gesture toward the visible aspects of television the Burns' had fragmentary setings of their house and the house their next door neighbors who were, and have always been, important parts of the Burns and Allen plots. However, the goings-on in these houses are exactly as they were in the old days. Gracie still buddies door-to-door salesmen with terrible innocence of all practical matters. George's badinage with his announcer, Bill Goodwin, has not changed a syllable. A lot of it was very amusing, but none of it seemed to belong on television.

One thing I've noticed about virtually all the old radio comics, newly transferred to television. They all talk too much. George Burns even acts as narrator on his show. Well, of course, one had to have a narrator on radio to inform us that Gracie had just got back from the grocery store. But on TV, we more or less assume that Gracie has been shopping when she walks into the living room with a bagful of groceries, till, George insisted on telling us these plainly visible things. The only explanation I have for this strange behavior is that George Burns doesn't really believe that television actually exists, that he doesn't really believe a picture is being transmitted, that he thinks the whole thing, in short, is a monumental hoax.

• — •

I say all this more in sorrow than in anger because I think Burns and Allen are two very gifted and charming comedians. And anyone who has ever talked to George Burns for ten minutes will tell you that he is a very funny fellow. I just wish he wouldn't suppress his wit so skillfully on the air.

These Days

This election is interesting because it did not involve wages, hours or working conditions nor was it a jurisdictional quarrel between the CIO and the A F of L or even John L. Lewis's District 50. The only question at issue was whether the workers would belong to an international union or to one limited to their plant under their own control. They voted about 70 to 30 for their own union.

Man Indicted In Shooting Case

Claude Selby, 22, Friendsville, was indicted yesterday morning by a grand jury in Garrett county on charges of assault with intent to kill District Game Warden Theodore Thoerig, 37, Mt. Savage.

The grand jurors had been recalled into session by Associate Judge George Henderson in order to give speedy action in the matter.

Selby was also indicted for hunting during closed season and hunting without a license, and in another case he was indicted for the larceny of a heifer calf.

Selby shot Warden Thoerig last Saturday in a wooded section near Kendall in Garrett county after hearing the sound of shooting in the forest. The game warden was struck in the shoulder with a .22 caliber bullet. He is a patient in Memorial Hospital here and his condition is satisfactory.

The shooting of Thoerig took place as he and his deputy, Doyle McCullough, of Friendsville, were investigating shots they had heard. The two officers saw Selby and Ernest Ray Frazee, 18, also of Friendsville, with guns.

As the wardens pursued the two men Selby fired from behind a tree. Thoerig was almost upon Frazee at the time.

State Police arrested the two men at the Frazee Hotel, Friendsville, several hours later.

Frazee was not indicted in connection with the shooting, but was indicted for hunting during a closed season and larceny in the theft of a heifer calf which he and Selby shot recently. The animal was owned by John Beachy of Swanton.

Both men are held under $1,000 bond.

Bedford Paper Becomes Daily

The Bedford Gazette, Bedford county, Pa., founded in 1805 and continued since that time as a weekly, will be published every morning, Monday through Friday, it has been announced.

The staffs of three long-established weeklies—The Gazette, Bedford Inquirer and Everett Republican—are combining to produce the first daily in the history of Bedford county.

The Inquirer and Republican will continue as weekly papers, being issued every Saturday.

A letter from the editors in the first issue states that the daily is being started as an experiment, "But we are resolved to make it succeed, because we know how much it can mean to the future of Bedford county."

More than 5,000 copies were sold of the first issue. In addition to county-wide coverage, the new paper also has the world-wide service of the Associated Press.

Rising Stock Market Halted By Batch Of Selling Orders

NEW YORK, No. 3 (AP)—A rising stock market stumbled over a batch of selling orders late today.

Damage was not severe but a good many early gains were cut down or eliminated. Gains outnumbered losses by a small margin at the final bell with changes for the most part limited to around $1 a share or less.

Sales amounted to only 1,560,000 shares, the smallest figure for a full day in nearly two months. This compared with 1,580,000 Thursday.

Auto shares were flattened with the rest of the market in the afternoon but snapped back quickly to close with a substantial part of their morning gains.

Chrysler ended 87 cents higher at $76.50 a share, General Motors up 62 cents at 51⅜, and Studebaker unchanged at 31¼.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks stayed at $82.90 a share. Advances for the industrial and utility groups were offset by a drop in the rail component.

Profit taking was credited with taking a toll of stocks today. Another freshet of rich earnings and extra and increased dividends was a mild sustaining influence at best. News of rough going for United Nations troops in Northern Korea, plus the approaching elections on Nov. 7, probably helped to curb trading enthusiasm.

Little to the liking of Wall street was a speech by W. Stuart Symington, chief of the nation's mobilization program.

Symington warned businessmen last night in Houston that unjustified price increases may result in sharp rollback orders, if and when the government invokes price control.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

LOW HONORS PROMOTED

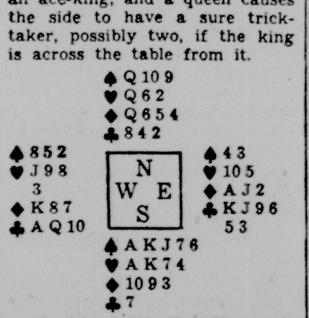
LOW HONORS gain in trick-taking value when they are opposite higher honors of their suits. That is a principle in the promotional value of honors opposite honors which is not clearly understood by many players. For instance, a king is as good as an ace when the ace is opposite it, a queen also if opposite an ace-king, and a queen causes the side to have a sure trick-taker, possibly two, if the king is across the table from it.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 1 NT | 2 ♣ |
| 2 ♥ | Pass | 2 ♠ | Pass |
| 3 ♠ | | | |

North's three queens proved indispensable to South, thereby justifying the two bids made by their holder. The first call of 1-No Trump was of course the weakest action North could take, aside from a pass, and his second bid of 2-Spades was a mere preference, shifting from the second suit of South to the first and therefore showing no additional strength. Having done that, North was through and of course passed the 3-Spades try by South to see if North had even the slightest strength to spare.

West scored his club A and led the Q for South to ruff with the spade 6. The diamond 10 went through to the J and a third club was ruffed by the spade 7. The diamond 9 went to the A and the heart 10 was returned to the A. The diamond 3 went to the K for the defenders' fourth trick and the heart J was offered to the K.

Now South was ready to take tricks with all three of the dummy's queens. He scored the spade A and K, overtook the J with the Q and then took the last two tricks with the two red queens to make the contract.

$100 Stolen In Burglary At Moose Home

Detective See Studying Prints

A burglary at the Moose Home, 100 Beall Street, which resulted in theft of over $100, was being probed by Detective Thomas J. See.

His best bet appeared to be some fingerprints on a smashed bowling machine from which the coins had been taken. See said yesterday afternoon he is giving special study to these prints.

Detective See said that a jimmy bar apparently had been used to force open the locked door to the lodge secretary's office. Inside the office the burglars seemed to have used a screw driver to force their way into locked drawers. The office which was ransacked is on the second floor of the place.

The burglars also obtained some money, bills and change, when they pried open a closet in the bar, located on the first floor of the Moose property. The smashed bowling machine was in the barroom.

Detective See said that the burglars apparently fled by the rear door.

Because there was no evidence that an outside door had been forced, it was presumed the culprits secreted themselves in the building at the time it was locked, about 12:30 a. m. yesterday. A custodian discovered the theft about 8 a. m.

Mrs. Ruth Oates Wins Case For Fire Insurance

Company Fails To Prove Arson Charge

A Mineral County Circuit jury returned a verdict in favor of Mrs. Ruth Iser Oates, of Keyser, W. Va., for $7,000 due her on two fire insurance policies issued by the Northwestern National Insurance Company of Milwaukee and the Continental Insurance Company of New York.

Mrs. Oates had sued the companies for the policy values after they refused to pay her for the loss of her home and personal possessions at Fort Ashby, W. Va., by fire several months ago.

After she filed her suit, the companies, through their attorneys, answered the suit, claiming arson was suspected in the blaze.

In the two-day trial, attorneys for the company called a number of witnesses in an effort to prove that Mrs. Oates had set her home afire.

On the witness stand, however, she told the court and jury that she was not home for several days around the time of the fire, and had gone to Baltimore, York and Bedford, Pa. She was represented by H. G. Shores and H. R. Athey, Keyser attorneys.

The jury deliberated less than an hour and indicated they did not put any credence in the charge of arson by returning a full verdict for the plaintiff, Mrs. Oates.

The case attracted considerable attention among authorities, attorneys and insurance men.

Charge System Puts High Burden On Vets

Inequities in present regulations regarding the call to active duty of reservists and guardsmen and of men drafted for the Armed Forces have been scored by Commander-in-Chief Charles C. Ralls, Veterans of Foreign Wars; according to Edward R. Murray, commander of VFW District No. 3.

Murray said numerous reservists have complained to the VFW here and elsewhere in the country, over the method of calling them to active duty, and the very little time given them to report for physicals and their ultimate induction to active service. Numerous hardship cases have come to light, he explained.

Ralls said that the present system of calling National Guardsmen and Reservists, without regard to family ties, former disabilities or other causes for which draftees are deferred, is not compatible to the VFW.

He called for early revision of these regulations so that a more balanced and justifiable program could be arranged in building up Armed Forces personnel.

"Men who have served their country," Ralls declared, "have never hesitated to answer that call again; but we do feel that there should be an equalization between those who have never worn a uniform and those men who have previously jeopardized their safety in the nation's interest.

"One glaring inequity seems to be that inactive Reservists with service disabilities ranging up to 30 per cent or more are being recalled and placed on limited active duty. Certainly, some of the deferred draftees could also serve on limited duty where some physical qualities may be lacking.

"The VFW is also on record as favoring the advance of the draft age to 35 years and tightening up on deferments which might give the Selective Service Boards a greater opportunity to work out a justifiable program," he said.

"While I understand that the House Armed Services Committee, of which Rep. Carl Vinson is chairman, has under consideration corrective legislation to present to Congress upon its return to Washington on November 27, the VFW feels that something should be done for those who have already been inducted under this unequal setup.

"It seems to us to be eminently unfair to call Reservists and Guardsmen regardless of age or disability, dependencies and jobs which they now hold, and then to exempt from the draft men over 25 years or with a dependent. Most of these Reservists have already seen active military service in World War II.

"This manner of selection," Ralls continued, "for Armed Forces duty seems to place the burden pretty much on the veterans, many of whom have already served a number of years on active duty—and in combat.

Safety Heads Hold Session At Luke Plant

Fire, Accident Prevention Cited

Safety directors from the various mills of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company held an all-day conference on accident and fire prevention at the Luke plant yesterday.

This was reported by John J. Long, director of plant and personnel protection at Luke.

Top company officials from the New York office indicated that increased exchange of information on individual safety programs will be encouraged among the various plants, Long said.

"Accident targets" during the past year and plans for 1951 comprised most of the morning discussion.

Safety measures and devices used to minimize accidents, as well as other phases of each mill's safety program, were emphasized during the conference.

Skit Is Presented

In connection with the discussion on fire prevention, a skit was presented during the afternoon session by Victor Kalbaugh, fire marshal at the Luke plant, and John Hanna, a welder.

The skit, illustrated fire prevention precautions taken by a foreman and his welder.

To give an illustration of the loss of vision and the seriousness of accidents to the eyes, each person was asked to wear a mask for one minute during the luncheon period and attempt to eat while blindfolded.

A. M. Kaiser, manager of the Luke plant, joined the discussion at the luncheon period and again at dinner last night.

Top Officials Attend

Ill Man's Pet Parakeet Disappears But Story Has Happy Conclusion

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Pets often appear small and insignificant but they mean an awful lot to their owners.

That's why the disappearance about 5:30 p. m. yesterday of "Butch" was considered almost a tragedy by the family of Robert G. Rice, who lives in a second-floor apartment at 102 Frederick Street.

For "Butch" is a 10-month old parakeet who provides Rice with almost his only pleasure in life. Rice, who is 41, is exceedingly ill with a rare disease.

Having little interest in reading, Rice was left by his illness with only two recreational pursuits. One was listening to baseball game broadcasts and the other was playing with his pet parakeet. The baseball season ended last month so Rice was left with only one diversion. The disappearance of the pet bird left him with none.

"Butch" was given to Rice back in February when the bird was only three weeks old. Since then the ill man and the small parrot have become fast friends. The bird "talked a blue streak" and Rice often laughed at the bird's chatter

Relatives and friends searched downtown Cumberland for more than an hour last night looking for the parakeet, to no avail.

But this is a story with a happy ending.

Finally, about 7:10 last night, Mrs Charles Trappe, Rice's sister found the bird. While walking toward her brother's apartment from her home on Henderson Avenue she saw "Butch" on the wall at LaSalle High School. The bird flew off the wall and came down and kissed Mrs. Trappe on the cheek.

Rice was the happiest man in Cumberland when she arrived at his apartment with "Butch."

Two-Way Probe Into Explosion Now Underway

County, State Men Investigate Blast

County and state authorities have joined forces in an investigation of the explosion which wrecked a $12,000 power shovel at a strip mine operated by the Mineral Coal Company on Jackson Mountain at Moscow yesterday.

County Investigator Terrence J. Boyle, working out of State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris' office, and Deputy Sheriff George Harris visited the scene yesterday afternoon in the county's part of the probe. State Trooper T. M. Gilmore is handling State Police investigation of the violence.

The explosion was the second instance of coal mine property destruction in the Georges Creek section in 14 hours. County authorities said a fan house near Barton was deliberately set afire and destroyed Thursday.

Investigator Boyle, questioned last night, could shed little light on the mine mystery. He said the cause was unknown although it appeared certain it was not an accident. He considered it surprising that a bulldozer and caterpiller tractor near the shovel were unharmed. It was believed that the explosive, although high-powered, was not dynamite.

A spokesman at the office of Sheriff Edward R. Muir said an investigation of recent violence has ruled out any theory that it was the result of labor troubles, because both union and non-union mines had been hit.

Residents at Lonaconing, two and one half miles from the site, reported hearing a terrific explosion at 1:10 a. m. yesterday. However, location of the blast was not determined until later in the day when Harold Skelly of Cresaptown, foreman for the company, reported the incident to State Police. He said two blasts destroyed the shovel. He also reported the mine had not been worked heavily recently.

Thursday a fan house at the Hampshire mine of the Campbell Coal Company near Barton was destroyed by fire. An earlier explosion damaged a power shovel and bulldozer near Barton and that loss was set at $10,000. Other blasts wrecked a wheelhouse and conveyor belt near Pekin.

W. Va. Mine House Leveled By Fire

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — The $600 brake house at a mine of the North Branch Coal Company about a mile east of here has been destroyed by fire.

L. R. Grant, overseer of the property, believes the blaze occurred sometime Thursday night although the loss was not discovered until yesterday afternoon. Only last Sunday Grant had found that a $100 air lock timber at the mouth of the mine had been burned.

The overseer has notified the sheriff's office of the blazes, which he believes have been deliberate. Two other fires have occurred at the mine which has not been operated for 18 months. On May 20, 1947 machinery was burned and shortly afterwards a tool house with $400 worth of tools was destroyed by flames.

Celanese Contract Plan Is Ratified

Referee John R. Regan in a report Thursday to New York Supreme Court Justice William C. Hecht, approved the Celanese Corporation of America proposal for the commutation of a contract with the Drs. Camille and Henry Dreyfus which had been ratified by stockholders at their annual meeting last April.

The report said the commutation agreement, providing for the issuance of 330,846 common shares and the payment of $1,500,000 to the Drs. Dreyfus for surrender of their rights under the contract "is valid fair and reasonable and in the best interests of the corporation and its stockholders."

Referee Regan found with the corporation that the Drs. Dreyfus were not entitled to any distribution as a result of stock dividends paid by the corporation in 1939, 1940 and 1944. Regan authorized the corporation to return to its general funds a reserve of $129,500 which had been set up as a contingent liability.

Soil Office Open Friday

The Soil Conservation Office in the Post Office Building will be open each Friday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. during the fall and winter season.

Farmers are invited to contact one of the conservation aids, either Martin Gordon or Stuart Delbrook for the purpose of discussing their problems relating to soil conservation, contour farming, etc.

The soil representatives will contact interested farmers at their farms in order to get first hand impressions of the problems and to help them plan and layout their farms for strip cropping and soil preservation. This field work will be done on Mondays to Thursdays.

On Wednesday, November 8, Gordon and Delbrook will conduct a tour for children of the fifth and sixth grades of Johnson Height School, Union Grove, at the farm of Ralph Ferguson. The children will be shown how farm plans are made, what contour strip-cropping means, how drainage problems are solved, and other problems relating to farm management.

A similar tour was conducted for the fifth and sixth grades of Echart Elementary School last Tuesday. Approximately 80 children from the school observed farm problems at the Charles Harvey farm.

McKeldin Bids For Support Of Mahoney Group

Points Of Agreement Cited In TV Address

BALTIMORE, Nov. 3 (AP) — Theodore R. McKeldin made a pointed effort tonight to gather George P. Mahoney supporters into his fold.

In a television appearance, the Republican candidate for governor mentioned several instances where he said he and Mahoney agreed in their criticism of Governor Lane and administration policy.

Discussing the sales tax, McKeldin outlined the differences between his proposals and those of Governor Lane. Then he added:

"Everyone knows that Mr. Lane and his platform are in complete disagreement with the platform positions of Mr. Mahoney and myself, that the sales tax should ultimately be ended x x x."

On financial control:

"Budget reform, accounting controls and administrative reorganization of the state government, on all of which Mr. Mahoney and I agree in principle, have not been mentioned by Mr. Lane x x x"

On election reform:

"Mr. Lane and his platform contain no offer of election reform, the need for which was so glaringly shown in the recent primary when 20,000 voters were disfranchised. Again I believe Mr. Mahoney and I agree in principle, but Mr. Lane remains silent x x x"

On schools:

"Mr. Lane has repeatedly stated that he has built some 250 new school buildings throughout the state. On August 15, 1950, Mr. Mahoney said of Mr. Lane's claim: 'This is a flat falsehood.' x x x"

On roads:

"Mr. Lane talks about 1,144 miles of new roads, but I have been all over this state in the last two months and can personally tell you that Mr. Mahoney's statements to you about the hop, skip and jump system of short stretches of road x x x is absolutely true. x x x"

Pinto Plant Develops Jato Motor For U. S.

New Device Packs Power, Lacks Smoke

A new smokeless rocket motor with greater safety and better performance for aircraft booster power has been developed by the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory at Pinto, W. Va.

The new motor was announced yesterday by the Navy in Washington.

This new Jato or Rato (jet or rocket assist for takeoff) is expected to become standard for the military services. The Air Force and Army paid part of the cost of the development by the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory near here.

Navy officials say the new unit matches the old in power and far surpasses it in other respects. The new Jato motor also weighs less and is much less affected by temperature extremes and rough handling. Cost estimates are approximately the same as for present units.

Jato commonly is used to supplement regular power for aircraft taking off with overloads, on short runways, from carrier decks, from airports at high altitude, or in very warm air. It is installed in some planes for emergency power in flight.

The usual Jato motor provides 1,000 pounds of thrust for 14 seconds. It is identified with a tremendous trail of smoke laden with tiny particles of residue from the burning powder.

Experts contend the ash-laden smoke trail blocks out carrier decks and airport runways and might damage aircraft in the vicinity.

1950 Edition Contains Total Of 651 Pages

Work of almost two years was culminated yesterday with the arrival at City Hall of about 300 copies of the 1950 edition of "Charter and City Ordinances of the City of Cumberland."

The new book, which contains 651 pages, was edited by Dr. Carl N. Everstine, assistant director of research, Legislative Council of Maryland.

The edition is the first to be compiled since the 1926 city code was printed.

It includes all public laws of the city in force up to and including the Acts of the 1949 General Assembly.

Thirty-five chapters and a 22-page index are devoted to the section on city ordinances.

They include all ordinances in effect up to Ordinance 1886, which was passed October 17, 1949, to legalize the 1950 edition of the code of general ordinances.

At the beginning of the section devoted to the city charter, Dr. Everstine lists the act passed by the 1949 Legislature to legalize the codification of the charter.

The charter section carries a six-page index.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson recalled that total cost of preparation and printing is nearly $4,000, or a cost of about $13 per copy.

The books are attractively bound in dark green, with gold lettering on the cover.

They were printed by Frank Fleckenstein, this city.

About five extra copies in loose-leaf form are expected to be printed, so that future ordinances or amendments can be inserted under the various headings.
